DOM STARSIA

Hall of Fame Coach Enters 21st Season at the Helm of Cavaliers

Widely regarded as one of the best teachers, motivators and tacticians in the game, Dom Starsia is in his 21st season at the helm of the Virginia men's lacrosse program.

Under Starsia's guidance, his Cavalier squads have won four NCAA titles and reached the final four 13 times. He has won more games than any coach in Atlantic Coast Conference and Virginia history, sporting a 240-76 (.759) record since coming to Charlottesville in 1993. In 20 seasons with Virginia, Starsia has coached 316 games, fittingly his 300th game at Virginia was the 2011 NCAA title game against Maryland at Baltimore's M&T Bank Stadium.

Starsia's overall record, including 10 seasons at Brown, is 341-122 (.737) in 30 years. His 341 wins are the most all-time by a coach at a Division I school, passing legendary coach Jack Emmer (326). The record-breaking triumph was an impressive 13-9 victory over No. 2 seed Cornell in the 2011 NCAA quarterfinal round on May 21. The victory was part of UVa's improbable run to the program's fifth NCAA title.

The 2012 season saw the graduation of Steele Stanwick. Under Starsia, Stanwick was a two-time first-team All-American, a Tewaaraton Trophy winner and set the program record for most career points with 269. Stanwick's 269 career points upon graduation placed the attackman No. 18 all-time in NCAA history.

Starsia's program in 2011 became the first five-loss team and lowest national seed (No. 7) to win an NCAA title. UVa's efforts helped garner Starsia an ESPY nomination for Best Coach and a waltz down the red carpet at Los Angeles' Nokia Theatre in July 2011. Starsia was going up in his category against the likes of UConn's Jim Calhoun, Dallas Mavericks' Rick Carlisle, Auburn's Gene Chizik and Green Bay Packers' Mike McCarthy. Carlisle, ironically a UVa graduate, took home the award.

The USILA bestowed its top honor on Starsia in 2011, naming him the 2011 F. Morris Touchstone Division I Head Coach of the Year. Starsia became the first Virginia head coach to win the award, an honor which was first presented in 1958. The accolade is Starsia's third career F. Morris Touchstone Award, previously winning at Brown in 1985 and 1991. Starsia is now in a four-way tie for the most times being awarded in the history of the USILA honor. Richard M. Moran (Cornell), Robert Scott (Johns Hopkins) and Tony Seaman (Pennsylvania/Towson) share the honor with Starsia with three career F. Morris Touchstone Awards apiece. Only Starsia is an active head coach.

No one would have figured an NCAA title in 2011 was improbable for Virginia when the Cavaliers were ranked No. 1 in the USILA coaches preseason poll and No. 2 in the Nike/Inside Lacrosse preseason media poll. They still may not have figured it was out of the realm of possibility through the first eight games of the season when UVa was ranked No. 2 with a 7-1 record. Then Virginia hit a skid, losing 4-of-5 games and losing defensive stalwart Matt Lovejoy to season ending shoulder surgery to compound other personnel changes.

After reinventing its offensive and defensive approach on the fly, UVa entered the regular season finale against No. 13 Penn with an 8-5 record and the threat of losing an NCAA first round hosting bid. Heading on the road for the first time in program history for a first round NCAA game all of a sudden became a strong possibility. UVa closed out the regular season with an impressive 11-2 victory over the Quakers, starting an impressive five game stretch where the Cavaliers played their best lacrosse of the season. Matt White's overtime goal against Bucknell in the NCAA first round capped a UVa comeback that saw the Cavaliers trail by as many as four goals in the second half and by two with two minutes left in regulation. 2011 Tewaaraton Trophy winner Steele Stanwick had 21 points in the NCAA Tournament to lead the Cavaliers, while Colin Briggs' five goals in the title game against Maryland earned the midfielder Most Outstanding Player honors of the NCAA Championship.

"The fact that we are here right now is a credit to the team and my family and the people at Virginia," said Starsia after winning his fourth title with the Cavaliers. "We had to reconfigure ourselves midway through the season - they had to decide that it was important enough to pick themselves up and get going again. The game today epitomized the kind of season that we've had - that we have started out well - put some goals in the second quarter when we got ahead a little bit and gave us some confidence going into the locker room. I am very proud of these guys and what they have done."

The 2011 title is just another bolded bullet point on an already impressive resume. Starsia is one of only three coaches in the history of the sport to win 100-plus games at two different schools. In addition to his 240 UVa wins, he won 101 games at Brown from 1983-92. Jack Emmer won 100-plus games at both Washington & Lee and Army, while Dave Urlick topped the century mark at Hobart and Georatown.

