Moderate track

This enjoyable walk starts at Dead Horse Gap, the highest point on the Alpine Way. The walk follows the Riverside track downstream, along the Thredbo River, through the valley and the snow gum forest to the cascades lookout. This walk follows a well defined track and, although close to the road, you can feel a million miles from anywhere. Let us begin by acknowledging the Ngarigo people, Traditional Custodians of the land on which we travel today, and pay our respects to their Elders past and present.

Getting started: From the Cascades Trail track head car park (on the Alpine Way 5.4km west of Friday Drive), this walk crosses the road and turns left following the 'Thredbo Walking Tracks' sign along the track behind the road barrier. The track leads down the wooden steps to soon cross Bogong Creek on a metal bridge. Here the walk heads up a few steps to a signposted intersection with the 'Dead Horse Gap Track'.

At the intersection of Cascade Trail & Dead Horse Gap Walking Track Start heading along Dead Horse Gap Walking Track (a vehicle track).

There is a sign (about 30 m back from the start).

After another 30 m to find the car park.

After another 65 m cross the ford.

After another 35 m cross the ford.

After another 1 m (at the intersection of Thredbo River Track & Dead Horse Gap Walking Track) continue straight, to head along Thredbo River Track (a walking track).

After another 105 m find the "Dead Horse Gap" (20 m on your left).

Dead Horse Gap is a relatively low mountain pass in the Great Dividing Range at 1582m AMSL. It was once a meeting place for Aboriginal groups in the summer, where they would perform ceremonies and trade with each other. In nature, the pass acts as a funnel for the migration of insects and birds. In the early 20th century, the pass became increasingly popular with stockmen, who brought sheep and cattle to the mountains each summer.

After another 960 m cross the bridge (about 50 m long)

After another 300 m cross the bridge (about 30 m long)

After another 470 m (from the Thredbo River Track) continue straight, to head along Thredbo River Track.

After another 25 m come to a seat., has no backrest.

About 15 m past the end is a viewpoint.

Turn around here and retrace the main route for 2.1 km to get back to the start.

About 10 m past the end is "Cascades Lookout".

This metal platform leans over the Thredbo River, lookout upstream to the flowing cascades. There is also a wooden seat provided here, making it a great rest stop, conveniently situated about half way between Dead Horse Gap and Thredbo Village, on the Thredbo River track.
