ANNIVERSARIES

If you are celebrating 25 or 50 years of marriage, we ask that you let us know so we can recognize parishioners blessed in the sacrament of marriage. You are also invited to a special celebration with the bishop at the cathedral. Please contact the office 832-2513 or fkennedy@ccsinj.org for more information.

Remembered at Mass

We stand together in the mystery of Christ's death and resurrection. The following will be remembered during the Holy Eucharist: Richard Henry Baumann, Carol Lacy, Brent Evans, Jacob Lopata, Bob Simms, Jacob McCreesh, and Matthew DaSilva.

Deceased: Richard Henry Baumann, father of Peter Baumann, Carol Lacy, mother of Jack Lacy, Brent Evans, fiancé of Aisling Carroll, Jacob Lopata, uncle of Shirley Pojedinec, and Bob Simms, parishioner and husband of Sheila. May they find peace and comfort in the embrace of the Lord and may their families find strength in the Lord and comfort and support from family and friends.

FROM THE PASTOR'S DESK....

Dear Friends,

The Church honors three great saints who have left their indelible mark in the world and the Church: St. Ignatius of Loyola (July 31), St. Alphonsus Liguori (August 1), and St. John Vianney (August 4). In this column I focus on St. Ignatius and so please read about the other two on this same page itself. St. Ignatius was born in 1491, one of 13 children of a family of minor nobility in north-ern Spain. As a young man Ignatius was inflamed by the ideals of courtly love and knighthood and dreamed of doing great deeds. But in 1521 Ignatius was gravely wounded in a battle with the French. To pass the time while recuperating, Ignatius requested a book of chivalric romances. But there were only two books in the castle where he was recuperating: Life of Christ and The Golden Legend which was a book on the lives of the saints. The spiritual satisfaction and peace provided by these works gradually changed his outlook; visions of knightly glory were now replaced by the desire to do great deeds just as the saints had for the love of God. Ignatius realized that these feelings were clues to God's direction for him.

St. Ignatius is the founder of the Society of Jesus and his Spiritual Exercises is one of the most influential books on the spiritual life ever written. Many people do not know that Ignatius did this as a layman, and not as a priest! He did this apostolate for 15 years before he was ordained. His Exercises were not a series of pious sermons but prescriptions that were meant to put a person in direct communication with God. It is used for and by lay people, thus bringing spirituality into the marketplace.

Yes, thanks to Ignatius Loyola, countless laymen and women have found the "pearl of great price" about which Jesus is talking in today's gospel. In order to attain such treasure, we must "sell off" our own interests, ambitions and agendas and thus free ourselves to embrace the lasting values of the compassion, love and mercy of God. This parable teaches us that, although we are baptized Christians, we still need to pursue the true and full meaning of the Gospel, which can escape us for many years. We always need to understand more, to love more, and to serve more.

Your brother in Christ,
Fr. Abraham Orapankal

TWO MORE GREAT SAINTS OF THIS WEEK!

St. Alphonsus Liguori is a doctor of the Church who is widely known for his contribution to moral theology and his great kindness. He was born in 1696 in Naples to a well-respected family. He was very intelligent, even as a young boy, and he became a doctor of civil law at age 17. He resigned from a brilliant career as a lawyer in 1723 when he lost a case because he overlooked a small, but important, piece of evidence. His resignation, however, proved profitable for the Church. He entered the seminary and was ordained three years later in 1726. He soon became a sought-after preacher and confessor in Naples. His so sermons were simple and well organized that they appealed to all people, both learned and unlearned. However, his time as a diocesan priest was short-lived: in 1732, he went to Scala and founded the Redemptorists, a preaching order. He was a great moral theologian and his famous book, "Moral Theology", was published in 1748. Thirty years later, he was appointed bishop, and he retired in 1775. He died just over 10 years later in 1787, and was canonized in 1839.

St. John Marie Vianney, popularly known as Curé of Ars, was born in 1786. He wanted to become a priest. His failure to comprehend Latin lectures was a serious problem. After a lengthy battle with the books, John was ordained on the strength of his devotion to Mother Mary! Situations calling for "impossible" deeds followed him everywhere. As pastor of a near-extinct parish at Ars, John encountered people who were indifferent and quite comfortable with their style of living. His vision led him through severe fasts and short nights of sleep. Among his pastoral ministry, direction of souls as a confessor is John Vianney's most remarkable accomplishment. In the winter months he was to spend 11 to 12 hours daily reconciling people with God. In the summer months this time was increased to 16 hours. Crowds came daily; miracles began to occur; conversions happened galore. In 1929, Pope Pius XI named him the patron of parish priests worldwide.

