SLATE and STONE
OCTOBER 2019

A Missional Church
Called to Worship Empowered to Serve
Inspiring Disciples, Creating Community

Dear Rumple Family,

The calendar says it is fall. The trees are starting to corroborate this as they begin to turn colors- but the air sure does not communicate that it is fall in the High Country. Fall here at Rumple means that we see lots of visitors who are in the High Country for leaf season but it also means a start to some of our seasonal members and friends heading back to places further south and east. Fall is not only a time of transition for God's beautiful creation, but also for us in the church.

As I look ahead to this month of October and the fall season at Rumple there is a lot that I am excited about. In this Slate and Stone you'll read about our new REALM data base- a great new system that will allow us to connect with one another more easily, access volunteer interest, keep track of our visitors, and more! We also now have the church master calendar online. If you need to schedule and event or a meeting- you can now check from anywhere about the availability of the space you might need at church and then contact Jessica to get it on the calendar. We hope to also have online sign up ability soon too!

At our September meeting, the Session gave their blessing and support to the Implementation Team who has been tasked with designing the plan and priorities for implementing the 2019 Vision Plan for Rumple. This team is being led by Elder Jim Crowell and Elder elect Maurice Ewing. You will be hearing from this group and many of you will be invited to be a part of the exciting ministries we believe God is calling us to in the areas of worship, mission, education, and community.

The Vision Plan offers Rumple a set of big dreams and goals as we continue to make and impact in the name of Jesus Christ in the High Country and beyond. At this writing, we have received over 50 estimates of giving for 2020 and about the same number of Time and Talent forms. It is my hope that more and more within the Rumple family will prayerfully consider how you feel called to share your time, talent, and treasure with Rumple in the important ministries God is calling us to in 2020.

I look forward to a beautiful fall season here at Rumple and in the High Country.

Blessings!

Kathy

Visiting Scholar

RUMPLE'S RECENT VISITING SCHOLAR

What is the world, according to Rumble's visiting scholar, Norman Wirzba? It is God's love made sensible. Creation reflects back to God, in all its beauty, freedom, complexity, and interconnectedness. And humankind, made in God's image, shares in a responsibility to love and care for creation, as God loves and takes care of us. Dr. Wirzba lovingly reminded and challenged us in many ways to understand "our daily bread" as so much more than a mere supermarket commodity; and to come to trust God for Sabbath rest.

Several folks had a hand in planning, organizing, publicizing, and hosting our second visiting scholar. To list names is to risk leaving someone out, but Davis Hankins, Anne and Alex Bernhardt, and the rest of the planning team--David Hardage, Shirley Harris, July Lilly, Lou Moore, Carolyn Nelson, Don Saunders, Rita White--deserve special thanks. We are grateful as well as to those who attended, from our church and the community. The team would love to hear your feedback if you came to any of the talks. How might we build on what we learned from Dr. Wirzba? Several ideas are already in the works!

The purpose of our visiting scholar program is to encourage thoughtful, deeper consideration of major themes of our faith, and the call of God on our lives as church members, in community with our neighbors. We are already looking forward to another visiting scholar next September. If you would like to be part of the planning team for 2020, please say something to Kathy or Stephanie, or to one of this year's team members, they would be glad to have your participation.

Don Saunders, Visiting Scholar Committee Member

The Wednesday After School program at Rumble has gotten off to a great start! The students spent the first few weeks learning about God's good creation. This included a nature walk and creating art that shows how God created each of us and the world. You can find this art displayed on the bulletin board as you come in the church from the back parking lot. We have also learned about the miracle of the loaves and fishes. Each month we have a service project scheduled. You will notice on the 1st Sunday of the month that our pennies for hunger baskets have been made into "Happy Baskets". During World Communion Sunday the communion table will include bread baked by our students. If interested please contact Stephanie for more information.

Tax Planning While Helping the Mission of Rumble Church

Recent tax legislation has impacted the treatment of some individual's charitable contributions. Regardless of whether or not you have been impacted, there are still ways to reap tax benefits while helping the mission of the church. Please remember what follows is a general discussion. How these rules apply to your specific situation should be discussed with your tax advisor.

Qualified Charitable Deduction (QCD) from an IRA

If you are 70 1/2 or older you must take a required minimum distribution (RMD) from your IRA. Under current tax law you can distribute your annual RMD directly to a 501(c)(3) public charity (Rumble Memorial Presbyterian Church) enabling you to avoid paying income taxes on the amount you contribute (Up to $100,000). For many individuals, under the current tax provisions, this can result in lower reportable income and as a result lower taxes than if a payment is made directly to Rumble from other savings. The group that administers your IRA can provide the paperwork necessary to make a direct payment from your IRA to Rumble.

