J. S. Bach: Jesu, mein freude, BWV 227
J. S. Bach: Ich lasse dich nicht, BWV Anh. 159
D. Scarlatti: Stabat Mater a 10

Formed by a group of London students, Siglo de Oro has fast become one of the leading young professional choirs of its generation, known for its innovative programming, musical excellence and exciting interpretations of the 16th to 18th century repertoire. The choir recently sang at the St. John's, Smith Square Christmas Festival. Their programme contrasts the pens of three masters of the Baroque from England, Germany and Iberia.

The Brook Street Band has performed and taught extensively at prestigious British and European Festivals, and regular UK concerts include Wigmore Hall, St. John's, Smith Square and The Maltings, Snape. The Band frequently broadcasts for the BBC. The Brook Street Band has released eight CDs, all receiving high critical acclaim; their Handel Oxford Water Music and Bach Trio Sonatas were The Gramophone Editor's Choice. Italy was at the centre of the baroque musical world, with huge innovations throughout Europe in the 17th & 18th Centuries. Corelli's fiery influence stemmed far and wide, determining the virtuoso fireworks seen in Handel, Vivaldi, Leclair and Telemann's stunning trio sonatas.

Canons from Goldberg Variations, BWV 1087

SSEMK is delighted to announce that The Bach Players have agreed to become our Artists-in-Residence and we welcome them back with two of Bach's much loved secular cantatas sung by two of the UK's leading singers in the early music field. The cantatas - essentially small-scale operas for soprano and bass voices - are given in the context of his 5th Brandenburg Concerto and Canons from The Goldberg Variations.

TICKETS: £20.00 £17.50 £13.00

SATURDAY OCTOBER 26 7pm

Vladimir Waltham classical cello
Prach Boondiskulchok fortepiano

Ludwig van Beethoven: 1796

Cello Sonatas Opus 5, No:1 in F & No:2 in g

Variations in F (Die Zauberflöte), Opus 65

Variations in G (Judas Maccabeus), WoO 45

Vladimir Waltham's still short career has taken him worldwide including all the London concert halls and well as Amsterdam's Concertgebouw. Together with Prach Boondiskulchok, they have earned high praise for their "slow-burning, gripping" performances. Their eclectic programme features the works all from the year 1796, contrasting the more lighthearted Mozart & Handel variations with the virtuosic intensity of the earlier sonatas for the genre.
