

Internet Browsing and Cookies Policy

Our corporate website www.fasanara.com (referred to as the “Site”) is owned by Fasanara Capital Ltd. By accessing and using the Sites you agree to be bound by this Internet Browsing and Cookies Policy (the “Policy”).

This Policy explains what cookies are and the types of cookies we use on the Sites.

We may change this Policy from time to time so please check this page occasionally to ensure that you are happy with any changes. By using our Sites, you are agreeing to be bound by this Policy. This Policy was last updated in May 2018. We reserve the right to modify this Policy. Any questions regarding this Policy and our privacy practices should be sent by email to investor.relations@fasanara.com or by writing to Compliance, Fasanara Capital Ltd 40 Ne Bond Street, London, W1S 2RX.

What are Cookies?

A cookie is a small file of letters and numbers that is put on your computer to uniquely identify the visitor’s browser or to store information or settings in the browser. There are two main types of cookies:

- Session cookies: these are temporary cookies that expire at the end of a browser session.
- Persistent cookies: persistent cookies are stored on your computer between browsing sessions until expiry or deletion. They enable a website to recognise you and remember your preferences for the website.

We use both types of cookies, for example, session cookies used for analytical data, whereas persistent cookies may be stored to remember your login on our Sites.

All cookies and data collected are used as described below and in our Privacy Policy.

How and why we use cookies on the Sites

We will collect cookies in compliance with the PECR and the GDPR. We will collect cookies for compliance reasons; and may collect further cookies to enhance your Sites and customer experience (for performance and targeting purposes, e.g. providing you with the most relevant content based on your activity, “Enhancement Cookies”).

What types of cookies are used on the Sites and what choices do you have?

Below is a list of the cookies that we would like to use on our Sites. You will have always the chance to opt-out of Enhancement Cookies if you would prefer these cookies not being collected. You can always change your approach at any time. Please note that, depending on your selection, you may not be able to take full advantage of the Sites. Please also understand that a cookie will be placed on your device to allow us to remember your choice.

Cookie Type

- Necessary cookies: These cookies are necessary for the Sites to work, and enable you to move around on them and use their services and features. Disabling these cookies will encumber the Sites' performance, and may make these services and features unavailable. Strictly necessary cookies are used to collect session ID and authentication data. They are session cookies, which expire when you close your browser session.
- Performance cookies: These cookies include analytical cookies which are used to gather statistics about the use of the Sites in order to improve the performance and design of the Sites and our services.
- Targeting cookies: These cookies may be set through our Sites by our advertising partners. They may be used by those companies to build a profile of your interests and show you relevant adverts on other Sites. If you consent to the use of targeting cookies, by using the Sites or engaging with third-party plug-ins and widgets on our Sites, such third parties may place session or persistent cookies or similar technologies on your browser. These technologies may provide to the third parties information about your visit so that they can present you with advertisements for our products and services which may be of interest to you and help us track the effectiveness of our marketing efforts. The use of these cookies is subject to such third party's own cookie policies linked below:

YouTube

LinkedIn

Twitter

Vimeo

How the cookies work on our Sites

When you visit our Sites, we may collect certain information by automated means, such as cookies, web server logs, web beacons and JavaScript. The information we collect in this manner includes IP address, network location, browser characteristics, device characteristics, operating system, referring URLs, information on actions taken on our Sites, and dates and times of visits to our Sites.

In conjunction with gathering information through cookies, our web servers may log information such as your device type, operating system type, browser type, domain, and other system settings, as well as the language your system uses and the country and time zone in which your device is located. We also may record information such as the address of the web page that referred you to our Sites and the IP address of the device you use to connect to our Sites. We may log information about your interaction with the Sites, such as which pages you visit. To control which web servers collect information by automated means, we may place tags on our web pages called "web beacons," which are small files that link web pages to particular web servers and their cookies. We also may send instructions to your device using JavaScript or other computer languages to gather the sorts of information described above and other details about your interactions with the Sites. If you are accessing sections of our Sites that are password protected, or have entered the Sites through a link in an email, our Sites can identify you as an individual and may collect data including information about the pages you visit, the documents download or other information to enhance and personalise your future interaction with our Sites. These cookies allow you to be distinguished from other users of the Sites, which helps us to provide you with a better experience when you browse the Sites and also allows the Sites to be improved from time to time

Our use of third parties cookies

Our Sites may, from time to time, contain links to and from websites of third parties, including thirdparty plug-ins and widget, such as embedded videos and social media sharing tools. If you follow a link to any of these websites, please note that these websites may have their own privacy policies and cookies policies; we do not accept any responsibility or liability for these policies or the treatment of your data by any third parties. Please check these policies before you submit any personal data to these websites.

In addition to requiring your consent to the use of Enhancement Cookies, your browser may tell you how to be notified when you receive certain types of cookies and how to restrict or disable certain cookies. You also may be able to delete your Flash cookies or adjust your Flash cookie settings by visiting the Adobe Flash WebSite Storage Settings Panel and Global Storage Settings Panel.

If you consent to the use of the Enhancement Cookies, the providers of third-party plug-ins and widgets on our Sites, such as embedded videos and social media sharing tools, may use automated means to collect information regarding your use of the Sites and your interactions with the plug-ins and widgets. This information is subject to the privacy policies or notices of the providers of the plugins and widgets.

Cookies Preferences

If you wish to change your cookies preferences, please contact us at investor.relations@fasanara.com

Please refer also to SiteBuilder policies

London, 3rd May 2018