

Today I'm honoring you, mom.

Thank you for being there through all life's moments—the mundane, the miracles, the mess, the success, and the heartbreak.

Dear

For putting on a brave face, even in the most uncertain of times.

For those early mornings you were up to cheer me on for:

.....

For the late, seemingly impossible endless nights.

For teaching me lessons that go way beyond the books:

.....

For encouraging exploration and giving me space to breathe.

For the hours in the kitchen perfecting that recipe:

.....

For those moments you wish you could do better, and others you couldn't possibly do more.

For nurturing my passions—even the most precarious:

.....

Thank you for helping create my story, 'mom.'
