

Jess Levine

Art Exhibition

15th December 2017 to 31st January 2018

My work is a response to my imagination, referencing colour, texture and composition as key elements of my art practice.

I hugely admire and am influenced by the work of Stuart Shils, David Tress and Kurt Schwitters as hugely accomplished artists producing beautiful work.

I aim to create truthful and authentic work, which moves people, and evokes an emotional response.

More recently I have been exploring the role of space distance and absence in my work, so there is a sense of work being distilled in fewer marks, which have more energy and honesty striving to describe emotion in a truthful way.

The work on show at the Centre is a selection of paintings, drawings, monoprints and collages.
