THE GAME

The Lipscomb men's basketball team hits the road for the first time in 2014-15 on Thursday night taking on cross-town foe Vanderbilt at 8 p.m. at Memorial Gymnasium.

The contest is set to air on the FSN network with Pete Pranica and Sean Tuohy calling the action. The game will also be broadcast on 94.9 Game 2 with Jonathan Seamon handling the play-by-play duties.

It will be the 28th meeting all-time between the two teams with the Commodores holding a 23-4 advantage in the series that dates back to the 1930's. Lipscomb's lone win at Vanderbilt came in 1939 when the Bisons pulled off a 40-33 win.

Inside the Herd

- Sophomore guard Josh Williams earned his first Atlantic Sun Conference Player of the Week award on Monday after his 32-point effort against Berry. The Jackson, Mississippi native leads the Bisons in scoring averaging 22.5 points per game, a figure that ranks tied for 27th nationally overall and ninth among sophomores.
- Senior forward Martin Smith joined twin brother Malcolm as a member of the 1,000 point club at Lipscomb on Monday night. Martin became the 44th member of the exclusive list with a 3-pointer early in the first half against Belmont.
- Malcolm Smith joined the 1,000 point club in the final game of 2013-14 with a 24-point effort that saw him land exactly on 1,000. Heading into Thursday night's contest, he trails Martin by nine points.
- Former Lipscomb standout Adnan Hodzic signed a free agent contract on Wednesday to join Aries Trikala of the Greek A1 Ehniki. Hodzic spent last season playing for Al Arabi in Qatar where he averaged 20.9 points and 10.3 rebounds per game.
- The Bisons added a pair of high school standouts during the early signing period as Garrison Mathews from Franklin, Tennessee and Eli Pepper from Princeton, Kentucky inked their National Letters of Intent.
- Sophomore guard J.C. Hampton and senior forward Martin Smith were both selected to the Atlantic Sun Conference Preseason team.
- The Bisons were tabbed third in the 2014 A-Sun coaches preseason poll behind favorite FGCU and North Florida. The media poll had second and third places reversed for the Bisons and Ospreys with Lipscomb selected to finish just behind FGCU.
- NBC Sport's CollegeBasketballTalk agreed with the A-Sun media picking Lipscomb to finish second in the 8-team league.

BleacherReport high on Bisons Future

Lipscomb was featured by BleacherReport in July as one of the next mid-major team's that are poised to become a powerhouse. The publication cited the Bisons high-octane offense and the number of returning scorers as reasons why Lipscomb could join the ranks of Butler, Creighton, Davidson and VCU as teams that have become mid-major powers.

BleacherReport also predicted the Bisons to be the ninth-best 3-point shooting team in the country in 2014-15 and gave the Purple and Gold an honorable mention in the top-10 best "Small Ball" lineups in college basketball.

Speed limit 70

Hitting the 70-point mark and hitting more free throws than the opponent seemed to be the magic recipe in 2013-14. The Bisons were 13-6 when scoring 70 or more and 11-4 when shooting more free throws than the opponent.

Under the Bright Lights

As part of the partnership that began in 2012-13 between the Atlantic Sun Conference and ESPN, the Bisons are set to be featured on ESPN3 for 10 regular-season home games from Allen Arena. The broadcast originates directly from the Lipscomb campus thanks to a significant investment from the University and a grant from the conference.

Lipscomb will appear on ESPN3 a total of 17 times in 2014-15 along with making debut appearances on the SEC Network, the Pac-12 network and the Longhorn Network. The Bisons contest at Vanderbilt is also slated for TV coverage on FSN.

LU no more

The Lipscomb athletic department recently retired the usage of the interlocking "LU" mark and any use of the term "LU" Lipscomb is no longer at liberty to use it in any form or fashion. Rebranding efforts are currently underway and will be announced in the coming months.

Mr. Smith Goes to Nashville

The Bisons feature three Mr. Smiths on the roster - Charles, Malcolm and Martin. Charles is unrelated to Malcolm and Martin, who are twins.

Poll Action

Lipscomb was selected by the A-Sun coaches to finish third in the conference preseason poll, while the A-Sun media tabbed the Bisons to finish second behind FGCU, who is the favorite in both polls.

Bisons in Allen Arena

Lipscomb is 115-57 in Allen Arena. Since the start of the 2004 season, the Bisons hold an 86-25 advantage over visiting opponents. Lipscomb recorded its 50th win in Allen Arena on Jan. 7, 2007 with an 89-68 victory over Mercer. Allen Arena hosted the 2008 and 2009 Atlantic Sun Conference Tournaments.

"S" or No "S"

The most commonly accepted plural of 'bison' is bison, but at Lipscomb we are the Bisons. The unabridged Oxford English dictionary includes Bisons as a proper usage.

No. 15 for the Bisons

The Bisons are in the 15th season of basketball in the NCAA era.

History Lesson

Lipscomb University was established in 1891 by David Lipscomb and James A. Harding as the Nashville Bible School. Nearly 30 years later, the school was renamed David Lipscomb College after Lipscomb passed away. In 1988, Lipscomb became known as David Lipscomb University, but, in 1994, the "David" was legally dropped. Lipscomb is affiliated with the Churches of Christ.

We Battle

The "Battle of the Boulevard" is an annual rivalry against Belmont University, located less than three miles from each other down Belmont Boulevard. Since Dec. 11, 1953, the two schools have faced off 131 times with Lipscomb leading the series 73-59. Despite now being in separate conferences, the two schools will play each other twice this season.