In fitting recognition of his coaching success, Starsia was inducted into the National Lacrosse Hall of Fame in November 2008, one of only four active Division I coaches so honored.

"The wins and losses are fickle at best," Starsia said during his induction speech. "It's the relationships that stand the test of time. Coaching has never been a career choice. It's my life. During my interview [with UVa], I was asked to describe myself. I didn't know how to respond. I said, 'honest, and I'll work hard.' And it's really never been more than that."

During his coaching tenure, Virginia has featured 125 All-Americans (30 first-team, 31 second-team, 25 third-team and 39 honorable mention choices), 71 All-ACC selections, eight ACC Rookies of the Year and seven ACC Players of the Year. In addition, UVa has produced five NCAA Championship MVPs (Michael Watson in 1996, Conor Gill in 1999, Tillman Johnson in 2003, Matt Ward in 2006 and Colin Briggs in 2011) and 37 All-NCAA Tournament selections, all since 1994.

Starsia's program never wavers from the emphasis on sportsmanship. Following the national championship season of 2003, the program received the Jim Adams Award, the national lacrosse award for sportsmanship. The next year the team slipped to a 5-8 record but still received the Atlantic Coast Conference's Sportsmanship Award in the first year it was presented. The program then won the league's sportsmanship award for three years afterward.

"Sportsmanship remains a priority for us, and the fact that we have been able to win these awards in all different kinds of seasons, I think speaks a lot about the ideals that are important in this program," said Starsia.

Excellence in Starsia's program isn't only defined by what happens on the field. His teams excel in the classroom as well. Fifteen Cavaliers have been named Scholar All-Americans under his tutelage, including at least one in five of the last six seasons. Ben Rubeor earned All-America recognition for his athletic excellence as well as his academic prowess as a junior (2007) and senior (2008). In 2008 five of the seven Cavaliers who were named All-Americans posted GPAs above 3.0. Danny Glading (2009) and Ken Clausen (2010) concluded their All-American seasons on the field as Scholar All-Americans as well.

The fall of 2009 brought national attention to his program's humanitarian efforts, highlighted by senior Max Pomper being honored with the IMLCA Boston Market Humanitarian Award for his efforts in raising nearly $10,000 for UVa's HELP crisis hotline through a flag football tournament initiated in remembering fallen teammate Will Barrow. Clausen gained national attention with his "Lacrosse Mustache Madness" initiative, a nation-wide effort that raised nearly $33,000 in November 2009 for prostate cancer research and awareness. Both efforts more than tripled their fundraising efforts by year four in the fall of 2012. Clausen's Mustache Madness moved its fundraising efforts to help the HEADstrong Foundation and fighting various blood cancers.

Under Starsia's direction, the Cavaliers have enjoyed a remarkable era of success that is rivaled by few programs. In addition to winning four NCAA championships, UVa has reached the title game two other times, the semifinals seven more times and the quarterfinals three times under Starsia. Overall, Virginia has advanced to the Final Four 13 times in Starsia's 20 seasons at the helm.

Virginia's 2006 squad will go down as one of the greatest in the sport's history. Starsia led the men in orange and blue to an unprecedented 17-0 record en route to the program's third national championship in eight years. The team was dominant throughout the season, winning by an average of more than eight goals per game. The offense led the country in scoring (15.28), while the defense ranked 10th, allowing fewer than eight goals per game. Eight Cavaliers were named All-America, the most in program history, and senior Matt Ward received the Tewaaraton Trophy as the best player in the nation.

The Cavaliers won their second national championship under Starsia in 2003 when they capped an exciting four-game title run with a 9-7 victory over top-ranked Johns Hopkins in the NCAA finals. The Cavaliers closed the season with a 10-game winning streak to win both the ACC and NCAA championships and finished with a 15-2 overall record.

In 1999, Starsia guided the program to its first national championship in 27 years with a thrilling 12-10 victory over Syracuse in the NCAA title game. Virginia concluded that historic campaign with a 13-3 record. The Cavaliers also won their second ACC Tournament crown in three years with an 8-7 come-from-behind victory over top-seeded Duke.

The list of exceptional athletes to play for him reads like a "Who's Who" of the lacrosse world. Steele Stanwick (2011), Matt Ward (2006) and Chris Rotelli (2003) capped their national championship seasons by winning the Tewaaraton Trophy as the top player in the nation, giving UVa the most first-time winners of the award.

Ward was also named the USILA Player of the Year in 2006, one of three Cavaliers to win national honors that season; Michael Culver was named the Defenseman of the Year, while Kyle Dixon was selected the Midfielder of the Year.

