Smoothing junctions of resistance arteries and capillaries in hamster skeletal muscle. Three-dimensional reconstruction of arterial, venous, and capillary junctions in skeletal muscle of golden hamsters showed that resistance arteries (Ra) anastomose in a form of sinusoid-like pattern within the interstitial space and supply the capillary network in a network-like manner. Endothelium-dependent relaxation of hamster Ra contracted by phenylephrine was significantly inhibited by alpha-endothelin (alpha-ET)-1. Endothelium-independent relaxation was not affected by alpha-ET-1. Stimulation of vascular myo-endothelial cells (MECs) by bradykinin caused constriction of Ra, which was abolished by indomethacin. A mixture of bradykinin and bradykinin B2 receptor antagonist HOE140, which selectively blocked constriction of Ra by bradykinin, completely relaxed Ra. These data suggested that alpha-ET-1-induced inhibition of Ra contraction by relaxation of smooth muscle and release of prostaglandins may be mediated by activation of vascular myo-endothelial cells. We are delighted to announce that tomorrow, Monday 4th July, Bewdley Garden Fest will be returning for its 11th year! This year, BGF will be located in front of the EMI Building on the High Street in Bewdley and will celebrate all things gardening and botanic. This will include three gardens, themed gardens and gardens inspired by local folk, nature and literature. It will feature a number of high profile gardeners as well as a famous speaker. Here is our new logo! The new logo celebrates Bewdley's gardens, visitors, and the fantastic team behind the event. It is based on the lettering we use on our own websites and publications, and on a lot of our printed materials. It is friendly, and has a nice sense of humour. The logo was designed by local artist and graphic designer, Denise Scott. The opening of the event on 4th July is a very special occasion for us. We are delighted to be marking the culmination of our 11th year with our AGM on Thursday 7th
