Remembered at Mass

We stand together in the mystery of Christ's death and resurrection. The following will be remembered during the Holy Eucharist: Josephine Marple, Silvia Bursit Romero, William Holena, James Kopeck, and Dennis Borecki.

Deceased: Josephine Marple, mother of Cyndy Behrens, William Holena, cousin of Joe Stanski, and James Kopeck and Dennis Borecki, friends of the Kay and Marion Dabrowski. May they find peace and comfort in the embrace of the Lord and may their families find strength in the Lord and comfort and support from family and friends.

THIRD SUNDAY OF EASTER: The washcloth incident

Just another kid in the neighborhood

Peter was distressed that Jesus had said to him a third time, "Do you love me?" and he said to him, "Lord, you know everything; you know that I love you."

John 21: 1-19

Her mother came to live with her and her husband and family. She suffered from Parkinson's and her daughter wanted her to be cared for in the midst of her family who loved her dearly.

It has been seven years since her mom died — and her daughter still can't forget the "washcloth incident."

It was seven months before her mother's death. The day did not begin well, first with a crisis at work she had to deal with, then cleaning up the portable toilet that had overflowed. Finally, she was able to take a shower up in the third-floor bathroom of their home. Finally, clean and ready to restart her day, she came downstairs. Her mother asked her for a washcloth. A simple, reasonable request — but that meant trekking back up to the third floor. In her mood, Mom might as well have asked her daughter to climb Mount Kilimanjaro. Already late, this one more task put her over the edge. She suddenly lost it with her mother. She knew her fury was misplaced, but she was too overwhelmed to stop herself.

Seven years later, the daughter still feels the pain of that moment. She writes:

"The tears still sting and slosh over my pail of remorse. I know that if she could, my mother would grab that pail and toss it out the window. She would forgive me; in fact, I believe she has forgiven me. But in a way, that makes it harder. Knowing of her unfailing love and grace makes me feel worse about my own failure. Of course, I am envisioning her at her very best, now in heaven knowing [and] seeing me with the eyes of God and I am remembering myself at one of my lowest moments . . .

"We might envision regret like the giant stone that sits at the mouth of the tomb. The stone is rolled aside, not away. It's still there, inches from the entrance, but it's not blocking anyone's resurrection. The stone that's rolled aside allows for feeding sheep, baptisms, and hopeful love of every kind . . . I hope to do the same — to leave the washcloth behind with the old grave clothes and inch my way forward in the light of Easter."

In today's Gospel, Jesus enables Peter and the others to leave behind their "washcloths" back at the empty tomb. Jesus asks Peter three times — the same number of times that Peter denied him on Good Friday morning — to profess his love for him. We can hear the pain and hurt in Peter's voice, but also his conviction in his response after Jesus asks the third time: "Lord, you know everything. You know that I love you." Jesus is not taunting Peter but calling him to move beyond the past to take on the challenges ahead. In forgiving Peter as he does, Jesus transforms Peter's regret and shame into understanding and commitment to the Gospel the fisherman has witnessed. As the Risen One restores Peter and the others to friendship, as he puts aside their failing him to be reconciled with them in peace, this Easter season is an invitation for us to put aside those regrets for the times we have failed and to realize how much we have learned and how far we have come from our own "washcloth" moments.

IT IS EASTER, IT IS SPRING! ALL THINGS ARE NEW!

Praying for Others

Consider starting a new practice of praying for others. You can incorporate it in your personal prayers by simply asking God to help others in need. Or you can join thirty parishioners who pray for the needs of others. This is done when they receive an email with requests to pray for someone made by other parishioners. Nothing else is needed except to receive an email and say a prayer for someone. Contact prayerministry@ccsjn.org

PASTOR'S CORNER

Thank you to Jason Rudin who volunteered his time and equipment to power wash the residence siding last week.

Giving of your time and talent is appreciated and the residence was much in need of the cleaning.

God Bless,
Fr. Rick

3RD SUNDAY OF EASTER

May 5, 2019

"Peter was distressed that Jesus had said to him a third time, 'Do you love me?' and he said to him, 'Lord, you know everything; you know that I love you.' Jesus said to him, 'Feed my sheep.'"

(John 21:17)

All of us are challenged to show our love for Jesus and others. Discern how God is calling you to use your time in prayer, your talent in charitable works and your treasure to assist those who in need. Remember that giving is an act of worship and helps advance the mission of our parish and greater Church.

TEN REASONS TO LIKE THE EASTER SEASON

1. There are many new members of our Catholic faith.
2. It is the season of joy, celebration, and the entire reason for our hope.
3. I like the feeling of coming out of the dark and experiencing the fullness of Christ's light!
4. If you are from the South, it means you can break out the white pants, linen, seersucker, and white shoes, which remind me of the season of light and new life.
5. It is a season of rebirth—in our yards, in our hearts, and in our spirits.
6. It's a season of reflection to see if we grew spiritually by assessing our Lenten journey.
7. It is the season of our renewal of baptismal vows and a recommitment to what our Baptism calls us to do.
8. Jesus is risen and continues to appear to the disciples. Just as the disciples needed more time to understand what the Resurrection meant, we are given 50 days of Easter to let our understanding of the Resurrection take root in our lives.
9. We get to hear the readings from the Acts of the Apostles, in which we see the transformation of the disciples from being startled and terrified to boldly proclaiming the Good News.
10. It's so encouraging to spend some time each day of the Easter season thinking, "What does it mean to my life today that Jesus Christ died for me and is

THE ROAD BACK FROM INFIDELITY

Marriages fall apart for many different reasons, but one of the most common and challenging to overcome is the discovery that one partner has cheated on the other.

