DOM STARSIA

Hall of Fame Coach Enters 24th Season at the Helm of Cavaliers

Widely regarded as one of the best teachers, motivators and tacticians in the game, Dom Starsia is in his 24th season at the helm of the Virginia men's lacrosse program.

Under Starsia's guidance, his Cavalier squads have won four NCAA titles and reached the final four 13 times. He has won more games than any coach in Atlantic Coast Conference and Virginia history, sporting a 267-95 (.738) record since coming to Charlottesville in 1993. In 23 seasons with Virginia, Starsia has led the Cavaliers to the NCAA Tournament 21 times and has won 10 or more games in a season 19 times since his arrival in Charlottesville. The 63 seasons prior to Starsia's tenure began at UVA the Cavaliers managed only 10 years with double-digit wins.

Starsia's overall record, including 10 seasons at Brown, is 368-141 (.723) in 33 years. His 368 wins are the most all-time by a coach at a Division I school, passing legendary coach Jack Emmer (326). The record-breaking triumph was an impressive 13-9 victory over No. 2 seed Cornell in the 2011 NCAA quarterfinal round. The victory was part of UVA's improbable run to the program's fifth NCAA title.

The Cavaliers finished the 2015 season with a 10-5 record and hosted a first round NCAA Tournament game against Johns Hopkins, an eventual semifinal team. It was Starsia's 21st NCAA Appearance with the Cavaliers and 26th overall in his career as a head coach. Goalie Matt Barrett had a breakout season, earning All-America honors and lead the ACC with 12.20 saves per game, which ranked eighth nationally.

Virginia returned to the NCAA Tournament in 2014 after missing it in 2013. Mark Cockerton led UVA with 47 goals and 16 assists, finishing his career No. 8 all-time in program history with 125 goals. The Cavaliers led the nation in ground balls for the second year in a row with 37.75 per game and have never finished lower than No. 3 since the NCAA started tracking the stat in 2009.

UVA failed to make the NCAA Tournament in 2013 for only the second time under Starsia's watch, finishing 7-8 and losing to North Carolina in the ACC Championship game. Playing one of the toughest schedules in the nation, Starsia's young team lost seven of its eight games by three goals or less, including three losses coming in the final minute of regulation or overtime. The Cavaliers led the nation in ground balls with 39.93 per game. As a junior, Cockerton finished No. 2 in the nation with 3.5 goals per game.

The 2012 season saw the graduation of Steele Stanwick. Under Starsia, Stanwick was a two-time first-team All-American, a Tewaaraton Trophy winner and set the program record for most career points with 269. Stanwick's 269 career points upon graduation placed the attackman No. 18 all-time in NCAA history.

Starsia's program in 2011 became the first five-loss team and lowest national seed (No. 7) to win an NCAA title. UVA's efforts helped garner Starsia an ESPY nomination for Best Coach and a waltz down the red carpet at Los Angeles' Nokia Theatre in July 2011. Starsia was going up in his category against the likes of UConn's Jim Calhoun, Dallas Mavericks' Rick Carlisle, Auburn's Gene Chizik and Green Bay Packers' Mike McCarthy. Carlisle, ironically a UVA graduate, took home the award.

The USILA bestowed its top honor on Starsia in 2011, naming him the 2011 F. Morris Touchstone Division I

Head Coach of the Year. Starsia became the first Virginia head coach to win the award, an honor which was first presented in 1958. The accolade is Starsia's third career F. Morris Touchstone Award, previously winning at Brown in 1985 and 1991. Starsia is now in a four-way tie for the most times being awarded in the history of the USILA honor. Richard M. Moran (Cornell), Robert Scott (Johns Hopkins) and Tony Seaman (Pennsylvania/Towson) share the honor with Starsia with three career F. Morris Touchstone Awards apiece. Only Starsia is an active head coach.

No one would have figured an NCAA title in 2011 was improbable for Virginia when the Cavaliers were ranked No. 1 in the USILA coaches preseason poll and No. 2 in the Nike/Inside Lacrosse preseason media poll. They still may not have figured it was out of the realm of possibility through the first eight games of the season when UVA was ranked No. 2 with a 7-1 record. Then Virginia hit a skid, losing 4-of-5 games and losing defensive stalwart Matt Lovejoy to season ending shoulder surgery to compound other personnel changes.

