

Helen Stockton – Further Biographical Details

- I teach adult creative writing courses which I've been tutoring since 2004. I have particular strengths in building confidence through giving constructive and developmental feedback.
- I offer creative writing courses for well-being and self-development having attended a course on the subject at the Psychosynthesis and Education Trust.
- I co-tutor the Award in Education and Training specifically adapted for creative writing tutors.
- I offer continual professional development workshops for creative writing tutors.
- I teach the Award in Mentoring for those wishing to offer professional mentoring.
- I have previously taught adult English GCSE classes.
- I have been approved as an examiner for the AQA creative writing A-level.