

When we get angry our bodies change. Draw on this figure how your body changes when you get angry. Spotting these changes can give you a warning you are about to get angry and need to do something.