Tillman Johnson became the only player in the program's history to win two USILA national awards in one season. He turned in two electric performances in the 2003 Final Four and was named the Player of the Year and Goalie of the Year.

Two icons of the sport-Jay Jalbert and Conor Gill-won a national championship at UVa in 1999, before going on to continued success at the professional level. Jalbert was the MVP of Major League Lacrosse in 2003, while Gill was named the league's MVP in 2004. Matt Poskay won a title with UVa in 2006 and was named the MLL's MVP in 2010.

Virginia claimed two national award winners in the same season for the first time ever in 1996 when Doug Knight was named Player of the Year and Michael Watson was chosen Attackman of the Year. Two more Cavaliers received USILA national awards in 1999 as Ryan Curtis was selected Defenseman of the Year and Jalbert was named Midfielder of the Year.

A native of Valley Stream, N.Y., Starsia came to UVa from his alma mater, Brown University, where he distinguished himself as an outstanding coach and athlete.

Starsia became Brown's head lacrosse coach in 1982 and compiled a 10-year record of 101-46, while establishing himself as one of the top young coaches in the game. His teams boasted the best Ivy League record and the best overall record for any Ivy League school over that 10-year span. While at Brown-where he remains second on the school's list for most wins-he developed five first-team All-Americans, 20 Ivy League first-team players, four Ivy League Players of the Year, and three Ivy League Rookies of the Year.

He took the Bears to the NCAA playoffs in five of his last six years, including the last three. The Bears won two Ivy League titles (1985 and 1991) and advanced to the NCAA quarterfinals three consecutive seasons (1990-92). Starsia led them to their finest season in 1991 with their first-ever undefeated regular season (13-0). They also won the Ivy League title and the New England Championship, and finished with a No. 2 national ranking. Starsia received his first two Morris Touchstone Award as the Division I Coach of the Year in 1985 and 1991 while at Brown.

An outstanding high school football player, Starsia had never seen a lacrosse game before entering Brown as a student in 1970. Showing natural talent for the game, however, he became one of the best defensemen in school history. He was a third-team All-American in 1973 and 1974, earning first-team All-Ivy and All-New England both years. He captained the Bears in 1974 and played in one NCAA playoff game as well as the annual North-South game.

Starsia also captained the freshman football team and played wide receiver on the varsity for two seasons. He was inducted into the Brown University Athletic

ASSOCIATE HEAD COACH

MARC VAN ARSDALE

Marc Van Arsdale is in his 12th year as the top assistant coach on Dom Starsia's staff and his seventh as associate head coach.

One of the outstanding teachers in the college game, he is heavily involved in all aspects of the program and serves as the team's offensive coordinator. A master offensive tactician, Van Arsdale has overseen some of the most potent offenses in school history.

The 2012 season saw All-American Steele Stanwick lead the nation in assists per game (3.19) and finish No. 2 in points per game (5.0) under Van Arsdale's offensive tutelage. Stanwick graduated as a two-time first-team All-American, a Tewaaron Trophy winner and set the program record for most career points with 269. Stanwick's 269 career points upon graduation placed the attackman No. 18 all-time in NCAA history.

In 2011 Virginia ranked No. 3 in scoring with average of 12.56 goals per game, 6.94 assists per game and 19.50 points per game. Stanwick won the Tewaaron Trophy after scoring 21 points (9 g, 12 a) in the NCAA Tournament, leading UVa to the title. Stanwick finished the season No. 3 in the nation with 2.24 assists per game and No. 4 in the nation with 4.12 points per game.

In 2010 Virginia ranked No. 3 in scoring with an average of 13.44 goals per game, 8.17 assists per game and 21.61 points per game. Chris Bockett burst onto the scene as the sophomore scored 53 goals, second-most in a season all-time by a Cavalier. Bockett became the first UVa player to amass the 50-goal plateau since Doug Knight set the single-season record with 56 scores in 1996. The balanced scoring attack in 2010 saw 10 Cavaliers reach double figures in goals scored.

In 2009 Virginia ranked first in scoring with an average of 13.0 goals per game, 7.83 assists per game and 20.83 points per game. Garrett Billings led the team with 38 goals as all three starting attackmen scored at least 30 goals for the second straight season and only the third time in school history. Joining him in the scoring parade was Steele Stanwick (36) and Danny Glading (32). UVa also boasted a top-notch scoring midfield behind first team All-American Shamel Bratton (31) and third team All-American Brian Carroll (29).

