Welcome to Commodore Spring 2010

Head Coach Bobby Johnson, his coaching staff and the Athletics Communications office invite you to "Commodore Spring 2010."

Barring inclement weather conditions, the first of 15 spring sessions is scheduled March 17, with the players on the John Rich Complex practice field at 4:30 p.m.

The spring session is expected to continue into mid-April. The featured Black & Gold Scrimmage is scheduled on Saturday, April 10, in Vanderbilt Stadium, starting at 10:30 a.m., CT.

The Black & Gold Scrimmage is the lone practice session open to the general public. All other Spring Practice sessions are open on an invitation-only basis, approved by the football office.

Interviews are available immediately after practice. Practice reports will be limited to www.vucommodes.com.

Mike Pelton Recently Added as Defensive Line Coach

Mike Pelton, a former Auburn standout and veteran defensive coach, is the Commodores' newest position coach, mentoring defensive ends.

Pelton, 38, formerly coached defensive lines at Iowa State under Gene Chizik (2007-08) and Troy (2001-06) under Larry Blakeney. At Troy, he mentored current NFL standouts Demarcus Ware and Osi Umenyiora.

Commodores Look to Rebound; Seek Return to 2008 Winning Ways

Bobby Johnson and the Vanderbilt Commodores enter Spring Practice looking to rebound from a disappointing 2-10 campaign.

Several key injuries, an under-performing offense and struggling rush defense all combined to send the Commodores to their first 10-loss season since 2003. Making the campaign worse was the fact that Vanderbilt entered 2009 off a victory in the Gaylord Hotels Music City Bowl and its first winning season in 26 years.

The 2009 campaign also followed a four-year stretch when Johnson's Commodores registered 21 overall victories and 10 wins in Southeastern Conference. It marks the most wins by Vanderbilt in a four-year span since 1972-75.

This spring, 13 starters and nearly 50 letter winners are back from the 2009 edition. They will be missing 26 letter winners, including 11 starters from a year ago.

On offense, the 'Dores return a 9-game starter at quarterback junior Larry Smith, the SEC's Freshman of the Year in versatile tailback/returner Warren Norman and second leading rusher Zac Stacy. The team's top three receivers from 2009 – John Cole, Brandon Barden and Udom Umoh – also are back.

Junior linebacker Chris Marve, one of the SEC's leading tacklers for the last two seasons, and two standouts in the secondary, junior safety Sean Richardson and junior cornerback Casey Hayward, top the defensive returnees. Other defenders back with starting experience are tackles Adam Smotherman and T.J. Greenstone, ends Tim Fugger and Theron Kadri, linebacker John Stokes, and nickel back Eddie Foster.

All-SEC Freshman placekicker Ryan Fowler also returns.

Offensive Staff: Rearranging Coaching Responsibilities

Jimmy Kiser, an eight-year veteran of the Vanderbilt staff best known for guiding quarterback Jay Cutler to SEC Offensive Player of the Year honors in 2005, will serve as offensive coordinator in 2009.

Kiser's elevation to the coordinator was one of several offensive staff changes made by Head Coach Bobby Johnson following the team's 2-10 campaign. The Commodores moved to a no-huddle offense before the season, but averaged just 16.3 points, the fewest of any Johnson teams at Vanderbilt.

Changing responsibilities will affect four staffers:

- Kiser moves to offensive coordinator after serving as passing game co-coordinator. He will continue to mentor Commodore quarterbacks;

- Ted Cain moves from offensive coordinator to tight ends coach. He will add duties as special teams coordinator;

- Receivers coach Charlie Fisher will become the sole passing game coordinator;

- Running backs coach Des Kitchings will add running game coordinator duties.

The reassignments will not affect Robbie Caldwell, the team's Assistant Head Coach/offensive line coach.

Kiser has served previously as an offensive coordinator at North Carolina State (1997-99) and Memphis (2001). He moves into the new post after taking over responsibility for calling Vanderbilt offensive plays in 2008.

Dynamic Running Back Duo Returns

The most production freshman running back duo in team history returns this spring with Warren Norman and Zac Stacy in uniform.

Norman and Stacy burst on the scene early in 2009 after being inserted into the lineup when '08 starting tailback Jared Hawkins was sidelined with a lingering foot injury. Norman ended up winning SEC Freshman of the Year honors for his rushing and returning exploits. He also overshadowed Stacy, who was the team's second leading rusher.

Norman and Stacy rank No. 2 and No. 7 all-time among Commodore freshman with 783 and 478 yards, respectively.

Practice to Feature Key Quarterback Competition

Observers are sure to keep a close eye on the quarterback position where incumbent starter Larry Smith competes with a trio of candidates, including one that transferred in January from a California junior college.

