MATHEMATICAL MODELING AND SIMULATION FOR SOCIAL, ENVIRONMENTAL, AND DISASTER PREVENTION ISSUES

Shinobu Yoshimura[1] and Daigoro Isobe[2] and Hideki Fujii[1] and Eisuke Kita[3]*

[1]University of Tokyo
[2]Tsukuba University
[3]Nagoya University

MINISYMPOSIUM

In order to analyze real phenomena such as social, environmental, and disaster prevention problems, it is necessary to develop appropriate mathematical models of phenomena and develop simulation methods in parallel. The purpose of this session is to exchange opinions on modeling methods and simulation methods. We expect the participation of many researchers who are interested in related fields.