18 SAVOR A MOMENT

BEST PRACTICES

A favorite worship song may end with a lingering quality of intimacy or attentiveness to God that is almost tangible. Don't be afraid to end a song and move on, but also don't be afraid to allow an extra few bars for the music to facilitate a fresh encounter with Jesus.

Savor a moment, repeating a chorus or allowing for an instrumental section – it could be what opens your congregation up to a powerful moment of engagement with the Father.