17TH SUNDAY ORDINARY TIME

July 30, 2017

"We know that all things work for good for those who love God, who are called according to his purpose."

ROMANS 8:28

Do you really trust God? Do you believe that all things work for good? Faith is a challenge for everyone at times. Putting our trust in God, in everything we do, means that God's plan for our lives may be different than our plan. When one door closes, another one opens. Trust in God, His plan is always better.

NOTES FROM THE GARDEN

The summer is flying by so quickly and so much is happening in the garden that we can hardly keep up! We harvested many, many pounds of Strawberries (delivered to Elijah's Promise Soup Kitchen in New Brunswick) in June and now the blueberries are here. The broccoli produced about 30 good heads and then almost a half bushel of side shoots. The bed has been cleaned out and new seeds started for a fall crop. Shelling peas produced well and were enjoyed by the folks at SHIP along with a fresh cream of broccoli soup and broccoli salad. Despite the heat, the plants have set a second batch of blossoms so we could see another round soon. Green beans started coming this week and in two days we picked almost 5 pounds. In 2014 we picked a total of 134 lbs of green beans (french filet) from a similar bed. The plants are large and healthy so this could be another banner year. The community garden beds are amazing!! Produce of all kinds coming in and beautiful flowers too! The first sunflowers opened this week. Thanks to the hard work of the community garden members, both sections of the garden are in tip-top shape. Wayne has worked hard to keep neat pathways leading from the church to the garden mowed so it is a pleasure to walk across the grass (no wet shoes!). Take a stroll after Mass and enjoy the beauty!

CEO OR GAS STATION ATTENDANT?

There's a charming story that Thomas Wheeler, CEO of the Massachusetts Mutual Life Insurance Company, tells on himself: He and his wife were driving along an Interstate highway when he noticed that their car was low on gas. Wheeler got off the highway at the next exit and soon found a rundown gas station with just one gas pump. He asked the lone attendant to fill the tank and check the oil; then went for a little walk around the station to stretch his legs. As he was returning to the car, he noticed that the attendant and his wife were engaged in an animated conversation. The conversation stopped as he paid the attendant. But as he was getting back into the car, he saw the attendant wave and heard him say, "It was great talking to you." As they drove out of the station, Wheeler asked his wife if she knew the man. She readily admitted she did. They had gone to high school together and had dated steadily for about a year. "Boy, were you lucky that I came along," bragged Wheeler. "If you had married him, you'd be the wife of a gas station attendant instead of the wife of a chief executive officer." "My dear," replied his wife, "if I had married him, he'd be the chief executive officer, and you'd be the gas station attendant!" Yes, we often think we have the proper perspective on an issue, when in fact we are way off. Jesus understood this propensity for us humans to get it wrong, especially when it comes to things spiritual. That is why Jesus compared the kingdom of heaven to a treasure discovered and the costliest pearl bought.

STAFF SUMMER READING

EVERYDAY DIVINE A Catholic Guide to Active Spirituality

By Mary DeTurris Poust

Many people today are looking for opportunities to bring the spiritual into their everyday lives in non-traditional ways. Their days are so busy they can't imagine how they can fit in time to kneel or sit in prayer on a regular basis. As a result, they fly from one activity to the next at breakneck speed, always looking forward to some nonexistent time in the future when things will slow down long enough to allow them to breathe, center themselves, and pray.

Everyday Divine: A Catholic Guide to Active Spirituality helps busy readers explore different ways to achieve a place of stillness and peace while remaining very much in the world. In fact, the day-to-day activities of life become the pathway to prayer — even the prayer itself. Drawing on Catholic tradition, from ancient monastics to modern-day saints and sages, Everyday Divine looks at how we can adapt these ancient practices for modern times, quoting holy men and women on various methods and offering practical instructions and suggestions to help people put them into practice.

SMILE WITH YOUR FAMILY

A man walks into a flower shop "I'd like some flowers please."

"Certainly, Sir. What did you have in mind?"

He shrugs "Well, I'm not sure. I uh, I uh, I uh..."

"Perhaps I could help. What exactly have you done?"

A new business was opening and one of the owner's friends wanted to send him flowers for the occasion. The flowers arrived at the new business site and the owner read the card: "Rest in Peace." The owner was annoyed, and called to complain. "Sir, I'm really sorry for the mistake, and sorry you were offended," said the florist. "But even worse, somewhere there is a funeral taking place today, and they have flowers with a note saying, "Congratulations on your new location."

Lost & found: "Life is unfair. I lost my car keys at a ball game and never found them. I lost my sunglasses at the beach and never found them. I lost my socks in the washing machine and never found them. I lost three pounds on a diet -- I found them and five more."

