Women's empowerment TV series premieres 4 February on C31 Melbourne & Geelong

Inspired by Half The Sky: Turning Oppression Into Opportunity for Women Worldwide by the husband-and-wife team Nick Kristof and Sheryl WuDunn, '▽' features a perspective of the opportunities that lie within the empowerment of women, examining the spectrum of attitudes held, and behaviours toward women from differing sexes and cultures.

The narrative laments the various forms of oppression women globally experience, from the cruel and often violent characteristic of some developing regions, to a contemplation of the more implicit behaviors latent in Australian society. Blossoming from this moral challenge, the narrative develops to a consideration of the transforming powers held within the empowerment of women.

A Soup du Jour Production, produced with the assistance of the Federal Government-funded Community Broadcasting Foundation and Channel 31 Melbourne & Geelong, the series stars Rebecca Bastiaensz, Lesley Harris, Ana Gencic and Lulu Meehan.

The 4-episode season of '▽' airs 10pm Mondays (repeated Thursday 1am, Sunday 12am).