Smith started nine games last year, but missed the last three contests with a hamstring pull. He is expected to compete with senior Jared Funk, former prep All-American Charlie Goro and Jordan Rodgers, the younger brother of Green Bay Packer QB Aaron Rodgers who transferred from Butte (Calif.) Junior College.

Johnson Tied for Fourth in Wins by Vanderbilt Coach

Bobby Johnson is just 10 wins shy of becoming Vanderbilt's second winningest coach. Johnson, the 2008 co-Southeastern Conference Coach of the Year, is tied for fourth on the all-time wins list with Ray Morrison. Both have 29 victories with the program.

Johnson is the fifth Vanderbilt coach to earn SEC Coach of the Year honors. Others were George MacIntyre (1982), Art Guepe (1955), Red Sanders (1941) and Morrison (1937).

Ten Bowl Teams on 2010 Schedule

Ten of Vanderbilt's 12 opponents in 2010 made postseason appearances in 2009.

Upcoming opponents that played in '09 bowls are Northwestern (Outback), LSU (Capital One), Ole Miss (Cotton), Connecticut (PapaJohns.com), Georgia (Independence), South Carolina (PapaJohns.com), Arkansas (AutoZone Liberty), Florida (Sugar), Kentucky (Gaylord Hotels Music City) and Tennessee (Chick-fil-A).

Marve, Norman are Vanderbilt's Returning All-SEC Performers

Junior linebacker Chris Marve and sophomore all-purpose back Warren Norman are the Commodores' only returning All-Southeastern Conference performers.

Marve was named second-team All-SEC linebacker by the head coaches. A product of White Station H.S., in Memphis, Marve topped the Commodores and ranked second in the SEC with 121 total tackles.

The coaches also named Norman as their second-team return specialist. The product of Chamblee H.S., near Atlanta went on to earn unanimous SEC freshman recognition and sweep various Freshman All-America honors.

Logo to Serve as Recruiting Coordinator

Defensive line coach Rick Logo has assumed recruiting coordinator duties for the Commodores. He replaces Warren Belin, who left the Vanderbilt staff recently to accept a post at Georgia.

Logo, entering his fifth year at Vanderbilt, is a former assistant head coach at Western Carolina and defensive coordinator at both Troy and Chattanooga.

Five Commodores Limited in Spring Drills

At least five Commodores, including two that opened the 2009 season as offensive starters, will be limited in contact drills this spring as they continue to recover old injuries.

The two offensive starters still rehabilitating injuries are James Williams, a redshirt junior right tackle, and redshirt junior tight end Austin Monahan. Williams suffered a lower leg fracture early in the 2009 season against LSU. Monahan is recovering from a late-season knee surgery.

Others to miss much or all contact drills this spring are:

- Tristan Strong (knee). Strong, a redshirt sophomore linebacker and a candidate to compete for vacant starting role, suffered a season-ending injury at Army.
- Wesley Tate (foot). A talented redshirt freshman tailback, Tate sustained a foot fracture in offseason workouts.
- Marc Panu (chest muscle). A walk-on linebacker prospect, Panu suffered a pectoral muscle pull in February.

Vanderbilt medical staffers expect all five Commodores to be healthy when the team reports for summer camp in early August.

Norman, Fowler, Seymour Enter Spring Practice Off SEC All-Freshman Campaign

Running back/return specialist Warren Norman, placekicker Ryan Fowler and offensive lineman Ryan Seymour enter Spring Practice off Freshman All-SEC campaigns.

The trio earned on the SEC coaches' All-Freshman team, with Norman also claiming Freshman of the Year honors.

Norman amassed 1,941 all-purpose yards, breaking a SEC freshman record set by legendary Georgia running back Herschel Walker, and became just the second player in league history to return three kickoffs for touchdowns. Norman also topped the SEC with an average of 161.8 all-purpose yards.

Spring Intent: Commodores Look to Improve in Several Key Areas

• OFFENSIVE POSSESSION The no-huddle offense hoped to take advantage of controlling defensive personnel to produce more first downs, more yardage and points. The opposite occurred: the Commodore offense ranked 12th in the SEC in first downs (16.2 pg) and time of possession (26:11), leaving the defense on the field more than any other SEC unit.

• RED-ZONE EFFICIENCY One year after ranking among SEC leaders in red zone offense and defense efficiency, the Commodores were near the bottom of both stat categories in 2009. The 'Dores scored on 75% of its red-zone possessions, and allowed points on 91% of opponent possessions.

• RUSH DEFENSE Forced to absorb more plays than any other SEC defense, the Commodore rushing defense suffered, allowing 197.9 yards per game by opponents.

