It's the very first access point into many industrial sites, residential areas and business parks which is why it's vital that you keep this area manned with only the best security possible.

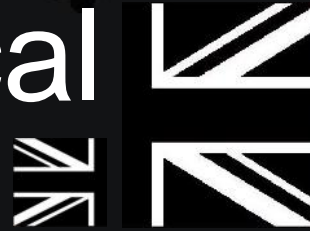

This is accomplished by training from site Instructions and Service Level Agreements (SLAs), ensuring that all relevant information is correct and current whilst still being secure. This provides confident and smooth running day to day operations. Staff and visitor searches can be a contentious issue; Black Watch Tactical Ltd carries out this important task sensitively but confidently and thoroughly.
