If you are approached to sign or renew a gas or electricity contract for your home or small business, it's important to know who you're dealing with. Energy company salespeople must wear an ID badge and give you a business card.

REMEMBER

Four things to remember if you are approached to sign an energy contract:

- * Always make sure you get a business card and look at the salesperson's ID badge first
- * Don't share personal information (i.e. your gas or electricity bill) unless you are sure you want to sign a contract
- * Carefully read the contract, disclosure statement and price comparison provided by the salesperson
- * The Ontario Energy Board does not go door to door

The Ontario Energy Board regulates the electricity and natural gas sectors in Ontario. To help you understand your energy choices, we've created online tools and information about energy contracts and your rights and responsibilities as an energy consumer.
