Kentucky Wildcats (2-0, 0-0 SEC)

vs.

Virginia Cavaliers (0-1, 0-0 ACC)

- The Cavaliers are coming off a 2017-18 season where they made the NCAA Tournament for the first time since 2010. In the NCAA Tournament, the 10-seed Cavaliers upset 7-seed Cal in the first round (68-62) before falling to 2-seed South Carolina in the second round (66-56)
- The Cavaliers only have one senior, Mone Jones. Junior Shakyna Payne came in with Jones, but redshirted her freshman season (due to injury) and still has two years of availability remaining
- The Cavaliers return a talented group of juniors: Dominique Toussaint, Jocelyn Willoughby, Felicia Aiyeotan and Lisa Jablonowski
- Toussaint led the team in scoring last year, averaging 11.4 points per game. She was an honorable mention for All-ACC last year
- Willoughby was third on the team in scoring (9.6 ppg) and second in rebounding (5.4 rpg). She was second in scoring (9.8 ppg) and led the team in rebounding (6.2 rpg) as a freshman. She is on the preseason watch list for the 2019 Cheryl Miller Award, honoring the top small forward in the country. She is a two-time All-ACC Academic Team honoree
- Aiyeotan was a member of the 2017-18 ACC All-Defensive Team. She finished the season as the ACC leader in blocked shots (2.09 per game) and ranked 11th in rebounding (6.9 per game). Her 69 blocked shots is the fourth-highest single-season total in program history. She has 123 blocked shots in her career, tied for fourth most in the UVA record book
- The Cavaliers will be looking to replace J'Kyra Brown, Aliyah Huland El and Lauren Moses. Huland El and Moses were both 1,000 point scorers in their four-year Cavalier careers
- The Cavaliers has one newcomer this season: freshman guard Erica Martinsen from Clarence, N.Y.
- Redshirt freshman Amandine Toi, who was injured right before the season-opener last year, sustained a season-ending injury again this year in the week leading up to the opener. Toi, who is from Paris, France, was a member of the French U19 Junior National Team
- Last season, Virginia played the third-toughest schedule in the country. Only Notre Dame and Oklahoma had higher strength of schedules
- This is head coach Tina Thompson's first season at Virginia and her first season as a head coach. She was the associate head coach at Texas last year

- ## STORYLINES FOR THE SEASON

- Felicia Aiyeotan, a 6-9 center from Lagos, Nigeria who was the tallest active player in NCAAWB last season, was the conference leader in blocked shots last season and comes into her junior season tied for fourth in UVA history in that statistical category. A member of the ACC All-Defensive team, she started 27 of 33 games, averaging 7.4 points per game with seven double-doubles, and looks to be an even bigger presence on the court this year.

- Aiyeotan did not start playing basketball until she was 12 years old. She was convinced to attend a camp put on by the Hope 4 Girls foundation, which changed the course of her life. Aiyeotan grew up in a poor section of Lagos and attended public school. With her height, she was forced to sit in the back of the class (with class sizes of 120 or more), couldn't ask questions, and felt quite isolated. She was relentlessly bullied because of her height and was very isolated and shy. After discovering basketball, she found her calling, and built her self-esteem, breaking out of her shell. The organization, whose mission is "to provide opportunities to empower young women to become leaders in their communities through sport and education" was founded by Mobolaji Akiode (known as MoBo), a former Fordham basketball player and Olympian with the Nigerian National team. They helped Felicia obtain a scholarship to come to the US for high school, where she played first at Neumann-Goretti before finishing her senior season at Blair Academy. Felicia has been back to Nigeria each of the last two summers (about two week trips each time). It is her goal to go back after graduating and be a role model for others in a community that is very short on strong, powerful, successful female figures.

