The Science Fair is coming—March 23rd! By now, students should be working on their experiment. The final tutorial session is scheduled for Monday, Mar. 19 and will cover preparing for the fair and presenting to the judges.

Students are continuing to get restless as we get closer to Spring Break. Please remind them to work hard and stay on task in this last week. We have only 2 weeks remaining in the grading period. Please check your student's grades in Engrade.

As always, thank you for encouraging and helping your student to be successful!