After reinventing its offensive and defensive approach on the fly, UVA entered the regular season finale against No. 13 Penn with an 8-5 record and the threat of losing an NCAA first round hosting bid. Heading on the road for the first time in program history for a first round NCAA game all of a sudden became a strong possibility. UVA closed out the regular season with an impressive 11-2 victory over the Quakers, starting an impressive five game stretch where the Cavaliers played their best lacrosse of the season. Matt White's overtime goal against Bucknell in the NCAA first round capped a UVA comeback that saw the Cavaliers trail by as many as four goals in the second half and by two with two minutes left in regulation. 2011 Tewaaraton Trophy winner Steele Stanwick had 21 points in the NCAA Tournament to lead the Cavaliers, while Colin Briggs' five goals in the title game against Maryland earned the midfielder Most Outstanding Player honors of the NCAA Championship.

"The fact that we are here right now is a credit to the team and my family and the people at Virginia," said Starsia after winning his fourth title with the Cavaliers. "We had to reconfigure ourselves midway through the season - they had to decide that it was important enough to pick themselves up and get going again. The game today epitomized the kind of season that we've had - that we have started out well - put some goals in the second quarter when we got ahead a little bit and gave us some confidence going into the locker room. I am very proud of these guys and what they have done."

The 2011 title is just another bolded bullet point on an already impressive resume. Starsia is one of only three coaches in the history of the sport to win 100-plus games at two different schools. In addition to his 240 UVA wins, he won 101 games at Brown from 1983-92. Jack Emmer won 100-plus games at both Washington & Lee and Army, while Dave Urick topped the century mark at Hobart and Georgetown.

In fitting recognition of his coaching success, Starsia was inducted into the National Lacrosse Hall of Fame in November 2008, one of only four active Division I coaches so honored.

"The wins and losses are fickle at best," Starsia said during his induction speech. "It's the relationships that stand the test of time. Coaching has never been a career choice. It's my life. During my interview [with UVA], I was asked to describe myself. I didn't know how to respond. I said, `honest, and I'll work hard.' And it's really never been more than that."

During his coaching tenure, Virginia has featured 125 All-Americans (30 first-team, 31 second-team, 25 third-team and 39 honorable mention choices), 71 All-ACC selections, eight ACC Rookies of the Year and seven ACC Players of the Year. In addition, UVA has produced five NCAA Championship MVPs (Michael Watson in 1996, Conor Gill in 1999, Tillman Johnson in 2003, Matt Ward in 2006 and Colin Briggs in 2011) and 37 All-NCAA Tournament selections, all since 1994.

Starsia's program never wavers from the emphasis on sportsmanship. Following the national championship season of 2003, the program received the Jim Adams Award, the national lacrosse award for sportsmanship. The next year the team slipped to a 5-8 record but still received the Atlantic Coast Conference's Sportsmanship Award in the first year it was presented. The program then won the league's sportsmanship award for three years afterward.

"Sportsmanship remains a priority for us, and the fact that we have been able to win these awards in all different kinds of seasons, I think speaks a lot about the ideals that are important in this program," said Starsia.

Excellence in Starsia's program isn't only defined by what happens on the field. His teams excel in the classroom as well. Fifteen Cavaliers have been named Scholar All-Americans under his tutelage, including at least one in five of the last six seasons. Ben Rubeor earned All-America recognition for his athletic excellence as well as his academic prowess as a junior (2007) and senior (2008). In 2008 five of the seven Cavaliers who were named All-Americans posted GPAs above 3.0. Danny Glading (2009) and Ken Clausen (2010) concluded their All-American seasons on the field as Scholar All-Americans as well.

The fall of 2009 brought national attention to his program's humanitarian efforts, highlighted by senior Max Pomper being honored with the IMLCA Boston Market Humanitarian Award for his efforts in raising nearly $10,000 for UVA's HELP crisis hotline through a flag football tournament initiated in remembering fallen teammate Will Barrow. Clausen gained national attention with his "Lacrosse Mustache Madness" initiative, a nation-wide effort that raised nearly $33,000 in November 2009 for prostate cancer research and awareness. Both efforts more than tripled their fundraising efforts by year four in the fall of 2012. Clausen's Mustache Madness moved its fundraising efforts to help the HEADstrong Foundation and fighting various blood cancers.

