

KENTUCKY

BLUE GETS IN

Hello, Omaha,

We're the Kentucky Wildcats. We haven't formally met – yet, but you've been on our bucket list for around 74 years now.

We Are UK!

A base-stealing, home-run hitting, sac-bunting, scoring-from-second-on-a-wild-pitch, chaos-causing, hair-on-fire, aggressive baseball team – crazy in a good way.

We're a bubble-gum-blowing, fuzzy-pink-bucket-hat-wearing, dugout-hat-stacking, shoulder-rub-pit-stopping group.

We get weird – in a good way.

Our victory is earned – every day.

We play – on the attack.

The strength of our team – is our team.

We. Don't. Move.

We're from the Bluegrass, Horse Capital of the World. The birthplace of bourbon.

They said we'd never make it here, but here we are. Nice to meet you.

Our school, the University of Kentucky, represents 4.5 million hard-working Kentuckians and the millions of Big Blue Nation who span the globe.

It's a matter of never settling – always pushing for more – always dreaming of what's Wildly Possible!

We represent an entire university, a community of seekers and strivers – people with the will to step and the heart to speak out. Students, scholars, educators and staff who seek to ignite the fires of learning and discovery to make our state and our world a wealthier and wiser place.

At UK, whether on the diamond or in the classroom, we believe that everything is achievable and nothing is out of reach.

Including Omaha.