• LIMITING PENALTIES Typically, the Commodores under Johnson have paced the SEC in fewest infractions and penalty yards. In 2009, Vanderbilt ranked 7th in the SEC in both penalty categories.

• THIRD-DOWN EFFICIENCY Drives are created – and ended – by third-down effectiveness. After performing above average on third downs in 2008, the 2009 Commodores ranked 10th and 11th in the SEC in third-down efficiency and opponent's third-down efficiency.

Marve, Smotherman Have Most Career Starts

Two defensive standouts, linebacker Chris Marve and tackle Adam Smotherman, have the most consecutive career starts on the current roster.

Marve has started all 25 games he has played as a Commodore. Smotherman has started in his last 23 appearances.

The only other Commodore with more than 13 career starts is tight Brandon Barden (18).

Only Three 'Dores Started 12 Games in 2009

Due largely to a rash of injuries, only three position players started all 12 games for the Commodores in 2009 (Chris Marve, Adam Smotherman and CB Casey Hayward).

Two Commodores with 11 starts last year – WR John Cole and safety Sean Richardson – endured hand surgeries during the season.

Fowler was a unanimous selection as the coaches' freshman placekicker. Fowler finished the year as one of the SEC's hottest kickers, converting his last eight tries and 11 of his last 12. He also made his last four field goals beyond 40 yards, including a career-long effort of 47 yards against Kentucky. He matched a 25-year-old team record with 16 field goals in a single season.

Seymour was effective as a late-season replacement for starting left tackle Thomas Welch. Seymour saw extended action in the Commodores' final five games. His first career start came opposite Florida All-SEC DE Jermaine Cunningham.

ALL-STAR CANDIDATES

WARREN NORMAN (RB/RS) 5-10, 192, So., Stone Mtn., Ga.

Norman put together one of the finest seasons ever by a Commodore offensive player as a true freshman, earning SEC Freshman of the Year honors as a dynamic tailback and return specialist. Norman broke the SEC freshman and Vanderbilt records with 1,941 all-purpose yards and three kickoff returns for touchdown. He also just missed the Vanderbilt freshman rushing records with 783 yards.

Warren Norman

Chris Marve

CHRIS MARVE (LB) 6-0, 230, R-Jr., Memphis, Tenn.

Few defensive players in the SEC have experienced more success in their first two years than Marve. The junior from Memphis ranked No. 2 in the league with 121 total tackles, and became the first SEC player in a decade to post 100+ tackles in his first two years. A physical player, Marve also ranked among SEC leaders for the second straight year with three forced fumbles.

BRANDON BARDEN (TE) 6-5, 250, R-Jr., Lincolnton, Ga.

Barden was one of the Commodores' top receiving threats for the second straight year in 2009. Forced into full-time duty because of injuries at tight end, Barden finished with 29 receptions, good for 357 yards and a touchdown. The former prep quarterback ranks as Vanderbilt's active career leader with 57 receptions and 565 receiving yards.

Brandon Barden

Sean Richardson

SEAN RICHARDSON (Safety) 6-2, 210, Jr., Linden, Ala.

In 2009, Richardson quickly earned a reputation as one of the Southeastern Conference's most punishing tacklers. A junior from Alabama, Richardson blossomed as a starter at strong safety, earning 84 total tackles and 4.5 tackles for loss in 2008. Despite his youth, Richardson also stepped up in a leadership role when three-year starting safety Ryan Hamilton suffered a season-ending injury at LSU.

RYAN FOWLER (PK) 5-10, 170, R-So., Taylors, S.C.

Untested under fire entering the season, Fowler became one of the Commodores' most consistent performers in his placekicking role. After missing four of his first nine FGs, Fowler connected on 11 of his last 12 attempts, including the final eight of the year. Fowler's total of 16 FGs tied a school record and earned him both Freshman All-America and Freshman SEC honors.

Ryan Fowler

Casey Hayward

CASEY HAYWARD (DB) 6-0, 185, Jr., Perry, Ga.

Hayward was stellar as a first-year starter at defensive back opposite All-SEC selection Myron Lewis. Replacing '08 All-America D.J. Moore, the Georgia native displayed excellent cover corner skills, picking off two passes and defended seven passes. Hayward also showed excellent closing speed, contributing 58 total tackles, including a team-high 8.5 tackles for loss.

Four Others to Watch

JOHN COLE (WR) 5-10, 180, R-So., Somerset, Ky.

As a first-year starter in '09, Cole provided most of the Commodore highlights at wide receiver, hauling in a team-high 36 passes for 382 yards and a touchdown.

JAMIE GRAHAM (DB) 6-0, 195, R-Jr., Nashville, Tenn.

