

GLS Spain publishes its SDG Guide to promoting responsible practices

- The new Guide provides a detailed overview of the company's efforts to address challenges related to the environment, society and governance in the supply chain, by engaging people through small, everyday actions.

Madrid, February 14th, 2024 - Conscious of the impact that its business has on the environment, GLS Spain is implementing measures to mitigate its footprint. The objective in this case is to raise awareness of how by performing small, everyday actions, we can make the world we live in a better place.

The company has therefore written a Guide to illustrate its commitment to the United Nations' Sustainable Development Goals, what each Goal represents, which of them form part of its business strategy, and how each of us can play our part in achieving them.

The GLS Spain SDG Guide is a comprehensive tool designed to advise customers, business partners and employees on the adoption of sustainable practices both at work and at home. Following the United Nations 2030 Agenda, it highlights the importance of the 17 SDGs, providing detailed information on how GLS Spain is actively helping to meet them.

Highlights include specific initiatives implemented by GLS Spain to address issues such as reducing CO₂ emissions, diversity, digitalisation, or the promotion of fair and safe working conditions throughout its supply chain.

"We are delighted to present this handbook reflecting our ongoing commitment to sustainability and corporate responsibility. It is a valuable tool for anyone who wants to learn about our contribution to a more sustainable future and participate in ways that support both our environment and society", says Luis Doncel, Group Region MD Iberia & Ireland.

This publication represents a significant step forward in GLS Spain's commitment to sustainability, showcasing not only what they do, but also how each individual can help effect positive change through tangible actions.