Billings (36) and Glading (30) were also part of the 2008 starting attack trio that reached the 30-goal plateau, spearheaded by Ben Rubeor's team-leading 38 scores. Carroll chipped in 28 goals and his first third team All-American nod.

Virginia rolled to an undefeated national championship seven years ago with one of the most explosive offenses in recent memory. The Cavaliers led the nation in scoring with an average of 15.82 goals per game, the most by a Division I team since the 1997 UVa squad averaged more than 18 goals per game. Their 269 goals were the most by a D-I team since UVa tallied 275 times in 1996.

Under Van Arsdale's guidance that season, Matt Ward was named the USILA Player of the Year and was awarded the Tewaaron Trophy as the nation's top player, while Kyle Dixon was named the USILA Midfielder of the Year. Van Arsdale himself was recognized as the Division I Assistant Coach of the Year following the season.

The Cavaliers have ranked in the top 10 nationally in scoring in six of the last seven seasons, including the last four. In addition, Virginia featured the ACC leader in goals, assists and points in 2002, '03 and '06.

Van Arsdale returned to Charlottesville following a five-year stint (1997-2001) as the head coach at Hobart College, where he led the Quakers to a 27-39 overall record. During his first year, he coached Penn to its first .500 season (6-6) of the '90s. Following the 2000 season, he was selected to coach the South All-Stars in the Collegiate North-South Senior All-Star game.

"It would be difficult for me to describe adequately how fortunate we are to have Marc on our staff," said Starsia. "He has been a great influence on my own development, on and off the field. Everyone associated with the Virginia lacrosse program benefits from his experience and leadership. There are two head coaches on this staff."

Prior to taking over the program at Penn, Van Arsdale spent six years as an assistant coach at UVa, first under former head coach Jim Adams (1991-92) and later as a member of Starsia's first staff (1993-96). The Cavaliers reached the NCAA Championships five times in that six-year span, advancing to the national championship game in 1994 and 1996, and to the national semifinals in 1995.

During his first stint at UVa, Van Arsdale was instrumental in recruiting and developing some of the most talented offensive players to ever wear the orange and blue, including David Curry, Doug Knight, Kevin Pehlke, Tucker Radebaugh, Greg Traynor, Michael Watson and Tim Whiteley.

The native of Geneva, N.Y., is a 1985 magna cum laude graduate of Hobart College, where he excelled both academically and athletically. He played on four Division III championship teams, earning first-team All-America and National Division III Attackman of the Year honors as a senior.

Chosen the Most Valuable Player in the D-III championship game in 1983 and 1985, Van Arsdale led the Statesmen in scoring his last two seasons and played in the North-South game his senior year. He finished his collegiate career among the school's top-10 all-time leaders for assists, goals and scoring.

Van Arsdale received an NCAA postgraduate scholarship in 1985 after being named to the Dean's List all four years at Hobart. He was also chosen a Presidential Scholar and was elected a member of the Phi Beta Kappa honor society.

The 49-year-old Van Arsdale began his coaching career as an assistant men's lacrosse coach at Nazareth College in 1986. From 1987-90, he served as an assistant at his alma mater, Hobart, helping guide the Statesmen to four consecutive Division III national championships.

He was inducted into the Hobart College Athletic Hall of Fame in 2001, along with his brother Guy (Hobart class of 1983) and father William (athletic benefactor). He is also a member of the Geneva Sports Hall of Fame and Western New York Lacrosse Hall of Fame. Van Arsdale will also be inducted into the Virginia Lacrosse Hall of Fame on March 16, 2013.

In addition to his extensive coaching experience, Van Arsdale has served on the USILA All-American Selection Committee and the advisory committee for team selections to the NCAA Championship.

Van Arsdale's son Owen, is a sophomore on the 2013 UVa men's lacrosse team after a stellar local prep career at St. Anne's-Belfield.

John Walker enters his fourth season as an assistant coach on Dom Starsia's coaching staff where he serves as the defensive coordinator.

In his three seasons on Grounds, Walker worked with the goalies and the faceoff crew. Under Walker in 2010, goalie Adam Ghitelman ranked No. 7 in the nation with an 8.25 goals-against average, while UVa played 14 of its 18 games against squads ranked in the top 20 nationally in scoring. In 2011 Ghitelman became the ACC's all-time goalie winner with 50 career triumphs in between the pipes, also good for No. 3 all-time in NCAA history.

After sitting on the bench for three seasons behind Ghitelman, Rob Fortunato emerged in the cage during the 2012 season. Fortunato earned All-American honors while ranking No. 11 in the nation in save percentage (.567) and No. 13 in goals against average (8.5).