Gifting Appreciated Stock

If you have appreciated security holdings in a personal account, selling these shares will normally result in income that you must report on your tax return. If you gift these shares directly to Rumble, you are allowed a charitable tax deduction equal to the full value of the shares gifted but are not required to report any income associated with the shares' appreciation on your tax return. This approach may result in better tax consequences than if the shares are sold and then a cash contribution is made to Rumble.

If you wish to make a gift or meet your pledge with stock, mutual funds, or other tradable assets, please use the following procedures:

Inform the Rumble office manager[rumplechurch393@gmail.com] with your name & email, the name of the asset, the broker transmitting it, and expected delivery date.

Provide your investment representative with the following information:

Receiving brokerage name - First Citizens Bank

Account # - 4KV174445

DTC # - 0443

You will be notified when the securities have been received in the RMPC brokerage account and the amount received after the securities have been sold.

Session Notes SEPTEMBER 2019

Kathy opened the meeting with prayer.

Kim Rogers offered devotions illustrating how we easily wander off our set trail and become lost. She read from a passage in Numbers describing how the Israelites became lost and then were fearful not trusting in God's plan and deliverance for them. She also read from Psalms Chapter 119, verse 67; "Before I was afflicted, I went astray; but now I keep thy word."

Kathy shared updated joys and concerns of the congregation and friends of Rumble.

Camille Loomis, our summer intern was approved to return to preach on 11/17/2019 in Kathy's absence.

We have received a request and Kathy conveyed the desire to invite Rumble church groups to consider providing snacks for teacher thank you days at Blowing Rock School.

Lance Perry will hold a training session for people interested in forming a visitation team to visit members at home and in the hospital.

Several committees provided reports to Session.

Kathy reported that we now have a communication database, an online calendar, and we are working on including the Slate and Stone. This will allow members to, through an app on their phone, access information immediately to get membership contact information.

Having no further business, the meeting was dismissed with prayer.

Respectfully submitted by

Curt Salthouse, clerk

Presbyterian Women's Honorary Life
Membership Award 2019

Adele Dunbar

Dependable, loyal, committed, sensitive, hard-working, faithful.....these are just some of the adjectives that describe this year's recipient of the Presbyterian Women's Honorary Life Membership Award.

A member of Rumple for over 30 years, she has shared her many talents with all ages. She has taught in the children's Sunday School program, volunteered in the nursery, and helped with Vacation Bible School. She has probably baked more cookies and stuffed more Easter eggs than one could count. In adult ministries, she has served on Rumple's Mission Committee and has been instrumental on the church Welcoming Committee. She has served on the Session as a ruling Elder and with Presbyterian Women as Historian and Moderator. She is a Food Pantry volunteer and a vital member of Circle 1, involved in every project the Circle undertakes from parking cars to providing meals for those in need. In the larger community, she has touched hundreds of young lives as a public school teacher for 30 years, and more recently as a member of the Board of Directors of Hospitality House, the local homeless shelter in Watauga County.

This year's recipient is a behind-the-scenes kind of volunteer with a giving, servant's heart who time and time again has answered the call to help out with a quiet, "I can do that."

She is a blessing to her family, a blessing to her many friends, and today we give thanks to God for the blessing of her presence in this church. The Presbyterian Women of Rumple Memorial Presbyterian Church is honored to present the Honorary Life Membership Award for 2019 to Adele Dunbar.

Hymn for September by Dave McCollum

The four lines of the Doxology can easily claim the most sung and most known hymn of any other for more than three hundred years. It has been said that the doxology has done more to teach the doctrine of the Trinity than all the theological books ever written. To this day nearly every English-speaking Protestant congregation still unites at least once each Sunday in this noble ascription of praise.

The author of the text was a bold, outspoken seventeenth century Anglican Bishop named Thomas Ken. He was born at Little Berkhamstead, England, in 1637. Orphaned in early childhood, Ken was educated at Winchester School where he was raised under the care of his older sister and her famous husband, Izaak Walton, distinguished in history as the most eminent angler of his time. Ken later attended Oxford University and was ordained in 1662 to the ministry of the Church of England.

Thomas Ken has a knack for speaking his mind. It led to a colorful and stormy career. Author Kenneth Osbeck puts it this way:

Following ordination, he served as chaplain to the Bishop of Winchester. In 1679 he was sent to Holland, where he was the English chaplain at the royal court at the Hague. Ken, however, was so outspoken in denouncing the corrupt lives of those in authority in the Dutch capital that his was compelled to leave the following year. Upon his return to England, Charles II appointed Ken as one of his own chaplains. Ken continued to reveal the same spirit of boldness in rebuking the moral sins of his dissolute English monarch. Despite these rebukes Charles always admired the courageous chaplain. He referred to him as “the good little Man” and, when it was chapel time, he would usually say, “I must go in and hear Ken tell me my faults.” Eventually, the King rewarded Thomas Ken by appointing him to the Bishopric of the Bath and Wells area.