It can be a fatal blow to most marriages — but not always. Marriage counselors and therapists are finding that more and more couples are choosing to remain together, that couples who choose to work through issues of trust often end up with a stronger, more loving and mutually understanding relationship than they had previously.

Many spouses care deeply for the well-being of their partners even while lying to them, and just as many of those betrayed continue to love the ones who lied to them. They find a way to stay together. Betrayal cuts to the bone, but the wound can be healed.

Writing in The New York Times [January 23, 2018], health columnist Jane E. Brody recounts the experience of a friend who found herself in that position when she discovered her husband's affair.

"At first I wanted to kick him out, but I realized that I didn't want to get divorced. My mother did that and she ended up raising three children alone. I didn't want a repeat of my childhood. I wanted my son, who was then two years old, to have a father in his life. But I also knew that if we were going to stay together, we had to go to couples counseling."

About a dozen sessions later, the woman came away from the experience with life-changing insights:

"I know I'm not perfect. I was very focused on taking care of my son, and my husband wasn't getting from me whatever he needed. Everybody should be allowed to make mistakes and learn from them. We learned how to talk to each other and really listen. I love him and respect him, I'm so happy we didn't split apart. He's a wonderful father, a stimulating partner, and while our marriage isn't perfect — whose is? — we are supportive and nurturing of each other. Working through the affair made us stronger."

It's hard work: to forgive and to seek forgiveness, to restore trust and rebuild a shattered relationship, to recognize the brokenness that led to estrangement and to commit together to mending the cracks. But Jesus gives us a model of such reconciliation in today's Easter Gospel. Jesus' lifting up of Peter's love and commitment transforms Peter's utter failure into understanding and wisdom that enables Peter to take on his role in the post-Resurrection story. It is the same movement from brokenness to healing, from betrayal to trust that couples in crisis undertake to stay together. The Easter Christ calls Peter and his brothers and now all of us to take on his work of reconciliation: to possess — despite our doubts and disappointments — the heart of the Risen Jesus to forgive and seek forgiveness, to be the means of enabling God's mercy to be realized in our own families, neighborhoods and communities.

EASTER FLOWERS

Thank you to Barbara and Steve Pannone for stepping up and ordering, as well as delivering, the beautiful altar plants for Easter after our former supplier unexpectedly sold their business. Thank you also to Jennifer Klacik, Fred and Kristen Heimall, and Pete Cangelosi who braved the rainy Saturday morning to plant the spring flowers at the church entrance! They also moved all the plants from the Seton Room and assisted in decorating the altar and Narthex. Team work at its best!

PLAYGROUP

Come join the party in the loft! St. John's playgroup is meeting on Friday's at 10am. If you are interested in joining or want information email playgroup@ccsjn.org. We are also looking to form a weekend playgroup if that suits your schedule better!

HE IS RISEN! ALLELULIA! ALLELULIA!

Easter brings us the joy of the resurrection. We are an Easter people, celebrating that our Lord has saved us from sin and offers us everlasting life. We now begin the Easter season. Over the next few weeks we come to church with joyful acceptance of Jesus' promise of new life. What does that mean to us daily, today? This is a wonderful season to come to Mass, listen to scripture and the homily and see what God is trying to tell us. This is the time to come out of Lent and begin our new life with Jesus — how do we take his teaching of loving one another and put it into practice. This week, start with praying and listening to God daily.

SMILE WITH YOUR FAMILY

- An ad for St. Joseph's Episcopal Church has a picture of two hands holding stone tablets on which the Ten Commandments are inscribed and a headline that reads, for fast, fast, fast relief, take two tablets.
- When the restaurant next to the Lutheran Church put out a big sign with red letters that said, Open Sundays, the church reciprocated with its own message: We are Open on Sundays, too.

Parish and Community News

SPOILER ALERT! THE TOMB IS EMPTY!

They did not believe. (Mark 16:11) Although it is Easter season, we too may find ourselves struggling to believe that Jesus is truly risen and lives in us. We may want to believe of course, but sometimes the hard realities of life wear down our faith.

There are so many signs that Christ is truly risen. There's the work of St. Teresa of Calcutta's Missionaries of Charity, who bring so much love into the world by their care for the poorest of the poor. There's your pastor or the volunteers in your parish who work tirelessly to serve everyone else... Jesus really is risen and that he really does live among us. Then, of course, there's you...When have you felt his presence in a special way? Take some time today to recall some of the amazing ways God has cared for you.

We are an Easter people. So whenever you begin to doubt, you can cry out to Jesus, "Help my unbelief!" (Mark 9:24)

"Jesus, help me to see past my unbelief to the power of your resurrection"

If the excerpt above touched you in some way, pick up The Word Among Us in the narthex. It is a daily approach to prayer, meditations and scripture readings.
