

NEWS Letter Career Fair

Air Marshall Islands, Inc.
Flying to Blue Horizons

COURTESY OF AMI STAFFS

Career Fair

by Santa Clause

The Career fair at CMI turned out to be a decent one for AMI. Given the fact that it is probably one of our first in a long time to attend such event. It was an experienced to see and hear different questions by various of students and individuals that showed up. Although it's the first in a long time, our team (AMI), we will take it as a trial and error and better prepared ourselves for upcoming events like such. It is obvious that perhaps maybe we need to reconnect ourselves with the community by reaching out more, based on the questioned that were being raised throughout the fair by the students. So far it is the first fair and yet many more community events will be upcoming next physical year. Education week, to name a few usually takes place around February along with many others followed by. And as a team AMI can join in to rebuild its peoples hope and faith in the airline service.

Uliga Elementary School

Carlynn Mook one of AMI's flight attendant pictured with kids from Uliga Elementary school. Kids were all excited to hear all the good things about being a flight attendant.

AMI BOOTH & VISITORS

Coop High school

Coop high school visited AMI's booth. One of our pilot Patrick Campegnard, explained to coop students about operating procedures in flight. Covering every step with them. Again, lots of interesting questions were brought up by these high school students.

Seventh Day Adventist Intermediate

Patrick explaining to the kids about flight operation procedures.

Coop High school observing while Patrick fire away with flying careers.

AMI CAREER FAIR

Overall outcome.

The overall outcome of the fair all boiled down to issues that indicates several areas of the airlines weaknesses. Listed down below are all critiques and issues that were raised individuals that visited the booth including students.

Customer service need improvements areas and department including booking, ticketing, checking and baggage claims.

Disabled passengers requesting better assistance boarding aircraft.

Positive note: Students enjoyed all the details given by the represented team in the booth. And some are already indicating signs of wanting to take aviation after graduating high school.