Let's Score 4000+ points

The top two all-time leading scorers in college basketball history (NCAA or NAIA) belong to the Lipscomb Bisons. John Pierce is college basketball's all-time leading scorer with 4,230 career points and current Lipscomb AD Philip Hutcheson, who concluded his career as the nation's all-time leading scorer, ranks second all-time with 4,106 career points. The NCAA record for career points is held by LSU's "Pistol" Pete Maravich, who totaled 3,667 points.

NAIA Powerhouse

From 1988-2001, Lipscomb won more basketball games than any other college or university in the nation, posting an amazing 356 wins and only 56 losses. Prior to the impressive streak, Lipscomb won the 1986 NAIA national championship. The Bisons averaged more than 32 wins per year and, in 1990, set a national record by winning 41 games. Lipscomb finished in the NAIA Top 20 for 13 straight seasons, including seven top-five finishes in the last 10 years in the NAIA.

HEAD COACH CASEY ALEXANDER

After a two-year stint leading the Stetson University men's hoops program, Casey Alexander was named the 18th head coach of the Lipscomb University program in May 2013.

Alexander finished his first season at the helm with the Bisons posting a 10-8 record in Atlantic Sun Conference play. The team rebounded from an 0-4 start to league action to win 10-of-14 to finish the regular season in a 3-way tie for fourth place in the conference standings. Overall, Lipscomb finished 15-15 on the year and averaged 75.9 points per game, a figure that ranked third in the A-Sun. The Bisons led the league in three pointers making 9.2 per outing.

A big part of the success of the 2013-14 team came from freshman duo J.C. Hampton and Josh Williams, who each earned A-Sun All-Freshman honors for their play on the court as rookies.

"Casey has been part of successful programs wherever he has been," said Lipscomb director of Athletics Philip Hutcheson.

"But, what I'm most impressed with is his understanding of the spirit, character and mission of Lipscomb University. He shares our values and is a proven player and coach. Casey has observed the Lipscomb program for a long time, and he understands in his bones who we are."

Bringing 18 years of NCAA Division I coaching experience in the Atlantic Sun Conference to the storied Bison program, Alexander led the Hatters to a third-place finish in the A-Sun standings. Stetson's 11-7 finish in league play marked only the second time in the last decade that the Hatters finished third or higher in the conference standings.

Stan Van Gundy, former Orlando Magic head coach, said Alexander is the "kind of coach every parent would like their son to play for."

"Casey is a great fit for Lipscomb," he said. "He has been around success and knows what it takes to win games. He is one of the finest teachers of the game that I have been privileged to watch. He sets high standards for himself and his players and is very demanding yet remains calm in all situations. His players will not only succeed and become better players, he will be the role model that they need to achieve great things in their lives after basketball."

Alexander has a unique understanding of Lipscomb's institutional mission.

"Casey clearly understands the mission of the university," said Scott McDowell, vice president for student development and dean of campus life at Lipscomb. "He has the desire to continue to raise the bar for the basketball program spiritually and to help make that mission come to life in the athletic realm of campus life. His teams are known to be disciplined and hard-working, and I believe he will continue to recruit players who want to be a part of the mission and culture of Lipscomb University."

A trademark of Alexander's coaching philosophy is recruiting "players who are committed to playing hard and playing as a team. We work hard to find the right players and coaches on the front end. When you get this type of player, you can accomplish great things."

In 2012-13 at Stetson, the Hatters ranked among the nation's best in sharing the ball as Alexander's squad ranked eighth nationally averaging 16.2 assists per game. Stetson also ranked second in the A-Sun in scoring averaging 70.3 points per game finishing just behind the high-octane Florida Gulf Coast offense in the scoring race. The Hatters also ranked second in the conference in field goal percentage (.456), three point field goal percentage (.329) and free throw percentage (.705).

Under Alexander's Adam Pegg earned 2013 Atlantic Sun Conference Men's Basketball Scholar-Athlete of the Year for his play on the court and his work in the classroom. The center was also named All-Atlantic Sun Conference first-team after finishing as the only player in the league to finish in the top 10 in scoring, rebounding and field goal percentage.

Prior to taking his first head coaching role at Stetson, Alexander spent 16 years on the bench with Belmont head coach Rick Byrd.

"Casey played and coached for me and I can say that he is as competitive as any player I've ever coached," said Byrd, head coach of the Belmont University men's basketball team. "He is a great leader. He was born to coach and is an outstanding teacher of the game."

During that span, the Bruins captured four Atlantic Sun Conference Tournament Championships, made four trips to the NCAA Tournament and one NIT appearance.

While still at Belmont, Alexander was named the "No. 5 Mid-Major Assistant Coach by national college basketball Jeff Goodman of CBS Sports.

"Belmont will always be an important part of my life," Alexander said. "I value that experience and the people who are there. The things that I love about that part of my life are what attract me to Lipscomb. It's what allows me to jump in with both feet and to be ready to go."

Before putting on the suit and tie on the sidelines, Alexander was a standout player for Belmont ('92-95) leading the Bruins to a 119-25 record during his playing career. He established himself among the career leaders in a number of categories and was inducted into the Belmont Hall of Fame in 2005.

A three-sport standout in high school, Alexander helped lead Brentwood Academy to a pair of state titles.

Alexander and his wife, the former Sunni Dixon, have three children, Allie, 15; Reed, 12; and Mason, 9.