Under Starsia's direction, the Cavaliers have enjoyed a remarkable era of success that is rivaled by few programs. In addition to winning four NCAA championships, UVA has reached the title game two other times, the semifinals seven more times and the quarterfinals three times under Starsia. Overall, Virginia has advanced to the Final Four 13 times in Starsia's 20 seasons at the helm.

Virginia's 2006 squad will go down as one of the greatest in the sport's history. Starsia led the men in orange and blue to an unprecedented 17-0 record en route to the program's third national championship in eight years. The team was dominant throughout the season, winning by an average of more than eight goals per game. The offense led the country in scoring (15.28), while the defense ranked 10th, allowing fewer than eight goals per game. Eight Cavaliers were named All-America, the most in program history, and senior Matt Ward received the Tewaaraton Trophy as the best player in the nation.

The Cavaliers won their second national championship under Starsia in 2003 when they capped an exciting four-game title run with a 9-7 victory over top-ranked Johns Hopkins in the NCAA finals. The Cavaliers closed the season with a 10-game winning streak to win both the ACC and NCAA championships and finished with a 15-2 overall record.

In 1999, Starsia guided the program to its first national championship in 27 years with a thrilling 12-10 victory over Syracuse in the NCAA title game. Virginia concluded that historic campaign with a 13-3 record. The Cavaliers also won their second ACC Tournament crown in three years with an 8-7 come-from-behind victory over top-seeded Duke.

The list of exceptional athletes to play for him reads like a "Who's Who" of the lacrosse world. Steele Stanwick (2011), Matt Ward (2006) and Chris Rotelli (2003) capped their national championship seasons by winning the Tewaaraton Trophy as the top player in the nation, giving UVA the most first-time winners of the award.

Ward was also named the USILA Player of the Year in 2006, one of three Cavaliers to win national honors that season; Michael Culver was named the Defenseman of the Year, while Kyle Dixon was selected the Midfielder of the Year.

Tillman Johnson became the only player in the program's history to win two USILA national awards in one season. He turned in two electric performances in the 2003 Final Four and was named the Player of the Year and Goalie of the Year.

Two icons of the sport-Jay Jalbert and Conor Gill-won a national championship at UVA in 1999, before going on to continued success at the professional level. Jalbert was the MVP of Major League Lacrosse in 2003, while Gill was named the league's MVP in 2004. Matt Poskay won a title with UVA in 2006 and was named the MLL's MVP in 2010.

Virginia claimed two national award winners in the same season for the first time ever in 1996 when Doug Knight was named Player of the Year and Michael Watson was chosen Attackman of the Year. Two more Cavaliers received USILA national awards in 1999 as Ryan Curtis was selected Defenseman of the Year and Jalbert was named Midfielder of the Year.

A native of Valley Stream, N.Y., Starsia came to UVA from his alma mater, Brown University, where he distinguished himself as an outstanding coach and athlete.

Starsia became Brown's head lacrosse coach in 1982 and compiled a 10-year record of 101-46, while establishing himself as one of the top young coaches in the game. His teams boasted the best Ivy League record and the best overall record for any Ivy League school over that 10-year span. While at Brown-where he remains second on the school's list for most wins-he developed five first-team All-Americans, 20 Ivy League first-team players, four Ivy League Players of the Year, and three Ivy League Rookies of the Year.

He took the Bears to the NCAA playoffs in five of his last six years, including the last three. The Bears won two Ivy League titles (1985 and 1991) and advanced to the NCAA quarterfinals three consecutive seasons (1990-92). Starsia led them to their finest season in 1991 with their first-ever undefeated regular season (13-0). They also won the Ivy League title and the New England Championship, and finished with a No. 2 national ranking. Starsia received his first two Morris Touchstone Award as the Division I Coach of the Year in 1985 and 1991 while at Brown.

An outstanding high school football player, Starsia had never seen a lacrosse game before entering Brown as a student in 1970. Showing natural talent for the game, however, he became one of the best defensemen in school history. He was a third-team All-American in 1973 and 1974, earning first-team All-Ivy and All-New England both years. He captained the Bears in 1974 and played in one NCAA playoff game as well as the annual North-South game.

Starsia also captained the freshman football team and played wide receiver on the varsity for two seasons. He was inducted into the Brown University Athletic Hall of Fame in 1981 and the New England Lacrosse Hall of Fame (Newton, Mass.) in 1996. He received the Frank Lanning Award for lifetime achievement of overall contribution to the Rhode Island sports community from the Rhode Island Organization of Sportswriters and Sportscasters in 1992. In 2000, Starsia was chosen one of Brown's "Top 100 Athletes of the Twentieth Century" and to the Brown men's lacrosse "Team of the Millennium."

