KEY STORYLINES

THE SERIES

- For the second time in as many games this season, the Hokies will face an opponent for the first time.
- Despite being separated by just a three-hour journey, the two sides haven't met since UNC Asheville's first season in 1988.
- Monday's matchup will add another University of North Carolina System school to Tech's all-time opponents, joining UNC (Chapel Hill), Charlotte, UNCG, Appalachian State, East Carolina, UNC Wilmington and NC State.

A WIN WOULD...

- Give Virginia Tech its first 2-0-0 start to a season since 2019, when it started 4-0-0.
- Give Virginia Tech back-to-back wins for the first time since defeating Boston College (1-0, Sept. 22) and High Point (3-2, Sept. 26) in 2023.

LAST TIME OUT

- The Hokies kicked off their 2024 campaign with a 4-0 victory over North Florida last Thursday.
- Junior transfer Samy Kolby paced Tech with two stunning goals in the first half, while CJ Coppola and Noe Uwimana added a pair in the second half, as well.

- Tech's four goals were the most by the Hokies in a season opener since putting 11 past Mars Hill in 1993.

NEW LOOK HOKIES

- Virginia Tech's 28-man roster is made up of 14 newcomers and 14 returners.
- Of Tech's 21 goals scored in 2023, 11 of them were accounted for by players no longer on the roster.
- In minutes, 51.4% of the Hokies' (8256/16045) 2023 participation is no longer with the program.

THE DEBUTANTES BALL

- Ten of the 19 players that appeared for Virginia Tech were newcomers, while Harrison Krieg, who's in the second year of his Hokies career, also made his debut.
- Six starters were making their first appearances for Tech: Floki Stephensen (fr.), Trey Gardiner (transfer), Samy Kolby (transfer), Alex Perez (fr.), Mathias Yohannes (transfer) and Cooper Wenzel (transfer).
- Samy Kolby and CJ Coppola, both making their transfer debuts, accounted for three goals and both assists in the game.

UWI-MAMA, THERE GOES THAT MAN

- Noe Uwimana took the ACC by storm in his freshman season, finishing third in Tech's lineup in points (7) with two goals and three assists.
- The defender with ties to Richmond United earned ACC All-Freshman Team honors, becoming the Virginia Tech player in three seasons to be named to the league's rookie team: Danny Flores (2021) and Misei Yoshizawa (2022).
- As a dynamic weapon often utilized as a left wingback, the Philadelphia Union product has scored two remarkable goals with his right foot this season, including the winner against Boston College.
- Before kicking off his goal-scoring streak against Boston College and High Point, Uwimana had three assists in games against Loyola (Md.), Davidson and No. 5 Louisville.

GOALS CHANGE GAMES

- Head coach Mike Brizendine is on the record saying "goals change games."
- Over the last two seasons, the Hokies have struggled to get consistent goal-scoring in comparison to the success they had in their six-season NCAA Tournament run from 2016-2021.
- Tech bolstered its attacking options in the offseason with the additions of CJ Coppola and Malick Thiaw, along with Marcos Escoc, Oliver Roche and Andy Sullins entering their second seasons with the team, and Declan Quill approaching his senior campaign.

WATCH OUT FOR WILLIE

- Senior defender Willie Cardona was named to the 2024 ACC Preseason Watch List on August 14.
- Joining the Hokies in 2022 after an impressive rookie season at Winthrop, Cardona has made 24 appearances, including 11 starts for Tech in two seasons.
- Originally a midfielder, Cardona re-invented himself as a right back in the 2023 campaign and has shown steady improvement in Tech's system.
- In 2021, Cardona was named Big South All-Conference honorable mention for Winthrop.

KOLBY'S BRACE

- In his Tech debut, Samy Kolby unlocked the game with two goals in the first half.
- A midfielder by trade, Kolby had two goals and zero assists last season in over 800 minutes of action, but logged two goals and an assist in 49 minutes last Thursday.
- Kolby was the first Tech player to score two goals in a game since Conor Pugh scored twice against Longwood on Sept. 20, 2022.

COOPER'S CLEAN SHEET

- Cooper Wenzel made four stops to give Tech its first shutout since the Hokies defeated Boston College, 1-0, on Sept. 22, 2023.
- Wenzel made two incredible stops, including one just minutes into the game, while the game was still locked at 0-0.
- To preserve the clean sheet, the Fresno, California native made a stop off a set piece in the final 15 seconds of the game.
- The result was Virginia Tech's first clean sheet in a season opener since closing out Creighton, 2-0, in 2017.

PHILLY BOYS

- Virginia Tech has built a strong connection with the Philadelphia Union academy.
- Since 2019, the Hokies have rostered five players from the Philly youth system: Nick Blacklock, Ben Martino, Danny Flores, Noe Uwimana and Alex Perez.
- With Perez yet to make his Tech debut, the other four have a combined 153 appearances for Tech.
- Both Flores and Uwimana were named to the ACC All-Freshman Team in their rookie seasons.
- Martino and Flores left Blacksburg following the 2022 seasons to sign professional contracts with MLS sides Nashville SC and Sporting KC, respectively.

YEAR 16 ON THE TOUCHLINE

- Head coach Mike Brizendine and associate head coach Patrick McSorley enter their sixteenth season together on Virginia Tech's coaching staff.
- The ties run deeper than Blacksburg, however, as both played soccer at James Madison.
- The two Virginia natives shared the pitch in 1995, as the Dukes reached the NCAA quarterfinals.
- McSorley left Harrisonburg as James Madison's all-time leading goalscorer (42).

OH CAPTAINS, MY CAPTAINS

- In the spring, Carter Hensley was named team captain heading into his senior season.
- Ahead of the fall preseason camp, Willie Cardona was named co-captain for the Hokies, as well.
- The two have ties that pre-date their time at Virginia Tech, as they played at Charlotte Soccer Academy in their youth days and late in high school.

CALI KEEPERS

- Two of Virginia Tech's stronger weapons in its goalkeeper union hold roots in California.
- Freshman Mark Hyan, a Los Angeles native, joined Tech in the spring and adapted quickly to the collegiate level of play.
- Along with his prowess in goal, Hyan was a highly-touted placekicking prospect for his high school football team (Loyola HS).
- Super-senior Cooper Wenzel, a Fresno native, arrived in Blacksburg in August after four years with CSUN, including an All-Big West second team campaign in 2022.

DJ FLOKI

- Olafur Floki Stephensen, who goes primarily by Floki, is not just a promising young defender, but also an experienced DJ in his native Iceland.
- The defender has his own mixing board that he puts together music sets on, however, he left the equipment in Iceland ahead of the fall in order to focus on the soccer season.

STEADY TREY

- In his four-year career at Davidson, senior Trey Gardiner started all 58 games that he played in for the Wildcats, including three games against the Hokies in 2021, 2022 and 2023.
- In all three career fixtures, Gardiner logged 90 minutes.

OLLIE'S FRESHMAN CAMPAIGN

- Freshman Oliver Roche's four goals last season were tied for the most on the Hokies' squad.
- The Danish striker made waves early in the season when he scored a late winner against No. 5 Louisville on the road.
- His four goals were the most by a Tech freshman since Dani Pereira had five in his 2019 campaign.

NEXT LEVEL TALENT

- Across the pitch, the Hokies have several players that have made appearances in the USL Championship and MLS Next level.
- Players with next-level credentials in the American system include: Mark Hyan (Orange County SC), Tino Vasquez (Forward Madison), Andy Sullins (Atlanta United 2), Mathias Yohannes (Loudoun United), Noe Uwimana and Alex Perez (Philadelphia Union II).
