Ferne McCann

Hitting the town with our gorgeous cover star Ferne McCann would no doubt be an unforgettable, cocktail-fuelled affair. The queen of the night shows us how to turn heads in the looks to be seen in this party season.

Simply put, pleats are made for sashaying across a room.

Universally flattering, give a mid-length number in a molten metallic hue or deep emerald shade a spin. Slip on your killer heels and take to the dancefloor – it's all eyes on you!

A suit is a two-piece powerhouse that will see you through many fabulous festive engagements, with its mix-and-match versatility.

Super fun to wear, be sure to nip that waist in and push up the jacket sleeves. A flash of décolletage and you've nailed that elegant Parisian vibe. Smokin'!

It's all in the finishes when trying to ace the grown-up take on sparkle.

For high-octane glamour at its finest, go for delicate, gunmetal sequins worn with standout strappy shoes. Literally pull the look together with wrap-tie detailing that celebrates your shape and legs.

...and say hello to the LBSSD - that's little black sequin slip dress, which like you is fun, fabulous and shines. It's surprisingly versatile and a skirt in contrasting dazzle can be layered over it, or pop a tee underneath and wear with a casual jacket for a daytime disco look. Cheers to your new, go-to party piece!

A woman with blonde hair and red lipstick is reclining on a plush green velvet sofa. She is wearing a black, long-sleeved, sequined dress with a high slit and red strappy high-heeled sandals. The sofa is adorned with a large, shaggy yellow fur throw. The room is dimly lit with warm, ambient lighting from a lamp and string lights. In the background, there is a cowhide rug, a globe, and a vase of flowers on a side table.

Mixing textures is

Drape your bod in fluid fabrics such as silk and satin, adding velvet accessories and a pile-up of gold jewellery for extra drama, because who doesn't like causing a stylish scene?

Animal print rocks our world because no matter the setting, it's classic yet cool. Say 'yes, please' to an ensemble swathed in the pattern of the moment – snakeskin. Keep everything else paired down and swipe on a flash of lippie and you're ready to slink away from your desk and hit the bar in the blink of an eye.

TRAVEL

WINTER wonderland

If there's a sure-fire way to create lasting family memories, it's with an unforgettable holiday and what better time to incite maximum wide-eyed awe and wonder than at Christmastime? Which of these bucket list-worthy trips will you pick?

Finnish-ed to perfection

Kids been good this year? Well, they can tell Father Christmas himself with a visit to his underground, fairy-light decorated headquarters at Santa Park in Rovaniemi, Finland. The Santa's Secret Grotto Day Trip boasts a host of once-in-a-lifetime experiences that guests will treasure for years to come.

Hop on board the train for an exclusive behind-the-scenes look at what the elves get up to in the year and they also put on a fantastic show during lunch. There's an Elf School crash course to learn their lingo and become an honorary Santa's helper, too.

Mrs Claus welcomes visitors to decorate freshly-baked gingerbread with her, while there's storytime at the Ice Gallery and the chance to play in the snow, with husky sleigh rides and snowmobile driving. The main event is of course meeting Santa, who will pose up a storm for a family photo and little ones will also receive a gift from him. Best. Day. Ever!

TUI offers the Santa's Secret Grotto Day Trip in December from £2,587 based on a family of four.

Ariel treat for all

We're not sure if life can get any more spellbinding than being at Disneyland Paris during the festive season. Disneyland Park is in a league of its own when it comes to an enchanting setting that sparks pure joy in all who visit.

Mickey, Minnie, Donald and the gang work their magic through an outstanding programme of entertainment which includes the Christmas parade, where all the favourites sail by on floats decked out with sparkle, shine, baubles and more. Santa will join Disney's royalty from mid-November for a seasonal sing-along and to light up the Christmas tree with a dazzling display.

For everlasting memories, ring in 2020 at the most marvellous New Year's Eve party. There's a huge procession through the streets, a spectacular firework display at the Sleeping Beauty Castle, with the attractions staying open until past midnight. Little and big kids, you'll want to stay forever.

TUI offers three nights at Disneyland Paris - including flights and accommodation - in December from £1,995 based on a family of four.

Piste de résistance

For a budget-friendly ski trip, look no further than Arinsal in Andorra, snuggled in the breathtaking Pyrenees bordered by France and Spain. There are stunning mountains to explore, hot chocolate to indulge in and snowball fights to be had at this excellent resort.

Hitting the slopes for the first time? Arinsal is highly rated for its exceptional team of English-speaking instructors, which you don't always find in other countries. The beginner slopes are located close to the village and tree-lined runs for intermediates are just a cable car ride away, with both very accessible yet enclosed. Plus, there are free lift passes for kids up to 15 years old.

Its après ski scene is fantastic with many family-friendly bars, where table football is almost a national sport. Visit Hotel Princesca Pare's bowling alley and Likids at Caldea Spa for its exclusive kids' zone with activities, sauna lounge and beauty space where they can have a mini massage. Book today, it's a snow-brainer!

TUI offers seven nights at Arinsal, Andorra in December - including flights, transfers and accommodation - from £1,686 based on a family of four.

THE fit crowd

Exercise trends to get pumped up about in 2020 include at-home fitness systems, which enables you to access live classes on demand – fancy! Group workouts with elements of meditation will rule and yoga HIIT is set to be all the rage, mixing stretches and bursts of intensity. Whichever way you work out, sweat it out with some high-performance getup.
