

BREED BOOKS

PBGVs

The first English language book to be produced following the arrival of the PBGV to UK and American shores, "Understanding the Petit Basset Griffon Vendéen: Rustic French Hound" is easy to read and an excellent source of information. It gives general history and Standards, discusses training and day-to-day care. Orient Publications, 1987. The ISBN is 0-9618117-0-6.

Kitty Steidel

Published in 1999, this most recent in-depth PBGV book was originally published by Doral Publishing (now with Lumina Media). The ISBN is 0-944875-58-0.

The authors obtained previously unexamined kennel records, albums and archives. These chart in-depth early days of the breed in prominent countries, with detailed information and unseen photos, also give specific breed care. Available from Linda Skerritt, +44 (0)1375 673922, monkhams@outlook.com.

Linda Skerritt and Valerie Link

A first book, then two follow-ups entitled "Petit Basset Griffon Vendéen" all by Jeffrey Pepper.

This series of books encompasses general dog care, with the text suitably adapted by the author to the particular breed.

"Petit Basset Griffon Vendéen" by Jeffrey Pepper is published by TFH Publications ISBN: 0-86622-578-1.

The second and third books are published by: Interpet 2001, ISBN 1-903098-99-8; and A Kennel Club Book 2005, ISBN 1-59378-310-8

Other breed books

Why are the basset breeds such tireless hunters? What is their origin, how do they hunt? See the French breed Standards. A comprehensive book on the five basset breeds by two eminent specialists – "Les Bassets Courants" by John Miller & Maurice LeBlanc, which gives in-depth historical information about the five basset breeds. Gerfaut Club, 1987, ISBN 2.90119621.7; and "Les Bassets Griffons Vendéens " by Claire Dupuis. Aided by photos provided by well known French breeder Rene Tixier, Claire Dupuis' book describes the origins and history of the breed, translating it into the Frenchman's enduring passion for hunting. Editions de Vecchi, 1996, ISBN 2-7328-2181-0.

"Hounds of France - Disciples of Diana" by George Johnston with illustrations by Maria Ericson. Spur Publications, England, 1979 ISBN 0-904558-43-6.

This comprehensive guide gives a detailed account of each of the French hound breeds, including the basset breeds and their Standards.

George Johnston

In 2004 "Meet the Basset Breeds", a privately produced book, appeared. A follow-up publication contained articles and breeder ads and even more never-before seen historical documents and photos of all the basset breeds.

Only the second edition is now available - from Linda Skerritt on +44 (0)1375 673922, monkhams@outlook.com.
