FINAL SCORE

PURDUE 44 VIRGINIA 6

Virginia dressing room

I guess they are really No. 1," Virginia Coach George Blackburn said of Purdue ~~immediately~~ immediately after the Boilermakers had opening the campaign with a resounding 44-7 victory against his club.

"However, I thought our Cavaliers were extremely gallant," Blackburn said of his own charges. "Purdue is just as good on offense as it is on defense," Blackburn continued, "and the Boilermakers can run or pass on offense equally well. They just seem to have everything."

Virginia's mentor had particularly kind words for Purdue quarterback Mike Phipps and reserve fullback John Bullock who is only a sophomore. Blackburn thought Phipps pin-point passing left little to be desired on the part of Purdue.

"When we scouted Purdue last spring," Blackburn related, "we came back thinking that Bullock is actually a better ball carrier than Williams (Purdue's first-string fullback, Perry). Now Williams is a complete ball player---a really great blocker and everything else. But that Bullock runs with the speed and agility of a halfback and the power of a fullback."

Blackburn thought that Purdue's second unit "was really out to show Mollenkopf that they deserve a starting assignment." They actually played better than Purdue's first unit at times, according to Blackburn.

Making no excuses, Blackburn thought his club played admirably in the first half. "But when Purdue came back, it came back furiously," the headman of the Cavaliers testified.

Blackburn said he couldn't really rationalize the score, but said no one could deny the final count was indeed 44-7. He related that a well kept secret had been the fact that Cavalier halfback Frank Quayle has sustained a broken toe in practice two weeks ago and was actually "one week away! from being in peak condition. However, Blackburn felt Quayle played an outstanding game. (more)

"We needed a near-perfect game to have a chance against Purdue," Blackburn contended, "and we didn't have a near-perfect game. Of course, I don't imagine Purdue had a near-perfect game either, but I can tell you this----we certainly didn't catch them napping."