YOU SHOP & AMAZON GIVES TO ST. JOHN'S!

Our Finance Council has been keeping themselves busy not only with the judicial management of our money but also with reflections and discussions on generating income for our Church. One bright idea they have come up with is shopping through Amazon's Associate program, with. It is a very easy way to help St. John with no additional cost to you at all! You just buy the things you'd buy anyway, but buy them through Amazon. When you click on this link it takes you to the Amazon home page, and the only clue that St. John's is getting a commission on your purchase is the small phrase "ccsjn-20" that you will see in the middle of the Amazon URL address - everything else is transparent to the user. <https://www.amazon.com/?&tag=ccsjn-20&camp=0&creative=0&link Code=ur1&adid=15TJKAQ2QN89EK2VDBZA&>

Once you land on the Amazon site - simply bookmark it for future use. The members of the Finance Committee, Pastoral Council and our Parish Staff have already tested it and found it easy. Thanks to our Finance Council for this initiative about which they will familiarize us more next weekend.

CONGRATULATIONS!

MARRIAGE TUNE-UP

One version of the wedding vows states: "I will love and honor you all the days of my life." But what does honor mean? Consider these guidelines: When talking give your undivided attention (make eye contact, don't interrupt. Listen closely). Back your beloved up in front of other people, Show your support. Be selfless.

PARENTING TUNE-UP

Solomon asked God for an understanding heart. Surely this is the attitude we want to take toward our own children. Yet children test us. They do dumb, crazy, and selfish things. They need to be corrected and disciplined. An understanding heart does not mean ignoring bad behavior but rather loving our child through it. (Susan Vogt)

SUNDAY REFLECTION: A CHAT WITH THE REFINER'S FIRE!

The parables of the treasure hidden in a field, the merchant's search for fine pearls, the net thrown into the sea.
Matthew 13: 44-52

The Rev. Samuel Wells is the vicar of St. Martin-in-the-Fields in London and former dean of the Duke University Chapel. In a recent essay The Christian Century [May 24, 2017], the priest reflects on an experience many of us have had: returning, after several years, to catch up with the beloved teacher and the wise mentor "who knows you so well and loves you despite it all, and from whom you tend to shy away because he's like a refiner's fire that burns away the dross and leaves you with no way to hide the truth."

It can be a painfully revealing experience, he writes: "The conversation starts simply. What've you been up to? There're lots of things to say to that. Then, What are you working on? That one's a bit harder, because you know it doesn't just mean, What's keeping you busy? but, What's the part of you that's being tested, what are you learning, what's not working, and where are you having to grow through your mistakes? You blunder on, offering up quite a few responses and hoping the number of different activities will prevent the conversation from settling on any single one of them. That's a lot of things, says your refiner's fire. Which is the one that really matters? "Oh dear. You've dug yourself a hole. It's as if you've been buried in sand at the seaside. You can't avoid a question like that. It's too obvious. Your jokey manner and casual charm have failed. You admit that you could have avoided this conversation but that something drew you into it. Part of you wanted this.

"'Since you put it that way, none of the things I've mentioned is the one that really matters,' [you say]. You lower your eyes and look at the floor, because you feel shame. Shame that your life is so full of padding and that the real quality is buried inside. Shame that this person who knows you so well and understands life so acutely has gotten to the heart of it all in about five minutes. And then, surprising yourself, you say, 'The one that really matters is . . . ' "And you begin to regain a bit of composure because you've said something good and true. And it turns out, you suddenly realize, that you're actually perceptive and full of self-knowledge and even wisdom. You think maybe the refiner's fire isn't so scary. Maybe we're on a level. But the refiner isn't finished. So, if that's what really matters, why aren't you filling your whole time with that? "The refiner's fire can see that, which may be why you've stayed away, and why you feel so naked and embarrassed yet inspired and repentant now. You've just gotten a glimpse of what it's like to lose the whole world and gain your own soul."

In the three parables of today's Gospel, Jesus challenges us to engage in that same kind of conversation with the "refiner's fire": that conversation can take place with that wise teacher or mentor or trusted family member or counselor - or it can take place in the quiet of the heart, in prayer that listens and discerns that voice of God within us. The search for the Gospel "treasure" and "pearl" begins with understanding, first, the real value of what we are searching for and the investment of time and energy required; wisdom is found in stopping to see the many good things we have caught in the "dragnet" of our lives and being able to let go of the useless and distracting in order to take possession of the good and lasting. May we possess that grace that transcends logic, efficiency, and self-interest in order to seek and gain the riches of God.
