When the Abate brothers decided to open a restaurant, they wanted to go the route of an “Agriturismo” – a working farm serving “zero kilometer” food. But instead of a farm – Giuseppe and Claudio Abate “work” the lake. That means the menu in this delightful little trattoria changes with their nightly catch. Guests will love traditional fare like linguini con missoltini (local fish that is dried in the sun) as well as more innovative dishes like sushi cotto di lago. Important Note: there are approximately 12 steep steps down to the entrance of the restaurant.