- More from Aiyeotan: "Most schools just have soccer fields. There weren't basketball courts or gyms at my school because it was a public school. They don't have a lot of resources for that. Where I lived, though, there was an outdoor basketball court. I would go there on the weekends because during the week, I had to go to tutoring. At that time I wasn't fully into basketball. Since it was outdoors, the weather would sometimes mess your schedule up because it would rain." She came to the United States before her freshman year in high school. She spent three years at Neumann Goretti High in Philadelphia (where they were the No. 1 team in the nation her junior year before transferring to Blair Academy in New Jersey for her senior year. Pounded Yam Egusi Soup is her favorite dish from home that her mom makes. "Pounded yam looks like dough, like mashed potatoes and then Egusi soup is made out of melon and vegetables. You can add whatever you want, if you want beef or fish, but it is spicy." She really misses the spice of Nigerian food.

- The Cavaliers have a very international flair. Joining Nigeria's Felicia Aiyeotan and Luxembourg's Lisa Jablonowski is redshirt freshman guard Amandine Toi from Paris. Toi was a member of the French U19 Junior National Team and competed at the 2017 U19 FIBA Women's Basketball World Cup in Italy, finishing in fifth place. Toi missed all of last season after having surgery to repair the anterior cruciate ligament (ACL) in her left knee after sustaining an injury during practice during the preseason.

- Jablonowski is fluent in English, German, French and Luxembourgish. Her family is originally from Poland, but she is not fluent in Polish. Aiyeotan speaks English and Yoruba. Toi speaks English and French. Jocelyn Wiloughby is a native English speaker, but is a member of the UVA Spanish club and is not quite fluent in Spanish, but can speak and read it quite well

- Jablonowski has made the most of her time in the United States, traveling extensively, including doing a driving tour of the West this summer, including Southern Utah and Colorado. She has also visited New York City and other major metropolitan areas

- Mone Jones is majoring in drama. Right before the season began, she was the stage manager for the play The Wolves being produced by the UVA Department of Drama at the Ruth Caplin Theatre

- Dominique Toussaint is also majoring in drama

- Jocelyn Willoughby is the non-voting, student-athlete member of the NCAA Division I Women's Basketball Oversight Committee. Willoughby is the lone student-athlete on the 15-member committee with her tenure running through June 2020. The goals of the committee are to advance the game and perception of women's basketball, improve the student-athlete experience and put an emphasis on the personal growth of student athletes. Along with the goals, it will also work to supervise qualifications and/or selection procedures for the NCAA Division I Women's Basketball Championship and provide direction to the NCAA Division I Women's Basketball Rules Committee regarding playing rules.
- Willoughby is also a Meriwether Lewis Institute for Citizen Leadership Fellow (Class of 2020 cohort). Each year, 25 students are selected to become Fellows in the fall of their second year. Incorporating academic, experiential, and applied learning elements, the program includes a School of Architecture course on "Foundations in Design Thinking" for Fellows in the second-year spring semester. Subsequent components include a six-week summer leadership institute, a Batten School "Leadership in Practice" seminar in the third-year spring semester, and ongoing work to improve the University in their fourth years.
- During UVA's Fall Convocation Ceremony on October 26, Willoughby received a certificate of Intermediate Honors, a distinction given to third-year students who are among the top 20 percent of their class in the College of Arts & Sciences. Willoughby is completing her undergraduate degree in Global Development Studies a year early (she will graduate in May), and she will complete her Master's in Public Policy degree (which she has already begun) in the spring of 2020. She is also an Office of African-American Affairs Peer Advisor
- Willoughby has also been given the honor of living on the Lawn this year, one of the top honors awarded to fourth-year students at the University. Willoughby, who is athletically a junior, will graduate in May in three years, but will play her fourth year as a grad student next year. Residence on the Lawn recognizes students for unselfish service to the University and Charlottesville/Albemarle County communities, and achievement in their respective fields of activity and academics. Lawn residents are a diverse group of students who represent widely varying activities, backgrounds, and interests. Students selected to live on the Lawn enjoy the distinction earned by their unselfish service and achievement in their respective fields of activity and academics. The nature and quality of service to the University and broader local community is a major consideration in making selections. Once chosen for the Lawn, they assume an obligation to so manage their living as to enhance the general reputation and good name of the University in the eyes of the public, since Lawn rooms are constantly in the public eye. Details of the special obligations include continued involvement in the University community, adherence to University policies in the historic public space, as well taking responsibility for establishing a vibrant and welcoming Lawn community and active participation in events
