

What's not to love about Campbelltown

Wivenhoe is an historic house at Narellan that was built in 1837 by Charles Cowper and designed by renowned Sydney architect John Verge who also designed Camden Park and Elizabeth Bay House (Sydney). Originally on 600 acres the house was completed in 1838. Over the years the house has been extended and now includes stables, enclosed courtyard, coach house and servants quarters.

Flu season is here

Stay well during this flu season

We want you to stay well this flu season so why not follow some simple tips to keep you safe and well.

- annual vaccination is the single most important measure to prevent influenza and is free for Australians 65 years and over and is available now. A flu shot once a year is your best protection - it's safe and no it does not give you the flu, that's a myth
- wash hands often, particularly before or after contact with people, encourage visitors to do the same. Make hand-wash easily accessible for everyone
- be alert to influenza symptoms, Let your friends know so they don't catch it., also make sure you keep away from people with flu symptoms
- Keep warm and wear layers of clothing. Its easier to take clothes off if you get too warm rather than shiver with the cold
- Try and keep active as this warms the body and helps to beat the cold
- Take a blanket with you if your visiting someone as they may not have heating in their home. You can wrap it around you if your sitting for a long time and keep your legs warm
- Have a hot drink or soup—check out our soup range

Individuals who have contact with older people outside of an aged care service, should also be aware of the above measures, particularly the importance of vaccination for themselves and others. For more information on influenza vaccination see the Department of Health website at: www.health.gov.au/immunisation. or talk to your doctor.

Scammer Alert

Watch out there are Scammers about!!!!

ATO impersonation scams

The scammer pretends to be from the Australian Taxation Office and claims there is a warrant for their victim's arrest. The scammer asks the victim to pay an immediate 'fine' using gift cards or bitcoin, and claims police will come and arrest them if they don't pay the fine.

Catch-a-hacker scam

The scammer calls and pretends to be from a law-enforcement agency or internet provider and convinces the victim they are trying to trace the location of a hacker who has compromised the victim's computer. They claim they can do this by sending money from the victim's bank account or via gift card serial numbers.

Victims are also tricked into giving up personal details with the promise of gift cards. Scammers entice victims to participate in surveys by promising gift cards as a prize, however the surveys extract personal information such as your name, date of birth, address details and even financial details like your credit card or bank numbers.

Telstra

The caller claims that you need to take immediate action to avoid your internet connection being terminated or disconnected, as your computer has been hacked or infected with malware and is threatening Telstra's internet infrastructure. You don't have to be a Telstra customer to be called by these scammers. Don't give anyone access to your computer as they will then have all your personal information.

NBN

Someone pretending to be from NBN or an internet provider calls a victim and claims there is a problem with their phone or internet connection, which requires remote to fix. The scammer can then install malware or steal valuable personal information, including banking details.

Scammers pretending to be the NBN attempting to sell NBN services, often at a discount, or equipment to you over the phone.

Scammers may also call or visit people at their homes to sign them up to the NBN, get them a better deal or test the speed of their connection. They may ask people to provide personal details such as their name, address, date of birth, and Medicare number or ask for payment through gift cards.

KEEP YOUR PERSONAL INFORMATION SAFE!!