Graham is among the team's top athletes and most versatile players, seeing action in all three phases. He ended '09 with a stellar performance playing defensive back at Tennessee.

T.J. GREENSTONE (DT) 6-3, 285, R-Jr., Lawrenceville, Ga.

The active Greenstone didn't start as a sophomore, but was extremely productive when he played, posting 38 total tackles, two QB sacks and 3.5 tackles for loss.

ZAC STACY (RB) 5-10, 205, So., Centreville, Ala.

A determined runner and powerful between the tackles, Stacy rushed for 478 yards as a freshman despite playing most of the season with a sore leg.

2010 SPRING OUTLOOK

*Larry Smith, quarterback
Junior earned nine starts as signal caller*

*Warren Norman, running back/returner
Enjoyed record-setting freshman campaign*

*Zac Stacy, running back
Finished 2009 with nearly 500 rushing yards*

This Vanderbilt Spring Practice hardly resembles the one that greeted Head Coach Bobby Johnson one year ago when the Commodores were just months clear of a 7-6 campaign capped by a victory in the Music City Bowl.

For Johnson's Commodores, it's back to proper fundamentals, discipline and full effort aimed at one goal – daily improvement.

Johnson is expected to greet more than 13 returning starters and more than 40 letterwinners from a 2009 Commodore squad that ended a disappointing 2-10 season with eight straight losses.

"This is an important spring practice for our squad, as important as any we have experienced in nearly a decade on campus," Johnson said. "Everyone associated with this team knows how disappointing last year was, and nobody wants to repeat it.

"This team has to focus its energy and rededicate ourselves to getting the most out of every practice opportunity available to us. Each day, we need to be a little bit better when we leave the football field," the head coach added.

The Commodores must improve in all three phases of the game during the course of 15 spring drills that lead to the Black & Gold Scrimmage on April 10. Seven starters return to an offense in search of consistent play in the interior front, more playmakers at skill positions, and better decision making and execution from the quarterback position. Across the line of scrimmage, more physicality against the rushing attack and more success in key third-down and red-zone situations will be emphasized. And the Commodores will look for further improvement in special teams while identifying the team's next punter.

COMMODORE OFFENSE

QUARTERBACKS No position will get closer scrutiny during the Commodore Spring Practice than the quarterback role.

In 2009, the Commodores struggled after introducing a no-huddle offense last spring, failing to keep pace with SEC teams in several key categories, including scoring offense, total offense and time of possession. The lack of progress forced Johnson to overhaul offensive coaching responsibilities.

Quarterback play mirrored the lack of offensive production. Incumbent starter Larry Smith (6-2, 220, R-Jr.) and 2009 graduate Mackenzi Adams combined to complete just 48.3 percent of their passes. The Commodores also threw for more interceptions than touchdowns, and averaged just 146.3 passing yards a game.

To cap a frustrating year, Smith suffered a season-ending torn hamstring in what appeared to be his best outing of the campaign. Unfortunately, the strong-armed Smith enters spring drills knowing he must improve accuracy and show better touch on short throws.

Smith's competition for the 2010 starting assignment likely will come from Jordan Rodgers (6-1, 210, Jr.), a junior college transfer from California with talent and tremendous bloodlines for the position.

Jared Funk (6-2, 205, R-Sr.) needs a strong spring showing to state his case for the starting job. Another wildcard in the quarterback competition is Charlie Goro (6-2, 200, R-Fr.), who came to Vanderbilt after a Parade All-American prep career near Chicago.

RUNNING BACKS With the return of its top running backs from a year ago, Warren Norman (5-10, 192, So.) and Zac Stacy (5-10, 205, So.), the Commodores will look to develop more depth this spring with Kennard Reeves (6-0, 205, R-Sr.), and Ryan van Rensburg (6-1, 235, R-Jr.).

In 2009, Norman and Stacy rushed for 783 and 478 yards, respectively. Norman's total ranks No. 2 all-time among Commodore freshmen. Close observers believe Norman and Stacy rank among the best freshman duos in Commodore history.

Reeves enters his final spring as a valued running back, averaging 5.5 yards per carry. He will get plenty of looks this spring with an abbreviated roster of prospects. Van Rensburg provides a punishing fullback style and short-yardage expertise for the offense.

Wesley Tate (6-1, 220, R-Fr.), another talented redshirt freshman, will miss spring drills with a lower foot injury but is expected to be healthy this summer. Reece Lovell (6-0, 220, R-So.) could see plenty of spring snaps.

RECEIVERS Inexperienced and undersized a year ago, the Commodore receiving corps looks to show improvement this spring.

