History & Economy

History

In 1834, New Englanders settled on both banks of a shallow, rocky stretch of the Rock River, where there was a natural ford. They named their settlement "Midway," because it was halfway between Chicago and Galena (then a mining boomtown). By 1837, the village had grown and was renamed "Rockford".

Economy

Rockford has a diversified economic base. The Rockford region is contiguous to the Chicago Metropolitan Area. Its location allows for easy access to regional, national and international markets. It has many manufacturing facilities that make everything from aerospace and automotive components and systems to precision machine tools, chewing gum, and potato chips. The city is a regional leader in health care, with three major health systems and the University of Illinois College of Medicine at Rockford. Urban and rural, some of the USA's most fertile farmland surrounds the city, producing corn, soybeans, cattle, hogs, chickens, eggs and dairy products.

Diversity in Rockford

Rockford has one of the highest per-capita concentrations of Swedish-Americans in the USA. Between 1852 and the early 1900s, thousands of Swedish immigrants settled in Rockford. The Swedes' woodworking skills made Rockford a leading furniture center with more than 90 furniture factories in existence prior to 1950, when they began the transition to high-tech precision metal working. Italians came to the area by the thousands between 1878 and 1912, establishing businesses that still bear their names and social clubs that reflect Italy's various regions. Germans, Irish, Poles and other Eastern Europeans also immigrated to Rockford in significant numbers. WWI and the construction of Camp Grant (a large army base) saw the first significant migration of African-Americans from the South.

Helpful Hints

Car Rental

Generally, car rental rates are lower in Rockford. After Chicago (where you don't need a car) if you plan to drive around the Midwest, take the O'Hare or Union Station shuttle to Rockford and rent a car at Avis, Budget, Enterprise, Hertz, National or a small local car rental company.

International Phone Cards

May be purchased at most discount stores (such as Target, K-Mart, Wal-Mart) and convenience stores (gasoline stations).

Tips & Gratuities

American tipping customs are different from those in other countries, and are very subjective. Use these guidelines. Restaurant waiters/waitresses: 15% for good service, 20% for outstanding service. Hotel porters: $2 per bag. Hotel maids: $2 per night, more for extra requests. Hotel room service: most hotels automatically include a gratuity and delivery fee; if not, 15%. Taxi drivers: 15%, or for very short rides, round it up to the next dollar or so.

Credit Cards

The most commonly accepted credit cards in the American Midwest are MasterCard, Visa, Discover and American Express.

To Exchange Currency

1. Exchange currency at your arrival airport, such as Chicago O'Hare or Minneapolis/St. Paul.
2. Use your bankcard, cash card or automated teller card (ATM) to withdraw US dollars from machines in America. You may be charged a fee of approximately US $1.50-$2.50 for each transaction, but your bank will automatically give you the most current exchange rate.
3. Use your credit card to pay for rooms, meals and other purchases. Your credit card company will automatically give you the most current exchange rate.
4. Outside major airports, places with "Currency Exchange" signs seldom exchange international currency. (They cash checks, issue money orders, collect utility bills, etc.)