Starsia earned his bachelor's degree in American Civilization in 1974. Upon graduation, he joined the Brown athletic staff as a full-time assistant to the legendary men's soccer and lacrosse coach Cliff Stevenson. Starsia coached the women's soccer team from 1974 to 1976 and succeeded Stevenson as head lacrosse coach in 1982.

He was a standout club player following his playing days at Brown and was named Club Defenseman of the Year in 1979 and club All-American in 1977, 1978, 1979 and 1980.

Starsia is also active in the lacrosse community on a national level. He currently serves on the NCAA Championship advisory committee, the USILA All-American selection committee, the Tewaaraton Trophy selection committee, as well as the ACC Sportsmanship Committee and received the Howdy Myers Man of the Year Award in 2006.

He has been the president of the Men's Council of U.S. Lacrosse and a member of the NCAA Men's Lacrosse Executive Committee. He has coached in the North-South game twice; a North win in 1990 and a South win in 2005.

Starsia was inducted into the Central Virginia chapter of the US Lacrosse Hall of Fame in 2003 and is a charter member of Brown University's Advisory Council on Athletics.

MARC VAN ARSDALE

Marc Van Arsdale is in his 15th year as the top assistant coach on Dom Starsia's staff and his ninth as associate head coach.

One of the outstanding teachers in the college game, he is heavily involved in all aspects of the program and serves as the team's offensive coordinator. A master offensive tactician, Van Arsdale has overseen some of the most potent offenses in school history.

Under Van Arsdale's guidence in 2013 attackman Mark Cockerton finished No. 2 in the nation with 3.5 goals per game, while attackman Nick O'Reilly was No. 6 in the nation with 2.53 assists per game.

The 2012 season saw All-American Steele Stanwick lead the nation in assists per game (3.19) and finish No. 2 in points per game (5.0) under Van Arsdale's offensive tutelage. Stanwick graduated as a two-time first-team All-American, a Tewaaraton Trophy winner and set the program record for most career points with 269. Stanwick's 269 career points upon graduation placed the attackman No. 18 all-time in NCAA history.

In 2011 Virginia ranked No. 3 in scoring with average of 12.56 goals per game, 6.94 assists per game and 19.50 points per game. Stanwick won the Tewaaraton Trophy after scoring 21 points (9 g, 12 a) in the NCAA Tournament, leading UVA to the title. Stanwick finished the season No. 3 in the nation with 2.24 assists per game and No. 4 in the nation with 4.12 points per game.

In 2010 Virginia ranked No. 3 in scoring with an average of 13.44 goals per game, 8.17 assists per game and 21.61 points per game. Chris Bocklet burst onto the scene as the sophomore scored 53 goals, second-most in a season all-time by a Cavalier. Bocklet became the first UVA player to amass the 50-goal plateau since Doug Knight set the single-season record with 56 scores in 1996. The balanced scoring attack in 2010 saw 10 Cavaliers reach double figures in goals scored.

In 2009 Virginia ranked first in scoring with an average of 13.0 goals per game, 7.83 assists per game and 20.83 points per game. Garrett Billings led the team with 38 goals as all three starting attackmen scored at least 30 goals for the second straight season and only the third time in school history. Joining him in the scoring parade was Steele Stanwick (36) and Danny Glading (32). UVA also boasted a top-notch scoring midfield behind first team All-American Shamel Bratton (31) and third team All-American Brian Carroll (29).

Billings (36) and Glading (30) were also part of the 2008 starting attack trio that reached the 30-goal plateau, spearheaded by Ben Rubeor's team-leading 38 scores. Carroll chipped in 28 goals and his first third team All-American nod.

Virginia rolled to an undefeated national championship seven years ago with one of the most explosive offenses in recent memory. The Cavaliers led the nation in scoring with an average of 15.82 goals per game, the most by a Division I team since the 1997 UVA squad averaged more than 18 goals per game. Their 269 goals were the most by a D-I team since UVA tallied 275 times in 1996.

Under Van Arsdale's guidance that season, Matt Ward was named the USILA Player of the Year and was awarded the Tewaaraton Trophy as the nation's top player, while Kyle Dixon was named the USILA Midfielder of the Year. Van Arsdale himself was recognized as the Division I Assistant Coach of the Year following the season.