Three starters from the 2009 squad – tight end Brandon Barden (6-5, 250, R-Jr.), wideout John Cole (5-11, 180, R-So.) and wide receiver Udom Umoh (6-0, 175, R-Jr.) – highlight the returnees this spring. Cole topped the team with 36 receptions and 382 receiving yards last year, while Barden is the squad's active career leader with 57 career catches. Umoh caught 20 passes as a sophomore and was one of the corps' top blockers.

Barden, Cole and Umoh must continue their development if the offense reaches its goal of increased aerial production. Each had success adding strength in the offseason conditioning effort.

Receivers coach Charlie Fisher also will look to others to compete at wide receiver, including Turner Wimberly (6-1, 200, R-Sr.), Akeem Dunham (6-3, 210, R-So.), Brady Brown (6-5, 205, R-Fr.) Tray Herndon (5-10, 180, R-Sr.) and Jameson Sackey (6-2, 205, R-So.). Any of the five could be in line for significant time next season with a breakthrough this spring.

Ted Cain needs to identify more depth behind Barden at tight end this spring. With Austin Monahan (6-6, 255, R-Jr.) expected to miss the spring,

Leads active 'Dores with 57 career catches

John Cole, receiver

Adam Smotherman, def. tackle

the task will not be easy.

Mason Johnston (6-4, 240, R-Fr.) will get a chance to audition for the depth chart by likely receiving plenty of snaps this spring. Ryan van Rensburg (6-1, 235, R-Jr.) also is an option at either tight end or H-back.

OFFENSIVE LINE The last time Vanderbilt replaced as many offensive line starters as it will this spring, the Commodores promptly made their first postseason appearance in a quarter century at the 2008 Music City Bowl. Perhaps history will repeat itself.

After the departures of center Bradley Vierling, guards Eric Hensley and Ryan Custer, and tackles Thomas and Reilly Lauer, Commodore line mentor Robbie Caldwell will look to lock in on a new prospective starting five during the course of spring drills.

Caldwell's returnees include five candidates with previous collegiate starts: Kyle Fischer (6-6, 310, R-Jr.), Joey Bailey (6-3, 295, R-Sr.), James Williams (6-6, 310, R-Jr.), Caleb Welchans (6-5, 300, R-So.) and Ryan Seymour (6-4, 295, R-So). Continued development by these five will alleviate many doubts with the '10 offensive front.

With Caldwell's aim at versatility within the corps, Bailey, Chris Aaron (6-3, 295, R-Sr.) and Rob Ashabrunner (6-2, 280, R-Jr.) could earn spring snaps at center and guard.

Though the Commodores have three experienced tackles, only two (Seymour and Welchans) will be at full strength this spring. Williams, an opening-game starter last year, is still recuperating from a serious lower leg injury and will miss contact drills until preseason workouts.

Any of four relative newcomers – Jabo Burrow (6-4, 275, R-So.), Mylon Brown (6-6, 315, R-Fr.), Justin Cabbagestalk (6-3, 295, R-Fr.) and Wesley Johnson (6-5, 265, R-Fr.) – could quickly get in the mix for playing time at guard with a strong spring effort. Brown, Cabbagestalk and Johnson spent their first year on campus adding bulk and strength. Burrow showed promise late last year after switching from defensive tackle. Richard Cagle (6-4, 275, R-So.) is another candidate at tackle.

COMMODORE DEFENSE

DEFENSIVE TACKLES The tackle position appears to be an area of defensive strength as the Commodores enter spring practice.

Even without the services of two-year starter Greg Billinger, the Commodores return a solid 1-2 tandem of Adam Smotherman (6-4, 295, R-Sr.) and T.J. Greenstone (6-3, 285, R-Jr.) and a trio of largely untested, but promising young prospects at tackle.

Smotherman and Greenstone offer playmaking ability and veteran leadership at the tackle position. Smotherman enters spring drills off his best season as a Commodore: 31 tackles and three tackles for loss. Despite sharing snaps with Smotherman and Billinger, Greenstone was highly productive on the field with 38 total tackles and two sacks.

Three redshirt sophomores – Rob Lohr (6-4, 288), Colt Nichter (6-1, 285) and Taylor Loftley (6-2, 285) – are expected to contend for playing time.

DEFENSIVE ENDS The Commodores' newest coach, Mike Pelton, enters his first Vanderbilt Spring Practice with several prospects available to replace departed multi-year starters Steve Stone and Broderick Stewart.

Three Commodores return with starting experience: Theron Kadri (6-4, 255, Sr.), Terrell Brannon (6-3, 245, R-Sr.) and Tim Fugger (6-4, 255, R-Jr.). Fugger earned eight starts in 2009, collecting 21 total tackles and a pair of sacks. Kadri produced higher stat totals – 24 tackles and three QB sacks – sharing snaps with Fugger. Brannon also showed effectiveness, contributing 12 tackles.

