SEC FOOTBALL VIDEO REPLAY

THE OBJECTIVE

To allow for specific types of officiating calls to be immediately reviewed during all games hosted by SEC teams.

THE COACHES' CHALLENGE

A new rule expands the ability of a head coach to challenge a reviewable play on the field. The head coach now retains a challenge if his initial challenge is successful and thus results in a reversal by the replay official. The coach will then have a single challenge that he may use anytime during the game if his team has not used all its timeouts. Thus a team may have a total of two challenges in the game, but only if the first results in a reversal of the on-field ruling.

THE SOURCE

All reviewable video comes direct from either the television network broadcasting the game (CBS Sports, ESPN, ESPN2, Raycom Sports) or other TV production facilities that meet established conference standards. The Southeastern Conference has used instant replay since 2005.

THE PLAYS

Reviewable

 - f. Illegal forward pass or illegal handing off after change of possession
 - g. Forward or backward pass thrown from behind the line of scrimmage
3. Other Detectable Infractions:
 - a. Runner ruled not down.
 - b. Runner ruled down (new in 2008 / when ball carrier is judged down by rule and the ball is fumbled, play may be reviewed if recovery of ball occurs in the immediate action following fumble and is prior to any official signaling ball is dead. Also reviewable when runner is ruled out of bounds near goal line.)

THE PROCESS

Each SEC football stadium has a secured replay booth equipped with a DVSPORT Digital Replay System. Three individuals work in the booth for the duration of the game: 1. Replay Official, 2. Communicator, 3. Technician. The Replay Official is selected and assigned by the Conference Office.

A live video feed is sent directly to the replay booth. The Technician watches the feed on an input monitor while capturing/digitizing it into the DVSPORT Digital Replay System. The Technician also marks the beginning of each play as well as any replays as they occur in real time.

Each play and subsequent replay then appears on a touch screen in front of the Communicator. As the Technician marks the incoming video, each view (by mark) will appear as a small picture on the computer touch screen. At any time, the Communicator can touch/click on a thumbnail and immediately send that play/replay to the Replay Official.

With the Communicator's assistance, the Replay Official can quickly jump between replays while playing back the video. All replay video navigation is done via a remote device controlled by the Replay Official. All replays/video are viewed on an output monitor. The touch screen is only used to select the replays.

While most plays are reviewed between the whistle and the beginning of the next play, the Replay Official can stop play on the field by using a pager system. Five onfield officials wear pagers. If play is stopped the Referee announces on the stadium PA microphone that play has been stopped so the previous play can be reviewed. The Referee then proceeds to the sideline headset, which provides direct communication to the Replay Official in the booth. Once the play has been reviewed, the Replay Official notifies the Referee, who then announces the decision on the stadium PA system.

THE EQUIPMENT

Each SEC member institution uses the Digital Replay System developed by DVSPORT of Pittsburgh, Pa. The replay systems are maintained by the home institution with technical support from DVSPORT.

SEC BOWL AGREEMENTS

The Southeastern Conference has agreements to send nine of its member institutions to postseason bowl games following the 2008 season. The winner of the SEC Championship Game will automatically participate in the Bowl Championship Series comprised of the Sugar, Rose, Orange and Fiesta Bowls.

The Capital One (2nd), will then make its pick following the BCS selections. The bowl must select the team with the next best overall record or a team that is within one win of the team with the next best overall record.

The Outback, Chick-fil-A and AT&T Cotton Bowls will work with the conference office to determine picks 3-5. The Cotton Bowl has the first preference of teams from the Western Division and the Outback Bowl has first preference of teams from the Eastern Division. The Cotton or Outback Bowl can select teams outside of its divisional preference, but must not select them before the opposite bowl selects from its divisional preference. The Chick-fil-A Bowl has the selection of preference following the Cotton and Outback Bowls.

In selections 6-7, the AutoZone Liberty and Gaylord Hotels Music City Bowls will make their selections, not in any specific order, but in consultation with the SEC Office. The Bowls will rank available qualified teams in order of preference. If there are no similarities in the order of selection, the bowls will be granted its selection. If the bowls rank the same teams in preference, the team involved in the process would get its preference of which bowl to participate.