Unfortunately, only twelve days after being consecrated as a Bishop, his friend Charles II died. The wrath of the new monarch, James II was not far behind. By refusing to read the Royal Declaration of Indulgence, Ken and six other Anglican Church leaders were imprisoned in the Tower of London. Although Ken was acquitted by the next ruler, William III, he was later removed from his bishopric in 1691. He spent the remaining years of his life in quiet obscurity with a devoted friend, Lord Weymouth, at his home in Longleat, Wiltshire, where Ken died in 1711 at the age of seventy-four. “The historian Macaulay gave a tribute to Bishop Ken when he stated that he came as near to the ideal of Christian perfection ‘as human weakness permits.’”

Ken wrote a number of hymns desiring that Christians be allowed to express their praise to God without being limited only to Psalmody and the Bible canticles. In 1672 he wrote a book entitled A Manual of Prayer for the Use of the Scholars of Winchester College. Included in the book were three hymns. These hymns were called “Morning Hymn,” “Evening Hymn,” and “Midnight Hymn.” They were to be sung each day and all concluded with the four line doxology: Praise God from whom all blessings flow; Praise Him, all creature here below; Praise Him above, ye heavenly host; Praise Father, Son, and Holy Ghost.

The tune that is used for the Doxology, is entitled Old Hundreth, and was composed or adapted by Louis Bourgeois, born in Paris, France, c. 1510. In 1541 Bourgeois moved to Geneva, Switzerland, where he became an ardent follower of John Calvin and the Reformed Reformation Movement. Here he was give the responsibility to provide the tunes for the new metrical psalms which were being prepared at the time. Bourgeois was largely responsible for the Genevan Psalter, a monumental musical publication, completed and published in 1562. Although the tune was originally written for the French version of Psalm 134 and was included in the Anglo-Genevan Psalter of 1551, the first English words to which is was wedded were William Kethe’s version of Psalm 100, “All People That on Earth Do Dwell;” accordingly, the tune became known as “The Hundreth.” In 1696, when Tate and Bradey published their New Version, the word “Old” was use to show that the tune was the one in use in the previous Psalter, edited by Sternhold and Hopkins.

Today, hardly a worship service goes by without using the work of Thomas Ken and Louis Bourgeois. In four short lines we, with one communal voice, lift our voices to God and join the communion of saints in praise to the Trinity. “Praise God from whom all blessing flow; Praise Him, all creatures here below; Praise Him above, ye heavenly host; Praise Father, Son, and Holy Ghost. A-men.

Dave

“Who’s In The Pews”

Called to Worship-Empowered to Serve-A Missional Church-Inspiring Disciples- Creating Community

There are thirteen words in the Rumple Vision statement...taken individually they are just words but linked together, a compelling impact. Rumple Memorial Presbyterian Church has a wealth of individuals that live this vision. Each month will feature a group or individual within the church that is inspired to carry out God’s wish for us. This month we offer a sliver of the Mission Committee in action.

After addressing the Missions Committee at their regular monthly meeting concerning this column, I mailed a questionnaire to Committee Chair David Hardage for distribution. What resulted was something I didn’t anticipate but was so thoroughly heartfelt, sincere and frankly, “Just So Rumple”. I want to thank David for allowing me to share this with you:

I thank you for what you are trying to do -- to inform, inspire, and to motivate Rumple members. As another "marketing" person, one who tries to motivate others to do what we think - and pray - is God's will, I thank you for your efforts!

Believe me, I do understand that it will help others to be moved to action when they know that Rumple members, they know have done this or that in pursuit of God's will, and to service of others. I just don't think we care or desire for recognition for what we do individually.

With that being said I ask that you focus on the REAL servants of God's will for Rumple Missions. For example, Adele Dunbar, who advocates for Hospitality House in Boone ongoing. For Norma Suddreth who advocates for Grandfather Home for Children, for Dale Hamrick that advocates for the Elderly needs, for Misty Mayfield who does all she can for Habitat for Humanity in Watauga County. These are just a few of our Missions committee members that take on a big, ongoing commitment to service (and to leadership of our service efforts).

We even have newer Rumple/ Committee members taking on leadership roles for service! Stuart Whid-don, for example, is taking on the hurricane relief trip to Wilmington in November.

Jeff, these are the Rumple/Missions folks we should inform the Congregation about -- the folks that have taken on a huge, ongoing, personal commitment to service. Please contact me or Rita about details about these individuals. We support and appreciate what you are doing. Thank you!

All Blessings, David

All I can add is that I look forward to sharing another “Who’s In The Pews” inspiring snapshot of our church members and the implementation of the Vision for the Rumple Memorial Presbyterian Church.

Jeff Stewart