Either of four young prospects at end – Johnell Thomas (6-0, 240, R-So.), Josh Jelesky (6-5, 248, R-So.), Walker May (6-5, 230, R-Fr.) and Thad McHaney (6-5, 245, R-Fr.) – could claim a key role next year with a strong spring effort. Thomas was the team's fifth end last year, contributing six tackles and plenty of hustle to the unit.

LINEBACKERS Facing a void in leadership and production with the graduations of two-year starting 'backer Patrick Benoist and versatile Brent Trice, the Commodores are likely to restructure this corps around the talents of Chris Marve (6-0, 230, R-Jr.).

Marve, the first SEC linebacker in a decade to surpass the 100-tackle plateau as a freshman and sophomore, earned All-SEC status in 2009 as the league's second leading tackler. Marve has the versatility to play either the middle or weakside linebacking positions.

Coming off a career-high 44 tackles in 2009, John Stokes (6-5, 230, Sr.) returns at strongside linebacker, and is fully healthy for spring practice for the first time in two years.

Four promising sophomores are expected to contend for significant minutes next year: Tristan Strong (6-1, 230), Archibald Barnes (6-4, 228) Dexter Daniels (6-1, 230) and DeAndre Jones (6-1, 235). Strong and Barnes were the most active in 2009, though Strong is expected to miss spring contact recuperating an injured knee.

Blake Southerland (6-2, 235, R-Fr.) will attempt to position himself on the two-deep at inside linebacker this spring. Former safety Micah Powell (6-0, 215) also is expected to receive repetitions at linebacker. Michael Garcia (6-1, 228, R-Sr.) also returns after missing 2009 due to injury.

CORNERBACKS Despite the graduation of likely NFL draftee Myron Lewis, the Commodores possess both experienced playmakers and quality depth in their corps of defensive backs.

The unit is topped by Casey Hayward (6-0, 185, Jr.), Jamie Graham (6-0, 195, R-Jr.) and Eddie Foster (5-10, 170, So.). Hayward, a 12-game starter in 2009, has lock-down cover skills and All-SEC prospects. He ranked fifth on the team in total tackles (58) while posting 8.5 tackles for loss, two interceptions and seven defended passes. Graham is one of the team's most versatile players, seeing action on offense, defense and special teams. As a cornerback getting limited minutes, Graham contributed 27 tackles and two interceptions last year. Foster was impressive at nickel back as a true freshman, posting a pair of picks and 17 tackles.

Adding depth at cornerback are promising young Commodores Trey Wilson (5-11, 185, So.), Eric Samuels (6-0, 192, So.) and Javon Marshall

(5-10, 182, Fr.). Wilson and Samuels flashed talent in limited duty as true freshmen, while Marshall looks to compete with Foster as a nickel back in passing situations.

SAFETIES The Commodores return a top performer at safety in junior Sean Richardson (6-2, 210). One of the SEC's leading defensive backs, Richardson accumulated 84 tackles in 10 starts last year, demonstrating punishing force at the point of tackle and excellent understanding of the Commodore scheme.

Vanderbilt is inexperienced across from Richardson at the free safety position, with Al Owens (6-2, 218) the only returnee with game experience. Jay Fullam (6-1, 200, R-Fr.) and Kenny Ladler (6-1, 195, Fr.) should compete for playing time with Owens. Fullam was likely to play in 2009, but suffered a serious hand injury that curtailed his performance. Ladler arrived on campus in January, and has shown athleticism in offseason workouts, but has no experience with the Commodore scheme. Walk-ons Elvio Tropeano (5-10, 205, R-Jr.) and Duane Vaughn (6-1, 210, R-Jr.) also are available.

COMMODORE SPECIALISTS

PLACEKICKER As a first-year starter in 2009, Ryan Fowler (5-10, 172, R-So.) gave the Commodores accuracy and consistency in their kicking game, finishing the campaign as a Freshman All-America and Freshman All-SEC selection.

If Fowler continues to progress, he has a chance to continue the role for years to come.

PUNTER For the first time in four years, the Commodores will be without the services of Brett Upson, who earned second team All-SEC honors as a senior in 2009.

Richard Kent (6-2, 195, R-So.) will get every opportunity to earn the starting job during spring drills. A backup to Upson for two years, Kent has shown tremendous leg strength on the practice field.

RETURN SPECIALISTS The Commodores return an All-America candidate at returning kicks in sophomore Warren Norman. Trey Wilson and Jamie Graham also have experience.

Zac Stacy will get a close look as the primary punt returner, though Graham and John Cole are also prospects for the role.