In Walker's three seasons at UVa, he has seen his defense gain nine different All-America honors, including two-time All-American Chris LaPierre as a defensive midfielder. During that span each of his goalies have earned All-America honors, highlighted by Ghitelman's nods in 2010 and 2011.

Walker also guided Matt Lovejoy, a second-team All-American in 2012, a defenseman that Starsia said "may be one of, if not the best, team defenders Virginia has had since 1993."

Walker came to Charlottesville after three years as the associate head lacrosse coach at the United States Military Academy Preparatory School (USMAPS) in New Jersey where he coached some of the most successful teams in USMAPS history. He is also a co-founder and program director of Winning Edge Lacrosse, which mentored many New Jersey high school players in their offensive development.

The native of Dix Hills, N.Y., currently resides in Charlottesville.

TIM MCDERMOTT VOLUNTEER ASSISTANT COACH

Tim McDermott joined Dom Starsia's staff as a volunteer assistant coach in November 2012. McDermott is the older brother of former UVa face-off specialist Brian McDermott.

"I couldn't be more pleased to announce Tim's addition to our staff," said Starsia upon the announcement. "I have known Tim for some time now and have come to admire him as a person and a student-athlete. He will work closely with our face-off men and goalies and will be involved in all aspects of the program. It will be a joy to continue to have the McDermott family around the program."

McDermott was a midfielder for three seasons at DIII Geneseo of the SUNY system, where he was a two-time All-American and led the NCAA in face-off win percentage in 2006. He graduated with a bachelor of science degree in business administration before transferring to Loyola in Baltimore for his final year of eligibility in 2008, while pursuing an MBA. McDermott's younger brother Brian was a member of UVa's 2010 ACC championship squad and the 2011 NCAA title team.

On a volunteer basis, McDermott has also coached various players, including working with athletes from Loyola and the club program at Richmond. During the 2011 and 2012 seasons he was a varsity coach at Deep Run High School in Richmond and in the summer of 2011 was a reserve player for Major League Lacrosse's Chicago Machine. McDermott's most recent volunteer job was with Cortland State in the fall of 2012.

The Cortland, N.Y., native currently resides in Charlottesville.

PETER KRAWCZYK OPERATIONS ASSISTANT

Peter Krawczyk is in his fourth season working with the men's lacrosse program and his third as the operations assistant. Krawczyk started working with the men's lacrosse program as a student manager for the 2010 season and was hired on full-time in January 2011.

Rob Emery took a Colin Briggs pass and ripped it for the game's final goal with 4:48 left in the contest, lifting the No. 1 Virginia Cavaliers (1-0) to a season-opening triumph over the No. 20 Drexel Dragons (0-1), 9-8. Just over three minutes prior, Bobby Hill tallied his first collegiate goal to tie the game, 8-8, in front of an over-capacity crowd of 2,331 inside Vidas Field. Capacity crowd is listed at Vidas Field at 1,500.

Chris Bocklet started the game's scoring, cutting around the edge to score at the 11:34 mark in the first quarter, giving UVa the 1-0 lead.

The Dragons reeled off a 4-1 run to take the 4-2 lead after Ryan Belka scored unassisted at 5:06 in the second quarter. UVa's Matt White scored on a Bocklet pass to cut UVa's deficit to one goal, 4-3, heading into the half.

White's goal to close the half, coupled with scores by Emery and Briggs to start the third stanza, gave the Cavaliers a one-goal lead, 5-4, at the 11:20 mark. Drexel tied the game on a Robert Church score 50 seconds later at 10:30.

Owen Van Arsdale scored his first two collegiate goals via passes from White and Briggs to give the Cavaliers a 7-5 lead with 5:31 left in the third quarter. Drexel, however, scored three-straight goals to retake the lead at 8-7, capped by a Nick Trizano goal with 10:08 left in the game.

UVa then took over behind the goals from Hill and the game-capper from Emery, the sophomore's second of the day.

The game clicked for Virginia early, as Stanwick recorded his 22nd career hat trick in the first quarter as the Cavaliers opened up a 4-1 advantage. Chris Bocklet started the run and Stanwick finished with three-straight goals. Matt Kugler and Owen Van Arsdale provided assists on Stanwick goals. Matt White assisted Bocklet's tally.

Penn answered with a 4-0 run to take its only lead of the game, 5-4, with 2:06 left before the intermission. Dan Savage scored three goals during the run, while Ryan Parietti tallied one score. However, UVa was able to even the score, 5-5, when White found Stanwick on the crease with 43 seconds left in the second quarter.

