QUAKER NOTE MEAL

How We Got Here

It was always the QuakeShow! Penn battled back in the loser's bracket of the Ivy League Tournament to win three straight games and claim its second consecutive title and berth into an NCAA Regional. The Quakers topped Cornell twice on Monday by scores of 11-9 and 12-6 to become the first time in conference history to win back-to-back ILT championships.

Repeat Offender

It's the first time since 1988-90 that Penn is making consecutive NCAA appearances. This weekend will be the Quakers' seventh regional appearance in program history (1975, 1988, 1989, 1990, 1995, 2023, 2024).

All-Tournament Team

Wyatt Henseler was named the Most Outstanding Player of the Ivy League Tournament after hitting .375 with three home runs to lead the Quakers. He was joined by Connor Chavez, Ryan Taylor, and Cole Zaffiro on the All-Tournament team.

New Site, Who Dis?

Penn is headed to Charlottesville this weekend, the seventh different location for a regional in program history. The Quakers have played the opening round of the NCAA Championship in Stamford, Conn. (1975), Austin, Texas (1988), Waterbury, Conn. (1989), Tempe, Ariz. (1990), Oklahoma City, Okla. (1995), Auburn, Ala. (2023), and now Charlottesville, Va.

Hello, Henseler!

Ever hear of Henseler? You may know the name at this point. The senior third baseman, 2024 Ivy League Player of the Year, and the Ivy League Tournament MOP is the holder of several records—both career and single-season—for the program and Ivy League.

- Penn career records: hits (231), runs (180), doubles (50), total bases (451), home runs (54), and RBIs (188).

- Ivy League career records: home runs (54), RBIs (188), and total bases (451).

- Penn single-season records: at bats (215, 2023), hits (72, 2022), home runs (22, 2024), runs (63, 2024), total bases (150, 2023), and RBIs (63).

- Ivy League single-season records: home runs (22), runs (63), at bats (215, 2023), and total bases (150, 2024).

Familiar Face

Owen Coady, good to see you again! The 2023 Penn graduate is using his final year of playing eligibility at Virginia this season and has been a reliable arm for the regional host Cavaliers.

Coady has made 15 appearances and seven starts for the Hoos in 2024, going 1-1 with a 5.94 ERA over 33.1 innings. He's struck out 29 batters and walked 22.

In a four-year career with the Quakers from 2020-23, Coady earned a pair of All-Ivy accolades in 2022 and 2023, accumulating a career ERA of 2.83 in 34 appearances, making 16 starts. He struck out a total of 182 batters in 143.1 innings of work.

Old Dominion Darling

Only one member of the QuakeShow will be making a 'homecoming' to his home state of Virginia this weekend in Andrew Ruggeri. However, Ruggeri's hometown of McLean is 108 miles southwest of Charlottesville, a two-hour and 11-minute drive to the college town.

That being said, Ruggeri should still have quite the contingency at Disharoon Park when the Quakers take the field Friday afternoon against UVA.

Major Award and All-Ivy Honorees

There was no surprise when Henseler was named the unanimous Ivy League Player of the Year heading into the postseason. He became the seventh player in program history to win the honor and the first since Tim Graul in 2016. Henseler is just the fifth player in Ivy history to be named Player of the Year unanimously.

Along with that, he was named a unanimous first-team All-Ivy selection for the second time in his career.

Joining the senior on the list was Zaffiro (second team), Ryan Dromboski (honorable mention), Davis Baker (HM), Taylor (HM), and Carson Ozmer (HM).

Founding Father Battle

Here's a fun fact: two of the nation's most renowned Founding Fathers will be squaring off on Friday (in spirit) in Penn and Virginia. We all know the University of Pennsylvania was founded by Benjamin Franklin in 1740, but who founded the University of Virginia? Well, it was Thomas Jefferson in 1819, of course!

That being said, the man on the 100-dollar bill has a bit of a leg up on the man on the two-dollar bill after founding Penn 79 years earlier.

Chasing History

We've already mentioned the records Henseler has achieved this season, but what about the ones that remain?

Sitting at 71 hits in the 2024 campaign, the senior third baseman is one hit from tying, two from surpassing his own single-season record of 72 set in 2022.

Zaffiro put himself in a great spot to become the program's all-time strikeout king this weekend after punching out 15 batters in two appearances during the Ivy League Tournament. With 222 career Ks, he's five from tying, six from passing Craig Connolly (227 from 1987-90) for the program record.

W. JOSEPH BLOOD HEAD COACH JOHN YURKOW

John Yurkow is in his 11th season as Penn's W. Joseph Blood Head Coach of baseball and 18th year with the program after joining the team as an Assistant Coach in 2006.

Since taking the helm in University City, the Quakers have fielded 67 All-Ivy selections—including 31 first-teamers—as well as three Players of the Year, three Pitchers of the Year, and three Rookies of the Year.

On top of the all-conference accolades, Yurkow has seen great success in getting Quakers into the professional ranks, with nine players selected in the MLB Draft since his promotion in 2013. Of those, Jake Cousins made his major league debut in 2021.

During his time at the helm, Penn has posted a 117-67-1 record in Ivy League play, a .632 winning percentage. Additionally, Penn's 44 conference wins since the start of the 2022 season are a program-record for any three-year span in program history.

In an Ivy League Tournament victory over Harvard in 2023, Yurkow tallied his 200th-career win, becoming just the third head coach in program history to reach the milestone. That also marked the 2,000th win in program history.

Prior to the start of his tenure at Penn, Yurkow served as an assistant coach at Duke from 2001-05. He also was an assistant at his alma mater, Rowan, from 1999-2001.

With the Profs, Yurkow was a four-year starter at second base. During his career, he helped lead the Profs to the NCAA Regional championship four times. In Yurkow's senior year, he garnered NCAA Division III All-America honors as he led the Profs to a 36-8 record and the New Jersey Athletic Conference (NJAC) championship. He was also a two-time selection to the NCAA All-Mid-Atlantic Region team, in 1998 and 1999. Yurkow was an NJAC All-Conference selection in 1998 and 1999 and the NJAC Tournament MVP in 1999.
