ABOUT ME

I'm a designer with over 5 years of technology industry experience and almost 10 years of experience in research on human behavior and cognition. I come from an academic research background, having worked for years in one of the most renowned Universities in Brazil. Later, I decided to make the switch to work in the technology industry, finally being able to apply my psychology knowledge in an area I love: Design!

I love working in companies that value UX design as the core of a product or service, as my main goal is to create and improve digital products that can really impact people's lives.

I'm a fun and curious person who loves learning and improving skills daily and an advocate for the power of interdisciplinary teams in order to create great design!

WORK EXPERIENCE

NOV 2019 – PRESENT

UDEMY (IRELAND)
Product Designer

Responsible for leading the design for one of the teams working on the Udemey for Business platform. I'm responsible for liaising with developers and stakeholders, as well as partnering with UX research to conduct usability tests/user research.

EXTRA

- Experience analyzing data: I worked for 2 years and a half as a research assistant in the brazilian government education program “ProJovem”, being part of the team responsible for analyzing large amounts of quantitative and qualitative data coming from all over the country about the efficacy of the program to educate young adults. These results were used by the government to improve and redesign aspects of the program.
- Public speaking skills and experience in teaching: I worked for 2 years as a teacher in various brazilian Colleges teaching “Scientific Methodology” and also as an English teacher for High Schoolers.
- Voluntary work: I'm currently working as a City Leader for “Ladies that UX Dublin”, a group that is part of the global collaborative community of Ladies that UX and is a space for women in the User Experience community to share, collaborate, network and build UX skills needed for professional improvement.