After Parietti tied the game for Penn at 3:58 in the third quarter, UVa reeled off a 4-1 run deep into the fourth quarter, clinching the game. Game 15

Virginia 6, Princeton 5
May 13 • Charlottesville, Va.

A fourth quarter goal from Chris Bocklet via Steele Stanwick proved to be the difference as the No. 8 Virginia Cavaliers (12-3) outlasted the No. 12 Princeton Tigers (11-5) during the NCAA First Round, 6-5, inside Klöckner Stadium.

UVa jumped out to a 3-1 lead in the first quarter, scoring the game's first two goals. Colin Briggs scored unassisted at 10:54 to start things off. Bocklet scored his first goal of the afternoon on a crisp Matt White helper shortly after, at 9:09.

Tom Schreiber put Princeton on the board after Tucker Shanley found the midfielder with 3:55 left in the first period. UVa was able to cap the first quarter in transition when Matt Lovejoy picked up a ground ball and led a Cavalier clear. The UVa senior defense-men found Bobby Hill in transition for the goal with 10 seconds remaining in the first quarter. The assist was the first career point for Lovejoy.

The second quarter was a defensive juggernaut until Briggs scored the period's first goal with 3:27 left before the intermission, pushing UVa's lead to three goals, 4-1. After being held scoreless for 17:29, Princeton found nylon for its second goal of the game when Forest Sonnenfeldt dropped a 17-yard shot from Schreiber. The goal cut UVa's lead to two goals, 4-2.

UVa wasn't done yet with its first half scoring, which started when Chris Clements caused Schreiber to turn the ball over in the final seconds. Harry Prevas picked up the ground ball and found Chris LaPierre, who chucked the rock 45 yards from the restraining line to Stanwick who was standing at goal line extended. Stanwick grabbed the ball behind Princeton's Rob Castelo, who missed the jump ball. Stanwick beat Fiorito with five seconds left before the intermission.

Princeton stormed out in the third quarter, scoring two goals to cut its deficit to one goal, 5-4. Jeff Froccaro scored back-to-back goals, his second coming with six seconds left in the third quarter after a UVa turnover. The Cavaliers failed to score in the third quarter.

With 7:07 left in the game came the Stanwick to Bocklet connection, giving UVa the 6-4 lead. But Princeton wouldn't go quietly. Schreiber scored his second goal of the day with 1:19 left to play, cutting UVa's lead back to one goal, 6-5.

Without any timeouts remaining, Princeton won the ensuing faceoff and set the offense for one final assault on the goal. With nine seconds left, Sonnenfeldt from 15 yards out rifled a shot that hit LaPierre straight in the chest. The ball caromed toward the Princeton sideline where the Cavaliers had the backup. With six seconds left, the Cavaliers tossed the ball down the field to secure the triumph.

Game 16 Notre Dame 12, Virginia 10 May 20 • Chester, Pa.

Steele Stanwick tallied seven points, but it wasn't enough as the No. 5 seeded Virginia Cavaliers (12-4) were eliminated from the NCAA Tournament by the No. 4 seeded Notre Dame Fighting Irish (13-2), 12-10, inside PPL Park. It is the first time UVa has lost in the NCAA Quarterfinal round since 1998 and the Cavaliers fail to make the semifinal round for the first time since the 2007 season.

Notre Dame started out with back-to-back unassisted goals by Max Pfeifer and Conor Doyle. Matt White found Colin Briggs at 10:30 in the first quarter to give UVa its first dent in the scoreboard, cutting the deficit to one goal, 2-1.

Pfeifer eventually found Westy Hopkins at the 4:24 mark, giving Notre Dame back a two-goal lead, 3-1.

UVa reeled off a 3-0 run to take a 4-3 lead, its only advantage of the game. Stanwick found Bocklet, for the 48th and final time of the duo's storied connection, starting the run with 3:38 left in the first quarter. Rob Emery scored back-to-back goals, the second on a Stanwick helper with 9:08 left in the second quarter.

The Cavaliers almost made it a two-goal lead, but on a screen Matt Kugler fell into the crease after contact with a Notre Dame defender, nullifying a Stanwick goal. The tides immediately turned in Notre Dame's favor as the Irish scored three goals in a row to enter the intermission with a 6-4 advantage. Pfeifer, Sean Rogers and Steve Murphy all scored during the run.

UVa held Notre Dame scoreless in the third quarter and scored two goals of its own to tie the game, 6-6, heading into the final frame. Bocklet scored on a Pat Harbeson helper at 4:26 in the third quarter. The goal pushed Bocklet past Ben Rubeor for No. 5 all-time at UVa in goals. Bocklet finishes his career with 137 scores.