★ BOBBY JOHNSON

When Bobby Johnson accepted the Vanderbilt head coaching position nearly a decade ago, he mentioned no task would be more difficult than to make the Commodores a perennial winner in the nation's toughest conference.

One year after the thrill of watching the Commodores capture the hometown Music City Bowl, Vanderbilt fans witnessed Johnson's prophetic words come true in 2009 when the squad struggled to a 2-10 campaign despite high preseason expectations.

In 2010, Johnson believes the Commodores must return their focus to fundamentals, efficiency and effort, aimed at daily improvement.

"It's never going to be easy here, but that doesn't mean that we can't accomplish our team goals," Johnson said. "We expect to win, but for that to happen, we have to perform at a high level in every area of the game. That starts with the first practice this spring."

Johnson will look to mold this young Commodore squad into a unit that contends every Saturday next fall. He will look for more punch and consistency from the Commodore offense, development of more playmakers on defense, and added strength in all phases of special teams.

Quite simply, Johnson wants to keep respect at the forefront of every conversation about his Commodores.

"For nearly a decade, we've worked hard and with diligence to make sure we changed the perception of Vanderbilt football, both among those inside and outside the program. All of us must recommit to doing all we can to make sure 2010 is the year all Vanderbilt fans want it to be," Johnson said.

Entering his ninth year, Johnson has restored respect to the Vanderbilt program. He wants to see the Commodores as they appeared at the midseason point in 2008: the talk of college football fans with a 5-0 undefeated record, consecutive weeks in the polls, national television spotlight games, ESPN's College Football GameDay on campus, and backed by an excited and engaged fan base.

"We can get the Vanderbilt program back to the way that felt and experience even greater success," Johnson said. "It will not be an easy task and it shouldn't be easy, but we should strive for such success. Fans of Vanderbilt deserve a football team and coaching staff that demands no less."

Johnson came to Nashville fully expecting to turn the Commodores into a perennial winner that competes for titles – and he hasn't wavered at all from that intent. He believes this Commodore squad is positioned to compete effectively and consistently in America's premier football conference. From his first season, Johnson has stressed that a successful Vanderbilt program would be built upon the same principles he had followed in his career at Furman University and his alma mater Clemson University – that players excel not only at the fundamentals of the game but in the character, integrity, effort and passion they exhibited both on and off the field.

Johnson's plan for ultimate success placed as much emphasis on coaches and efforts in recruiting as it did players and conditioning — everyone had to get better.

The Commodore coaching staff, from its coordinators to the strength assistants, almost mirrors the group Johnson selected in his first months on campus. When the rare coaching vacancies during Johnson's tenure became available, he acted quickly to attract three highly qualified replacements. After the disappointment campaign last year, Johnson changed responsibilities for six members of the staff.

College football observers and pro scouts have taken notice of Johnson's efforts to upgrade talent on the Commodore roster.

In 2009, tailback Warren Norman became the second Commodore coached by Johnson to earn SEC Freshman of the Year honors. On the pro level, 10 former players are on active NFL rosters, including former first-round draft picks Jay Cutler and Chris Williams. This April, analysts suggest up to four Commodores, including cornerback Myron Lewis and tackle Thomas Welch, could be taken in the NFL Draft.

Many Commodores have thrived under Johnson's tutelage, including Cutler, Williams, Norman, receiver Earl Bennett, defensive back D.J. Moore and linebacker Jonathan Goff. Last year, Norman tied an SEC record with three kickoff returns and established a new standard for all-purpose yardage. Two years ago, Bennett left as the SEC's all-time leading receiver, finishing his career with 238 receptions. Goff was a two-time All-SEC performer and Moore became the first Commodore All-America in a decade.

Off the field, the program continues to develop. A major renovation of McGugin Athletic Center is underway that will greatly enhance the football offices and staff meeting rooms. It marks the latest in a string of improvements to the program, including renovations to Vanderbilt Stadium, weight room equipment upgrades, new synthetic surfaces on practice fields, and installation of state-of-the-art video and computer technologies.

In the classroom, Johnson's Commodores continue to perform like national champs: in January 2009, he accepted the AFCA's Academic Achievement Awards saluting Vanderbilt as the nation's best in regard to graduating its football athletes. Under Johnson, 29 Commodores have earned All-SEC recognition. Johnson also has mentored 20 SEC All-Freshmen selections, including Norman and 2002 SEC Freshman of the Year Kwane Doster.

Away from the football field, the engaging South Carolina native is as comfortable talking to young Commodore followers at Dore Jam fan activities as he is encouraging radio callers to open their wallets in support of the Charles Davis Foundation and seek support of Middle Tennessee-based Jason Foundation.

