

Gwen Wahman, Piano/Piano Jazz

Gwen Wahman performs with Jazz luminaries and in such New York City venues as Carnegie Hall, Lincoln center, Avery Fisher Hall, Tavern on the Green, and many NYC Jazz clubs. She is an exciting, gifted and imaginative NYC Jazz pianist, composer, and arranger who uplifts the spirits, soothes the minds, and illumines the hearts with her beautiful tone, deep swing feel and soulful ideas.

Dizzy Gillespie's pianist and musical director Mike Longo says: "Gwen is both a talented pianist and composer, and is a rising star on the music horizon" and adds in the complimentary and ironic old Jazz phrase, "She will swing you into bad health". Gwen has performed with such Jazz notables as Ron Carter, Elvin Jones and Paul West to name a few.

Gwen has been on faculty at the Conservatory since 2016 and currently accepts students of all ages.