The Independence Bowl will receive the eighth selection and the Papajohns.com Bowl will have the ninth pick of available SEC teams.

2008 BOWL CHAMPIONSHIP SERIES SCHEDULE

Following the 2008 college football regular season, the Bowl Championship Series will determine the National Championship. The BCS National Championship Game, which will stand alone from the four traditional BCS bowls but will be hosted by each of the bowls once during a four-year cycle.

The BCS consists of the FedEx Orange, Allstate Sugar, Rose presented by Citi, Tostitos Fiesta Bowl and the Allstate BCS National Championship Game. The conferences with automatic berths include the Atlantic Coast, Big East, Big Ten, Big 12, Pac-10 and Southeastern Conferences.

FOX Sports will televise all of the Bowl Championship Series games, with the exception of the Rose Bowl, which will be televised by ABC Sports.

The Bowl Championship Series guarantees a matchup between college football's top two teams in a true national championship game.

At the conclusion of the 2008 regular season, the FedEx BCS National Championship Game will be hosted in Miami on Jan. 8 at 8 p.m. EST. The FedEx BCS National Championship Game will have the top two teams ranked in the BCS final regular season standings.

The BCS uses regional consideration regarding team selection. Specifically, as a member of the BCS, the Rose Bowl will host the Big Ten and Pac-10 champions in those years in which either the Rose Bowl does not have the national championship game or the Big Ten and Pac-10 champion is not ranked No. 1 or No. 2. Other "regional consideration" tie-ins include the SEC champion in the Sugar Bowl, the ACC champion in the Orange Bowl and the Big 12 champion in the Fiesta Bowl.

Other BCS games following the 2008 regular season include the Rose Bowl on Jan. 1 at 4:30 p.m. EST, FedEx Orange Bowl on Jan. 1 at 8:30 p.m. EST, Allstate Sugar Bowl on Jan. 2 at 8 p.m. EST, and the Tostitos Fiesta Bowl on Jan. 5 at 8 p.m. ET.

SEC FOOTBALL ... WHAT THEY'RE SAYING

THE SPORTING NEWSRanking the Conferences – SEC #1

"For its next trick, the SEC will get a team with three losses into the BCS national title game. Laugh all you want, but the reality is this: It's the SEC's world and we're all just living in it. The conference is so talented and plays so well in big games – 7-2 in its last nine BCS games – that it gets the benefit of the doubt when it comes to BCS number-crunching. Georgia and Florida look like locks for BCS games, and Auburn and LSU have the juice to get there, too."

LINDY'S MAGAZINERanking the Conferences – SEC #1

"If LSU coach Les Miles wanted to pop off about the strength of the SEC vs. everybody else this season, he'd get no argument here. That the SEC deserves to be number one is something you know instinctively, but if you're a numbers guy, this works too: The league has won three of the past five national championships and, probably should have had a shot at another when 13-0 Auburn was shut out of the BCS title game in 2004. More? The SEC has won all four of its BCS games in the past two years by a combined score of 161-62. There will be no shift in power this season."

ATHLON MAGAZINERanking the Conferences - #1 SEC

"Anyone who followed the week-to-week results in the SEC last season knows that the conference is almost too strong for its own good. There are no easy games, particularly on the road. Losing one game in conference play is akin to going undefeated in other conferences. The SEC may have had the best two teams in the nation last season – Georgia and LSU – and the league may have four top 10 teams this season. Bobby Petrino's return to college football won't make the conference any easier."

KIRK HERBSTREIT - ESPN

"My reaction to the initial AP poll is that Mike Slive, Commissioner of the SEC, is flexing his SEC bicep this morning because ... the depth of the SEC is obviously every year we talk about it ... the SEC is the strongest conference in the country. To see the 2008 pre-season poll, as many as four teams in the Top 10, it definitely makes gets you excited about what this conference has to offer. Each division, you can make an argument it's the strongest in the country, let alone when you put them into one conference."

