Character Breakdown

Chris – 50's - Very outgoing and sociable, loves to have fun and to laugh. The type of personality who is always the center of attention. Happily married and in business with her husband and best friends with Annie!

Annie – 50's – Very friendly, kind and supportive. She doesn't like being the center of attention at all, would be rather shy if not for her friendship with Chris. Annie and Chris are the type of friends who do almost everything together. She is very much in love with her husband John.

Cora – Early 40's – College educated, great sense of humor she is very witty. She had a daughter while in college and their relationship has always been more like friends than mother and daughter. The actress playing Cora must be able to sing and if possible play the keyboard.

Jessie – Late 60's or 70's – Retired English and grammar teacher. Takes grammar very seriously! She was the kind of teacher that students would remember all their lives. Jessie really has an exuberance for life, absolutely loves it! She never wears makeup. She is a “what you see is what you get” kind of woman!

Celia – 40's to 50's – Very concerned about her appearance and image. She is the kind of woman who is very much at home in a fine department store! Slightly rebellious.

Ruth – 40's – Emotionally abused unhappy woman who doesn't quite know that she is unhappy. She has low self-esteem and thus always wants to please and serve others. She goes through a wonderful personal transition during this play.

Marie – 50's – President of the WI which she takes very seriously! She is self-important, always needing to impress and also be in control. Not comfortable if things aren't her way.

John – 50's – Annie's husband, a good honest genuine guy. Not perfect, he is not a saint, but the kind of guy that everyone likes and respects and his death has a strong impact on everybody. He is very much in love with his wife!

Rod – 50's - Chris's husband, he is also very much in love with his wife and he and John were also best of friends. He has a deadpan sense of humor and is an extremely hardworking entrepreneur.

Lawrence – 20's – Photographer, very shy young man. Sweet natured and was brought up right, very respectful of women and dedicated to his art.

Liam – Late 20's – Professional, but not exactly thrilled to be shooting photoshoots for laundry detergent. Wants so much more.

Lady Cravenshire – 60's – 70's Upper-crust Patron of the WI. But it is just one of many organizations that she has been asked to patronize. She is not a member and can't really relate to the women of the WI.

Elaine – Late 20's - Beautician, pretty in a “made up” kind of way.

Brenda Hulse – 40's to 50's Public speaker at the WI's but not in touch with what's current or God forbid controversial.