Own Van Arsdale ripped a goal on a Stanwick pass to tie the game at 6-6 with 2:10 left in the third quarter. Off the opening faceoff for the fourth quarter, Notre Dame's Bobby Smith picked the ball up in an unsettled situation and tallied a score at 14:42, giving the Irish a 7-6 lead. UVa bounced right back when Chris LaPierre picked up the ground ball on the ensuing faceoff and found Stanwick for the score with 14:31 left in the game, tying the game at 7-7.

Notre Dame proceeded to go on a 5-1 lead, storming out to a 12-8 advantage with 1:36 remaining in the game. Over a 20 second span UVa scored goals by White and Stanwick, but it wasn't enough as the Cavaliers lose by two, 12-10.

ADMINISTRATION

TERESA A. SULLIVAN University President

Teresa A. Sullivan, who became the University's eighth president in 2010, is a respected higher education leader in Virginia and nationally. Ms. Sullivan came from the University of Michigan, where she was provost and executive vice president for academic affairs as well as the university's chief budget officer. Prior to her time at Michigan, she rose through the ranks in the University of Texas System from instructor and then assistant professor of sociology at UT-Austin to executive vice chancellor for academic affairs, serving as chief academic officer for the nine academic campuses within the Texas system.

In 2011, Gov. Robert F. McDonnell appointed her to the Higher Education Advisory Committee, which was created as a result of the Virginia Higher Education Opportunity Act of 2011. The committee has representation from both policymaking branches of state government; higher education institutions; the State Council of Higher Education in Virginia; and the business community.

Ms. Sullivan chaired a committee of the National Research Council, whose 2012 report, Research Universities and the Future of America, warned that research universities are in danger of serious decline unless the federal government, states and industry take action to ensure adequate, stable funding in the next decade.

Like many public universities, U.Va. is grappling with issues of cost, affordability, shrinking state support, faculty compensation, and the push for online education. In addition, with its academic medical center, the University must also navigate the changing health-care landscape, ensuring excellence in patient care while continuing to reap the benefits of discoveries made through research.

The president has actively engaged faculty and staff, as well as alumni, parents, friends and lawmakers, in addressing these issues. Among her priorities as president is a new internal financial model that will empower deans by improving financial incentives, encouraging entrepreneurship and holding them accountable for the results. "From the new internal financial model, we expect better financial decisions, new cost savings, and more strategic decisions about programs," she says. "The budgeting changes we have already set in place this year have created transparency and accountability."

Ms. Sullivan is a respected scholar in labor force demography, with particular emphasis on economic marginality and consumer debt. The author or coauthor of six books and more than 50 scholarly articles, she has focused most recently on who files for bankruptcy and why. In 2012, she returned to the classroom to teach a January Term course, The Sociology of Work.

President Sullivan is also a passionate fan of U.Va. athletics, regularly attending sporting events on and off Grounds.

She is a graduate of Michigan State University's James Madison College and earned her doctoral degree in sociology from the University of Chicago. She is married to Douglas Laycock, a professor in the University's School of Law. They have two sons, Joseph and John.

CRAIG LITTLEPAGE Director of Athletics

Committed to preserving and building on U.Va.'s longstanding tradition of academic and athletic excellence, Craig Littlepage is in his 12th year as Virginia's Athletics Director. Littlepage's appointment as athletics director was announced in August of 2001. Littlepage served as Virginia's interim athletics director from June 1, 2001, until his appointment to the position. He had also served as the University's interim athletics director from December of 1994 until July of 1995.

The first African-American athletics director in Atlantic Coast Conference history, Littlepage was named the Black Coaches Association's "Athletics Administrator of the Year" in 2003 and 2006. He was also listed on Sports Illustrated's list of the 101 most influential minorities in sports in 2003 and 2004. In March 2005, Littlepage was named one of Black Enterprise magazine's "Most Powerful African-Americans in Sports."

Littlepage has been a member of U.Va.'s athletics administration since 1990 when he was appointed an assistant athletics director, a position he held from 1990-1991. He then spent four years as the associate director of athletics for programs and six years (1995-2001) as senior associate director of athletics, managing all aspects of the athletics department's day-to-day operations.

