KENTUCKY CLOSES HOMESTAND AGAINST BELMONT

Kentucky plays the final match of its four-game homestand when the Wildcats take on Belmont this Thursday night at the Bell Soccer Complex.

The Cats, unbeaten on the year thus far, enter Thursday off of back-to-back shutout wins over UT Martin and Illinois. The win over Illinois was UK's third straight non-conference victory over a Power-Five opponent dating back to the 2022 season, the longest such streak since 2013.

Jordyn Rhodes has scored in all five-matches thus far, totaling six goals to give the graduate-student 42 for her Kentucky career, just two shy of Kim LaBelle for the program record.

Belmont is 1-3-2 on the season, its lone win coming in the Bruins' season-opener vs. North Alabama. Belmont has tied both Eastern Kentucky and Western Kentucky, while falling to Middle Tennessee, Vanderbilt and Cleveland State. The Bruins ended the 2022 season at 5-6-6, including a 3-4-3 mark in the Missouri Valley Conference.

Avery Nowak and Maci Pekmezian co-lead Belmont with three points this season. Pekmezian, who was named Third-Team All-MVC last year, was picked as a Missouri Valley Conference Pre-season Honorable Mention.

The Bruins are led by first-year head coach Kelsey Cameron.