The Cavaliers have ranked in the top 10 nationally in scoring in seven of the last eight seasons, including the last four. In addition, Virginia featured the ACC leader in goals, assists and points in 2002, '03 and '06.

Van Arsdale returned to Charlottesville following a five-year stint (1997-2001) as the head coach at Pennsylvania, where he led the Quakers to a 27-39 overall record. During his first year, he coached Penn to its first .500 season (6-6) of the '90s. Following the 2000 season, he was selected to coach the South All-Stars in the Collegiate North-South Senior All-Star game.

"It would be difficult for me to describe adequately how fortunate we are to have Marc on our staff," said Starsia. "He has been a great influence on my own development, on and off the field. Everyone associated with the Virginia lacrosse program benefits from his experience and leadership. There are two head coaches on this staff."

Prior to taking over the program at Penn, Van Arsdale spent six years as an assistant coach at UVA, first under former head coach Jim Adams (1991-92) and later as a member of Starsia's first staff (1993-96). The Cavaliers reached the NCAA Championships five times in that six-year span, advancing to the national championship game in 1994 and 1996, and to the national semifinals in 1995.

During his first stint at UVA, Van Arsdale was instrumental in recruiting and developing some of the most talented offensive players to ever wear the orange and blue, including David Curry, Doug Knight, Kevin Pehlke, Tucker Radebaugh, Greg Traynor, Michael Watson and Tim Whiteley.

The native of Geneva, N.Y., is a 1985 magna cum laude graduate of Hobart College, where he excelled both academically and athletically. He played on four Division III championship teams, earning first-team All-America and National Division III Attackman of the Year honors as a senior.

Chosen the Most Valuable Player in the D-III championship game in 1983 and 1985, Van Arsdale led the Statesmen in scoring his last two seasons and played in the North-South game his senior year. He finished his collegiate career among the school's top-10 all-time leaders for assists, goals and scoring.

Van Arsdale received an NCAA postgraduate scholarship in 1985 after being named to the Dean's List all four years at Hobart. He was also chosen a Presidential Scholar and was elected a member of the Phi Beta Kappa honor society.

The 51-year-old Van Arsdale began his coaching career as an assistant men's lacrosse coach at Nazareth College in 1986. From 1987-90, he served as an assistant at his alma mater, Hobart, helping guide the Statesmen to four consecutive Division III national championships.

He was inducted into the Hobart College Athletic Hall of Fame in 2001, along with his brother Guy (Hobart class of 1983) and father William (athletic benefactor). He is also a member of the Geneva Sports Hall of Fame and Western New York Lacrosse Hall of Fame. Van Arsdale also was inducted into the Virginia Lacrosse Hall of Fame on March 16, 2013.

In addition to his extensive coaching experience, Van Arsdale has served on the USILA All-American Selection Committee and the advisory committee for team selections to the NCAA Championship.

Van Arsdale was able to coach his son, Owen, an attackman for Virginia from 2011-15. Owen Van Arsdale ammassed 124 career points for the Cavaliers on his way to USILA Scholar All-America honors in 2015. Van Arsdale's wife, the former Karen Salemo, was an All-American women's lacrosse player at William Smith. His daughter, Elise, is a senior at Villanova.

JOE STARSIA
ASSISTANT COACH

Joe Starsia is in this third season as an assistant coach for the Virginia Cavaliers.

In 2015 under Starsia's tutelage, UVA saw former walk-on Davi Sacco go from unknown to a USILA All-American after a season-ending injury was suffered by preseason first-team All-American Tanner Scales. Sacco led the ACC with 1.53 caused turnovers per game (23 total), which was also good for No. 18 nationally.

During the 2014 season Starsia helped guide Scales to All-America honors after the defenseman led UVA with 22 caused turnovers.

Starsia joined his father's staff in September 2013 after two successful seasons as an assistant coach at Colgate.

Starsia's three-year stint at Colgate was highly successful. The Raiders made one NCAA appearance and Peter Baum won the 2012 Tewaaraton Trophy. While at Colgate, Starsia was the team's coordinator for defense and recruiting.

Colgate finished the 2012 season with a program-best 14 wins and the Red Raiders' highest national ranking at No. 8 in the final Nike/Inside Lacrosse Media Poll after advancing to the NCAA quarterfinals. The team also set a total of 29 individual and team records including 13 program records, 15 Patriot League records and one NCAA single-season record.

