Bryan Kamm to speak at Manufacturing Meeting Conference

Bryan Kamm, Founder of Kamm Consulting Group, will be speaking at The MFG Meeting in Amelia Island, Florida on March 25, 2017. The MFG Meeting is organized by AMT (The Association For Manufacturing Technologies) and NTMA (the National Tooling and Machining Association). Mr. Kamm will discuss a new German/Swiss style apprenticeship program to be coordinated by a New Aerospace Consortium being led by RUAG Space and OneWeb in the Cape Kennedy area. These two companies will be hiring 300 people needing highly advance skills within the next 3 years. The New Aerospace Consortium plans to help develop the future workforce training pipeline needed in Aerospace, Aviation and Advanced Manufacturing to support the rapidly growing commercial space industry in Florida's Space Coast.

Mr. Kamm is scheduled to participate in the Workforce Trends panel discussion at 2:00 pm on Saturday, March 25 with other panelists Greg Jones (AMT), Montez King, (NIMS), and Mario Kratsch (The German American Chamber of Commerce (GACC Midwest)). The panel discussion will focus on the topic of manufacturing apprenticeship programs in the US and a growing trend of US Communities adopting German/Swiss apprenticeship models to build their future workforce.
