

The Pattern

The pattern of a perfect life was cut so pure and fine, Exquisitely the threads of Gold were sewn by one divine, with love He cut the pattern, with love He sewed the seams, with love He patiently pursued the object of His dreams.

Then gave the finished garment unto the child of earth,
so the child could use the pattern to gain eternal birth.
Each daughter especially chosen,
Each son especially blessed,
Each soul assigned to come to Earth must choose to pass its test.

The lessons are all given the bitter and the sweet,
the pattern must be followed, or the lessons will repeat.
And as one learns the lessons of love, hope and faith,
The work of God is manifest the pattern fits in place.

Then God in humble majesty unfolds His grand design, perfecting every tiny flaw so only light can shine.
Joy, peace and understanding retrain the troubled heart.
Gifts of the spirit grow and burst its light, lights all the dark.

The pattern of perfection was given by our Lord the glorious light of the patterns we are is the wonderful light of love.

And as each soul progresses upon this mortal plan, patterns of light our Lord has given will lead us home again.
