

EXCERPTS FROM "IF I DIE"
by Pablo Neruda

If I die, survive me with such sheer force
that you waken the furies
of the pallid and the cold.
From south to south lift your indelible eyes,
from sun to sun dream
Through your singing mouth.

I don't want your laughter or your steps to waver,
I don't want my heritage of joy to die.

Live in my absence, as if in a house so vast that inside you will pass through its walls in your dreams and hang pictures in the air.

So when I die, leave the balcony open.
Let the air and the light come in,
and the voice of the birds.
Let it all continue.