Starsia joined the Colgate staff from NCAA DIII Dickinson College, where he served as an assistant coach. He helped lead the Red Devils to back-to-back historic seasons, posting a school-record 17 wins in 2011. The team advanced to the NCAA quarterfinals that season before falling to eventual national champion Salisbury. Dickinson posted a school-best 15-3 record in 2010, and went on to better that mark with the 17-2 campaign in 2011. He also mentored one of his defensemen, John Haire, to All-America honors in both 2010 and 2011.

Prior to coaching at Dickinson, Starsia was a standout defenseman and assistant coach at Lynchburg College. As a player, Starsia and the Hornets won two Old Dominion Athletic Conference (ODAC) titles and made three NCAA Tournament appearances. He graduated with a degree in sport management and a minor in English in 2006, and earned a master's of education with an emphasis in educational leadership from Lynchburg College in 2008.

He made the Dean's List in 2004, 2005 and 2006 while also garnering Academic All-ODAC honors each of those years. He was honored by his teammates with the David Zimmer Team Spirit Award in 2003, 2005 and 2006.

During his coaching tenure, Lynchburg advanced to the ODAC final twice, winning the championship in 2008 and finishing second in 2007. He was involved in all aspects of the program, which has a strong tradition in the sport of men's lacrosse.

Starsia and his wife, Pam, currently reside in Charlottesville. The couple has two sons, Dominic and Luigi.

COREY BULKEN
VOLUNTEER ASSISTANT COACH

Corey Bulken is in his second season as a volunteer assistant coach on Dom Starsia's staff and he works with the faceoff specialists.

UVA entered 2015 with 42 career faceoffs among healthy specialists on the team. Bulken worked with Jason Murphy, who led UVA with a .505 winning percentage (109-of-216).

Bulken came to UVA after one season as an assistant coach with DII Belmont Abbey College.

Prior to his time at Belmont Abbey College, Bulken spent two years as an assistant coach at DIII Washington College in Chestertown, Md. The faceoff unit at Washington College went from winning 40 percent of its draws the season before he arrived to 55 percent in year one and 64 percent in year two. Mike Trapp won 61 percent of his draws under Bulken's tutelage and was named an All-American.

Bulken arrived at Washington College in the summer of 2011 after a senior season at Le Moyne College. Bulken led NCAA Division II in face-off percentage, winning 69.2 percent of his draws, and was named the USILA Division II Specialty Player of the Year as a senior in 2011.

A two-time USILA All-American, Bulken earned first-team honors as a senior and second-team honors as a junior. He was also named to the All-Northeast 10 Conference first-team following both of those seasons. Bulken was named Le Moyne's Male Athlete of the Year and was his team's Most Valuable Player as a senior. The Baldwinsville, N.Y., native led Le Moyne in face-off percentage three consecutive years and in ground balls two consecutive years, and played in three consecutive NCAA Division II National Championship games.

2015 SEASON IN REVIEW

Virginia 13, Loyola 12
Feb. 7 • Baltimore, Md.

No. 9 Virginia (1-0) manufactured a five-goal third quarter and survived a late rally by No. 7 Loyola (0-1) to win its season-opening game, 13-12, at the Ridley Athletic Complex.

UVA used a four-goal run in the third quarter to break open a 6-6 game. Greg Coholan scored two of his career-high four goals to start the spurt. Matt Emery scored his first career goal and Zed Williams capped the run on a laser that found its way between the legs of Loyola goalie Pat McEnerney, giving the Cavaliers a 10-6 advantage at the 6:32 mark in the third quarter.

Loyola came roaring back, cutting its deficit to one goal, 12-11, after back-to-back goals by Romar Dennis. The second goal came with 4:30 left in the game and capped a 5-2 run by the Greyhounds. Williams gave UVA just enough breathing room with his unassisted goal with 3:11 left in the contest.

The first half featured the each team countering with haymakers, as the score was knotted at 6-6 entering the intermission. UVA and Loyola traded goals most of the half until back-to-back scores were tallied by Zed Williams and Joe French. The goal by French gave the Cavaliers a 5-4 lead with 6:50 left in the second quarter.

Loyola reacted quickly, scoring two straight goals of its own, retaking the lead 6-5. Romar Dennis capped the Greyhounds' run with 4:48 left in the first half. UVA's Owen Van Arsdale evened the score on a Greg Coholan pass with 3:21 left. In the final seconds of the second quarter Coholan tried to deposit another goal into the cage, but was stuffed by McEnerney, the Loyola goalie.