STEWART MANDEL - SPORTS ILLUSTRATED

"At his conference's preseason media event last month, SEC commissioner Mike Slive stood before a room full of reporters and rattled off his league's impressive list of recent accomplishments -- three BCS championships in six years, an NCAA-record seven bowl wins in 2007 and the first 1-2 finish in the polls by a single conference (No. 1 LSU, No. 2 Georgia) since 1971.

"I think it's safe to say that the debate as to which is the best football conference in the country has been put to rest," proclaimed the commissioner.

... While Slive has no shortage of ammo when it comes to declaring his conference's superiority, can the debate ever really be "put to rest?" In a sport with such annual fluctuation, it stands to reason that the balance of power among conferences must be fluid as well.

... The SEC was by far the strongest conference over the past five years, accumulating 40 of a possible 42 points. It placed a staggering 41.7 percent of its teams in the final AP polls, went 6-1 in BCS games and its 11-point CPI margin over the second-place Pac-10 (29) was the biggest discrepancy during either time period."

MIKE ARESO - CBS SPORTS VICE-PRESIDENT FOR PROGRAMMING

"The SEC is the gold standard for college athletics. It has been a great conference for 76 years and that will never change. We love the enthusiasm of the fans and the way they support the game."

USA TODAY

Story entitled, "SEC football best college has to offer" in November 21, 2007 edition)

"Top to bottom, the SEC has been that conference long term," says FOX and Big Ten Network football analyst Charles Davis, a former defensive back at Tennessee. "I think back to the late 1990s, when Florida was winning and Tennessee and Florida were already deciding the SEC East (Division) in September. Then Georgia re-emerged. Then LSU jumped in and then Auburn jumped in."

CHRIS LOW, ESPN.com

"What separates the SEC, even more so now than a decade ago, is that there are no easy outs.

The 2007 season was pure chaos. In a league that epitomizes balance, it bordered more on cannibalism a year ago.

LSU lost twice in triple overtime to Kentucky and Arkansas. The loss to the Hogs was at home and came on the final week of the regular season, but the Tigers recovered to win the SEC championship game over Tennessee and vaulted into the BCS title game after West Virginia was upset by Pittsburgh and Missouri lost in the Big 12 championship game.

Once on college football's center stage, the Tigers did what the SEC has made a habit of doing in bowl games. They torched Ohio State to win their second national title in five years."

CHRIS DUFRENSE - LOS ANGELES TIMES

"The SEC, without question, is the toughest league without a commissioner named Goodell. The SEC has won three Bowl Championship Series titles since 2003 and starts this season with four schools ranked in the top 10 of the first AP poll."

JON WILNER - SAN JOSE MERCURY NEWS

"I believe the Southeastern Conference has more good players and good teams than any league — and I'd believe that even if it hadn't won the past two BCS titles (Florida and LSU).

... Other leagues might rise up and challenge the SEC's supremacy here and there — as the Pac-10 did last season — but on the whole, the SEC is college football's kingpin because it annually has more good teams than anyone else."

MIKE BIANCHI - ORLANDO SENTINEL

"But there are so many cameras in here (SEC Football Media Days) because the nation can't get enough of imagery and pageantry of the SEC. This is the league that has the defending Heisman Trophy winner and the defending national champion. This is the league that draws the most fans and makes the most money. This is without question the No. 1 league in college football.

And there is no No. 2. If the SEC is the King of Hearts, everybody else is the 6 of Clubs."

URI BERLINER - NATIONAL PUBLIC RADIO

"College football is a game of regional rivalries, tradition and remarkable fan loyalty. All of which is evident in extreme form in the Southeastern Conference — which encompasses 12 teams, including the Florida Gators, Alabama's Crimson Tide, Ole Miss, LSU and the Georgia Bulldogs.

Any attempt to assess passion is, of course, subjective. But there's enough evidence to make a case that fans in the Southeast are the most college football-crazy people in the country. Attendance in the SEC is the highest of any conference, and has been for 26 consecutive seasons."