Littlepage leads a comprehensive 25-sport athletics program that routinely competes for championships and national rankings in many sports. At the same time, Cavalier student-athletes who exhaust their eligibility at Virginia graduate at a rate comparable to the student body as a whole. Annually, U.Va. student-athletes rank among the top Division I-A public universities in the country in graduation rates. Ten years ago, Littlepage outlined a number of ambitious 10-year goals for the department to achieve by 2012: graduate 100 percent of its student-athletes; win 12 national championships and 70 conference titles; fully endow all scholarships and provide the operational support required to meet all other stated goals; build and maintain high-quality facilities; annually recruit the best student-athletes in the country (based on how coaches rate their top prospects); and fully comply with Title IX. Such goals reflect Littlepage's vision of "uncompromised excellence in intercollegiate athletics" as well as the department's overall mission to "enhance and support the intellectual purpose of the University and its exemplary academic standards and traditions."

The 2011-12 athletics year proved to be another very successful one as 22 of Virginia's 25 athletics programs advanced to postseason competition. U.Va. finished 15th in the Learfield Sports Directors' Cup standings, the fifth time in the last six years the Cavaliers' program has placed in the top 15, including a school high of No. 3 in 2010.

The rowing team won its second NCAA Championship in three years. It's the fourth NCAA Championship for the Virginia athletics program in the last three years. Other top finishes in NCAA postseason competition by U.Va. athletics teams in 2011-12 included a second place finish in the NCAA Tournament by the men's tennis team and a fourth place finish at the NCAA Championships by the women's golf team. The rowing team's varsity eight crew won the NCAA Championship in that event and the women's cross country team won the NCAA Southeast Regional title for the third time in the last four years. Men's tennis player Mitchell Frank won the singles championship at the Intercollegiate Tennis Association's (ITA) All-American Tournament and National Indoor Tournament. Twenty of the program's 25 sports were ranked nationally in the Top 25 during their respective seasons.

Virginia has won seven team NCAA Championships and 12 individual NCAA Championships in the last 10 years. The Cavaliers have also won 51 ACC Championships in that time frame, more than any other conference school. U.Va. won four ACC championships in 2011-12, second-most of any league member. In four of the last five athletics seasons U.Va. led the ACC in league titles.

Great progress has also been made in the area of athletics facility improvements during Littlepage's watch, including the addition of John Paul Jones Arena. The basketball arena/special events center opened in the summer of 2006 to rave reviews.

Littlepage has held many leadership roles within the NCAA, ACC, the University-at-large and professional organizations. He is currently a member of the John McLendon Foundation Steering Committee and served on the Executive Committee of the National Association of Collegiate Athletics Directors (NACDA) from 2006-10.

In February 2002, he was appointed to the 10-member Division I Men's Basketball Committee by the NCAA Championship/Competition Cabinet and served a five-year term which was completed Aug. 31, 2007. In 2005-06, Littlepage served as the chair of the Men's Division I Basketball Committee and administered its selection process.

Littlepage previously was a member of the NCAA Division I Infractions Committee and the NCAA Academics, Eligibility and Compliance Cabinet, serving on the Recruiting and Student-Athlete Reinstatement Subcommittees. He chaired the Reinstatement Subcommittee in 1999-2000. He also served the NCAA on committees that studied sports wagering, postgame crowd control, basketball issues, and the College Basketball Partnership. He has participated as a presenter and mentor to the NCAA's Ethnic Minority Male Institute and the Black Coaches and Administrator Association.

Littlepage is currently the chairman of the ACC Women's Basketball Committee and the ACC Committee on Awards. He previously chaired the ACC Student-Athlete Welfare Committee, the ACC Men's and Women's Swimming/Diving Committees, and the ACC Men's Soccer Committee.

He is a member of the Associate Faculty for the University's Center for Alcohol and Substance Education, and participates in various alcohol and drug prevention/education conferences. Littlepage also has been active in the local community, having served on the Board of Directors for the Charlottesville Ronald McDonald House and serving as a Trustee with the Mount Zion Baptist Church and the St. Anne's-Belfield School.

Before beginning his career in athletics administration, Littlepage served two stints as an assistant coach with the Cavalier men's basketball program, from 1976 to 1982 and from 1988 to 1990.

Littlepage held head coaching positions at Pennsylvania (1982-85) and at Rutgers (1985-88) before returning to Virginia. While he was at Penn, the Quakers won the Ivy League championship and participated in the 1985 NCAA Tournament. Littlepage was an assistant basketball coach at Villanova for two years and at Yale for one year before joining the U.Va. basketball program as an assistant coach in 1976.

The LaMott, Pa., native earned his bachelor's degree in economics from the Wharton School at the University of Pennsylvania in 1973. He was a member of three Ivy League basketball championship teams at Penn and was instrumental in the Quakers' drive to three consecutive NCAA Eastern Regional playoff appearances. Littlepage and his wife Margaret have three children, two daughters Erica (26) and Erin (21), and a son Murray (23).