Feb. 14 • Charlottesville, Va.

The No. 9 Virginia Cavaliers (2-0) overcame a snowstorm and an early three-goal deficit to defeat No. 16 Drexel (0-1) at Klöckner Stadium, 14-10.

Drexel scored the game's first three goals to take an early 3-0 lead. UVA fought back with a 6-1 run to take a 7-5 lead with 3:45 left in the second period. Ryan Tucker scored two goals during the run and Zed Williams capped the scoring with an unassisted goal.

Drexel managed back-to-back goals to cut the UVA advantage to four goals, 14-10, courtesy of Jake Gennosa and Ryan Belka. The two goals by Drexel capped the game's scoring as UVA's defense thwarted any Drexel comeback attempt.

Lukacovic, Pannell and Tucker all led UVA with four points, while Matt Barrett made 12 saves in the cage, four of which came in a late fourth-quarter barrage by the Dragons. Van Arsdale led all players with three goals.

Game 5
Virginia 15, Cornell 14
March 7 • Charlottesville, Va.

James Pannell scored six goals and No. 7 Virginia (4-1) survived a late surge by No. 8 Cornell (3-2) to escape with a 15-14 triumph at the UHall Turf Field.

Virginia appeared to have victory in hand when it led 15-9 with less than three minutes remaining. However, Cornell used a 5-0 run over the game's final 2:32 to put the contest in question.

The spurt started when Ryan Tucker was called for a ward and Cornell quickly scored in transition off the turnover with 2:32 left on a Bradlee Lord goal. The goal by Lord commenced Cornell's 5-0 run that was capped by John Hogan's score with 34 seconds left. UVa's Jason Murphy won a critical ensuring faceoff and Virginia's Tucker was able to run out the clock to preserve the win.

UVa retaliated with a 6-1 run over the next 23:48 of play, which included holding Cornell scoreless for a period 19:25 that spanned from the first quarter into the third quarter. Cornell was shutout in the second quarter despite playing three minutes in a man-up scenario.

Pannell scored three of his game-high six goals during UVa's run. Zed Williams added three assists during the spurt. When Ryan Lukacovic found Pannell to cap the run at 13:40 in the third quarter, UVa found itself with a commanding 9-5 lead.

ADMINISTRATION

TERESA A. SULLIVAN
University President

Teresa A. Sullivan is the University of Virginia's eighth president. Since taking office in 2010, she has led UVA through a period of significant progress. In fall 2012, she launched a planning effort to provide a road-map for the University's future, while gathering input from 10,000 alumni, parents, students, faculty, staff, and others. This effort produced a new strategic plan for the University, the Cornerstone Plan. President Sullivan developed a new financial model for the University to ensure stability and transparency and to spur innovation in a period of significant financial pressure in higher education.

President Sullivan has assembled a highly effective leadership team, led by Executive Vice President and Provost Tom Katsouleas, Executive Vice President and Chief Operating Officer Pat Hogan, Executive Vice President for Health Affairs Dr. Rick Shannon, Senior Vice President for University Advancement Bob Sweeney, and a group of experienced deans, vice presidents, and staff. Working with her team, President Sullivan has prepared UVA to tackle the serious challenges in higher education related to cost-containment, affordability, faculty compensation, and the emergence of online education. UVA now has ongoing efforts, at both the unit and the pan-University levels, to reduce costs, improve processes, and enhance efficiency, while protecting the quality of the academic enterprise. In 2013, President Sullivan proposed a plan to aggressively improve faculty compensation after many years of stagnation in faculty salaries. Under her leadership, faculty and staff have been encouraged to experiment strategically with new technologies, such as massive open online courses, or MOOCs. President Sullivan also provided seed funding to allow professors to experiment with "hybrid" courses that combine the traditional classroom experience with technology-enhanced teaching.

In spring 2013, President Sullivan led the University to completion of its $3-billion capital campaign, and quickly announced plans to raise financial support for three strategic priorities: retaining and recruiting top faculty, restoring the University's Jeffersonian Grounds, and providing needy students with scholarships.

President Sullivan is a respected scholar in labor force demography. The author or coauthor of six books and many scholarly articles, her most recent research has focused on measuring productivity in higher education.

