

NASA's response letter, when inquiring of interest in attaining artifacts for continuing space education for Schools and Universities...after Atlanta lost its bid for Space Shuttle Atlantis.

National Aeronautics and Space Administration
Headquarters
Washington, DC 20546-0001

June 13, 2011

Reply to Attn of:

Logistics Management Division

Terry Hester
CEO/Founder of IDW
P.O. Box 63
Houston, TX 77001

Dear Ms. Hester,

Thank you for your interest in the new homes for the Space Shuttle Orbiters after their retirement. We believe the selected museums will ensure that the Orbiters are displayed in a manner that offers the best value to the public.

We hope your future travel plans include visits to one or more of the selected locations: Atlantis at the Kennedy Space Center Visitor Complex in Florida; Discovery at the Smithsonian's National Air and Space Museum Steven F. Udvar-Hazy Center in Virginia; Endeavour at the California Science Center in California; and Enterprise at the Intrepid Sea, Air & Space Museum in New York. These facilities have a noteworthy legacy of preserving space artifacts and for providing outstanding access to U.S. and international visitors. The selected museums will also ensure that the Orbiters are maintained in excellent condition for the education and inspiration of future generations of Americans.

Please visit http://www.nasa.gov/topics/shuttle_station/features/shuttle_map.html for information on these museums and their plans for displaying the Orbiters. NASA is also offering shuttle heat shield tiles to schools and universities that want to share technology and a piece of space history with their students. Schools can request a tile at <http://gsaxcess.gov/NASAWel.htm>.

Thank you for taking the time to share your thoughts.

NASA Transition Team

National Aeronautics and
Space Administration
Office of the Administrator
Washington, DC 20546-0001

Official Business
Penalty for Private Use, $300

Hester

016H1651
$00.4
06/17/2
Mailed From US POST

Terry Hester, CEO
Founder of IDW
P.O. Box 63
Houston, TX 77001

“THE DREAM”

“Atlanta has a great significance, and it is a great joy for me to be with you today, the citizens of Atlanta... Visionaries such as Mahatma Gandhi and the Rev. Martin Luther King Jr. have shown us that successful changes can be brought about non-violently.

I believe that at the basic human level, most of us wish to be peaceful.” His Holiness, The Dalai Lama

“BECOME REALITIES”

The Future Global Peace Museum (ATL)

Bringing Atlantis To Atlanta