A native of Columbia, Johnson was a three-sport standout at Eau Claire High School. He continued playing at Clemson, where he lettered three years as a receiver and cornerback, and graduated in 1973 with a bachelor's degree in management. In 1979, he was awarded a master's degree in education from Furman.

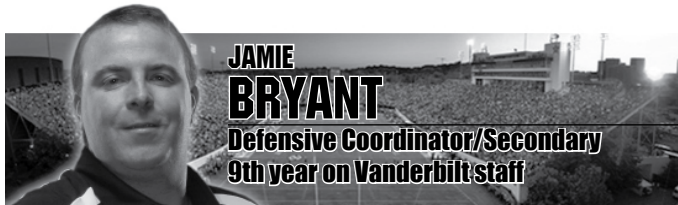

He is married to the former Catherine Bonner of Charleston, S.C.

JAMIE BRYANT
Defensive Coordinator/Secondary
9th year on Vanderbilt staff

Jamie Bryant enters his second year as defensive coordinator and also mentors the Commodore secondary.

The Commodores continued their solid play in Bryant's first year in the coordinator's slot. The unit ranked ninth nationally in pass defense and 46th in the NCAA in scoring defense.

Bryant also mentored cornerback Myron Lewis, who became the third Commodore DB to earn All-SEC honors in the last three years. He also mentored two young standouts, safety Sean Richardson and cornerback Casey Hayward. In 2008, one of Bryant's pupils, D.J. Moore, was an All-America recipient.

Prior to joining Vanderbilt, Bryant served one year as a defensive graduate assistant for North Carolina. The 2001 Tar Heels used an aggressive defense to win seven of their final nine games and advance to the Peach Bowl.

Prior to joining UNC, Bryant's efforts as defensive coordinator and secondary coach improved a struggling defense at I-AA St. Francis. He started in the college coaching ranks in 1997 as linebackers coach at Clarion.

ROBBIE CALDWELL
Assistant Head Coach/Offensive Line
9th year on Vanderbilt staff

Robbie Caldwell is in his ninth year as assistant head coach and offensive line coach with the Commodores.

Caldwell is another veteran of the coaching ranks, having served more than three decades in collegiate coaching.

In 2009, Caldwell mentored co-captain Bradley Vierling at center and tackle Thomas Welch, who seems destined to become the second Commodore tackle in three years to get selected in the NFL Draft. Production by the '09 unit struggled due to inexperience and key injuries to Welch and fellow tackle James Williams.

Caldwell has coached some of the top linemen in Vanderbilt history, including 2008 graduate Chris Williams, who eventually became the highest offensive lineman ever taken from Vanderbilt in the NFL Draft when Chicago selected him in the first round as the No. 14 overall pick.

Another 2007 graduate, Brian Stamper, signed a free agent deal with the New Orleans Saints. One other Vanderbilt pupil, 2004 graduate Justin Geisinger, played for the Washington Redskins and Buffalo Bills.

Caldwell joined Johnson's Vanderbilt staff after enjoying a superb tenure in the Atlantic Coast Conference, including 14 years at North Carolina State and two years at North Carolina.

He coached 14 All-ACC selections and numerous NFL draftees and free agent signees at North Carolina State and UNC.

As an assistant at Furman, Caldwell assisted with six conference champions, and mentored four winners of the league's top award for linemen.

BRUCE FOWLER
Assistant Head Coach/Defense
9th year on Vanderbilt staff

Bruce Fowler, a long-time assistant under Bobby Johnson, starts his second year as Assistant Head Coach in charge of defense. Prior to the promotion, Fowler served seven years as defensive coordinator.

Fowler's defensive staff has developed a unit that has ranked among the nation's elite in recent years. The 2008 defense was one of the best in recent team history, and a key factor behind Vanderbilt's 7-6 season and Gaylord Hotels Music City Bowl win, ranking high in scoring defense, total defense and pass defense.

Last year, the unit also ranked among the NCAA Top 50 in scoring defense and ninth in the nation in pass defense.

The unit also has earned a reputation for being opportunistic, helping Vanderbilt produce a positive turnover margin in 2008-09.

Three former defenders under Fowler – Jonathan Goff, Jovan Haye and Hunter Hillenmeyer – have been selected in the NFL Draft. Haye and Hillenmeyer start with Tampa Bay and Chicago, respectively. Goff was drafted by the New York Giants. Three others – linebacker Marcus Buggs, safety Reshard Langford and end/linebacker Curtis Gatewood – have enjoyed NFL success in the last two seasons.

Fowler served as Johnson's defensive coordinator and linebackers coach at Furman prior to taking the Vanderbilt post. Fowler witnessed his coaching responsibilities at Furman progress continuously during a 16-year tenure.