President Sullivan is a member of the American Academy of Arts and Sciences and a Fellow of the American Association for the Advancement of Science. She serves as Vice Chair of the Council of Presidents for the Association of Governing Boards of Universities and Colleges, Co-Chair of the National Research Council's Committee on Improving Higher Education's Responsiveness to Regional STEM Workforce Needs, and as a member of the Advisory Board for the Northern Virginia Technology Council, the trade association of the technology industry in Northern Virginia. She is a member of the Higher Education Advisory Committee that provides guidance for implementation of the Virginia Higher Education Opportunity Act of 2011. In 2013, the Governor appointed her to the Innovation and Entrepreneurship Investment Authority.

President Sullivan came to UVA from the University of Michigan, where she was provost and executive vice president for academic affairs. Prior to her work at Michigan, Ms. Sullivan was executive vice chancellor for academic affairs for the University of Texas System, a position she held from 2002 until May 2006. She served as faculty member at the University of Texas at Austin from 1981 to 2006.

She is a graduate of Michigan State University's James Madison College, and earned her doctoral degree in sociology from the University of Chicago. She is married to Douglas Laycock, the Robert E. Scott Distinguished Professor of Law at UVA. They have two adult sons.

President Sullivan is a passionate fan of UVA athletics, and regularly attends sports events on and off Grounds.

CRAIG LITTLEPAGE
Director of Athletics

Committed to preserving and building on UVA's longstanding tradition of academic and athletic excellence, Craig Littlepage is in his 15th year as Virginia's Athletics Director. Littlepage's appointment as athletics director was announced in August of 2001. Littlepage served as Virginia's interim athletics director from June 1, 2001, until his permanent appointment to the position. He had also served as the University's interim athletics director from December of 1994 until July of 1995.

The first African-American athletics director in Atlantic Coast Conference history, Littlepage was named the Black Coaches Association's "Athletics Administrator of the Year" in 2003 and 2006. He was also listed on Sports Illustrated's list of the 101 most influential minorities in sports in 2003 and 2004. In March 2005, Littlepage was named one of Black Enterprise magazine's "Most Powerful African-Americans in Sports."

Littlepage has been a member of UVA's athletics administration since 1990 when he was appointed an assistant athletics director, a position he held from 1990-1991. He then spent four years as the associate director of athletics for programs and six years (1995-2001) as senior associate director of athletics, managing all aspects of the athletics department's day-to-day operations.

Littlepage leads a comprehensive 25-sport athletics program that routinely competes for championships and national rankings in many sports. At the same time, Cavalier student-athletes who exhaust their eligibility at Virginia graduate at a rate comparable to the student body as a whole. Annually, UVA student-athletes rank among the top Division I-A public universities in the country in graduation rates.

He has outlined a number of ambitious 10-year goals for the department to achieve by 2022: graduate 100 percent of its student-athletes; win 12 national championships and 70 conference titles; fully endow all scholarships and provide the operational support required to meet all other stated goals; build and maintain high-quality facilities; annually recruit the best student-athletes in the country (based on how coaches rate their top prospects); and fully comply with Title IX.

Such goals reflect Littlepage's vision of "uncompromised excellence in intercollegiate athletics" as well as the department's overall mission to "enhance and support the intellectual purpose of the University and its exemplary academic standards and traditions."

Virginia captured NCAA championships in men's soccer, men's tennis and its first-ever title in baseball capped another successful athletics season in which teams or individuals from 20 of the Cavaliers' 25 intercollegiate athletics programs advanced to NCAA postseason competition in 2014-15. UVA secured its second straight top-10 finish in the Directors' Cup standings.

The Cavaliers established an ACC record with NCAA championships in three men's sports in one season and placed in the top 20 in the Directors' Cup standings for the ninth consecutive year.

In addition to its three NCAA championships, the women's soccer team placed second nationally and the women's swimming and diving and rowing programs each finished fifth. Women's cross country finished 15th nationally and women's tennis advanced to the NCAA Round of 16.

UVA captured six Atlantic Coast Conference championships and its 69 conference titles since the spring of 2002 are the most of any ACC school during that time. In 2014-15, UVA won ACC championships in women's golf (first ever), rowing (sixth consecutive and 15th in 16 years), men's tennis (ninth consecutive and 11th in the last 12 years), women's tennis (second consecutive), women's swimming and diving (eighth consecutive) and wrestling (first since 2010).
