Chugs: Oh dude that is sick (Chugs looses)
God: Yeah, undefeated. Oh wait, wait here comes another one, quick give me your lighter..(God put the lighter near his rear end and flatulates onto the lighter flame that shoots a green flame creating the planets, black holes etc;
Peter: Then over millions of years evolution took its course (scene shows a pool of water, an amphibian crawls out eventually becoming a large dinosaur).

Jungle Native: Ah Chris, we can see your genitals (wearing loincloth).

Chris: Ahh (covers himself as the men laugh).

Jungle Native: Just kidding. Everyone's genitals are hanging out.

Chris: Really? (Looks for himself and laughs when he realizes that it is true).

Chris: Wow, this is just like Bible camp. Only I'm not crying and trying to pretend i'm somewhere else.

Pastor: Yet miraculously Job was still able to retain his dignity.

(Peter is given communion wine, he coughs)

Peter: Whoa is that really the blood of Christ?

Pastor: Yes

Peter: Man, that guy must've been wasted twenty four hours a day huh? Note: alludes to Jesus being an alcoholic (Episode: "Death has a Shadow" plus one other episode with same scene).

- (Stewie meets himself as an adult. The adult Stewie tells the younger version about vacations in the future where they go back to periods of history).

Adult Stewie: "...in fact just last Summer I went back to visit Jesus Christ. Turns out his abilities may have been exaggerated a bit." (Jesus is shown before a group of people doing amateur magic while mouthing "Fine and Dandy," a ripoff of Police Academy's Art Metrano's club act).

Francis: Because I love this family and I don't want my grandson to burn in hell.

(later)

Family Guy

- For example, did you know that Jesus didn't really die on the cross?

(cutaway to morgue)

God: So, what was the cause of death?

Doctor: Cocaine and severe trauma to the colon. (Note: Jesus is labeled an addict, a victim of anal rape or a male prostitute for drugs)

God: Yeah, I'm gonna need to see those forms. (Note: God the Father lies about Jesus' death)

(Episode: Stewie, Chris, & Brian's Excellent Adventure)

- (ME AND JESUS Video < Both Peter Griffin and Jesus are in tuxedo, top hat and cane in a Broadway production)

Peter: Me and Jesus, Come and hug and squeeze us, Cause you know he's a simply Christ-a-rific dude (Jesus is on a large cross surrounded by lights below him with dancers. Jesus then jumps onto the stage in a loincloth to dance with Peter)

His eyes are blue-ish, Bright and I love you-ish, And he's also Jewish but he's not the least bit rude (Peter looks inside Jesus' loincloth to see him circumcised)

Jesus sings: Peter my boy

Peter: Yes?

Jesus sings: You're sweet as chocolate cake (Jesus comes out of a cake like a stripper at a bachelor party)

Peter: You bring me joy and so I wont forsake you like the gays do

(Jesus is dressed like a female cheerleader on a gymnastic pyramid)

Peter: Me and Jesus

Peter: You're a real pal Jesus

Jesus: Well I'll tell you this Peter you aint never had a friend like me

(Jesus is dressed a hockey goalie and prevents the puck from going into the net. The scoreboard reads "Jesus Saves." Jesus is in a scene from ET where he as the alien help te bicycle fly. Next scene has Jesus as the genie from Aladdin. Jesus is the behind part of a horse costume. The two roller skate on the boardwalk)

Peter: Me and Jesus

Jesus: Those are words that please us

Peter: Cause we're close Beezus and Ramona Quimby are (two sisters from a Beverly Cleary book)

Jesus: My life is sweeter with my new friend Peter

(Peter and Jesus throw tomatoes at a local synagogue from a car)

Peter: You're a lotus eater now that you're a Superstar

(Peter feeds Jesus grapes in an ancient Greece setting)

Jesus: It used to be I always took the brunt

Peter: But now you're free and Bush is bombing Cunt...ries (Countries)

Jesus: Cause I like it

(Next scene shows George W. Bush in a fighter jet pushing a button to drop a bomb. Jesus is riding the bomb down like Slim Pickens in the movie "Dr. Strangelove")

Peter: Me and Jesus

Both sing: Friends until we die (Jesus and Peter float to the sky like angels)

Jesus: Again? (Jesus and Peter both come out of the empty tomb)

Both sing: Together forever and ever we never will say (Jesus catches a dancing cane in his crucified hand thrown by Peter) goodbye (Me and Jesus/Family Guy video, youtube.com).

- Roger the Alien: Christianity, my favorite deadbeat dad story. Check it, God fathers this kid and then disappears. Then when the kid becomes famous God wants him to come live with him (Episode: Season's Beatings)
- CIA agent Stan Smith (American Dad) upon meeting the Homosexual Log Cabin Republican's at an RNC convention endured the song "We're Red and We're Gay." Included within this musical segment is Jesus on the cross, two gay men bowing before him on their knees accompanied by the lyrics "Jeff and Paul like hot pectorals (sexualizing Jesus on the cross) and good old-fashioned Christian morals..." (Episode: Lincoln Lover)
- Hayley: Bible class huh? Hey tell them (a kids Bible study) the story of how God was denied his fruity cereal no wait that was the Trix Rabbit. I get them confused because they're both fake.

Pastor to Fran and Hayley Smith: So what is it now? Your Mother died or something?

Fran: No it was a very dear, dear (crying). (Note: Roger the Alien dies)

Hayley: He was like a pet. You'll have to forgive her she's very upset.

Fran: Could you say a prayer for him on Sunday? You know so maybe he'll hear it in heaven.

Pastor: For a pet. You're serious? Look, according to the Church there are no pets in heaven (he pulls down a chart)...eligible for heaven you've got your men, women, children and apes who use sign language. Not going to heaven you've got your pets, your dinosaurs, your smart types and self-aware robots...you ever seen Blade Runner? No of course you haven't. Alrighty, can I validate your parking? (Note: Christians are considered stupid)

Fran: Wait a minute. Roger was good what kind of God wouldn't allow him into heaven?

Pastor: This kind (Pastor shows a calendar with God in a Speedo).

Hayley: That's your idea of God?

Pastor: Hey, kick you're a** (Fran walks out crying)

Pastor: Whatever...

American Dad

(later)

Fran to a kids Bible study group: “Heaven , Pearly Gates, Angels. It’s all a lie. When your parents die they’ll be in a hole in the ground, worms slowly chewing through their foul, putrid organs.

(Later - Roger recovers and is found at a Museum with a group of elderly women. He’s posing as one to avoid detection as an Alien. The family together again at home eating Dinner)

Fran: So Roger what was heaven like?

Roger: Heaven? What the hell are you... (Hayley kicks him under the table)...oh, oh it was great. Fluffy clouds, Unicorns, Bubble Gum waterfalls all that crap. (Note: Heaven is fiction).

Hayley: Roger is our little miracle isn’t he Mom?

Fran: He sure is. God certainly works in mysterious ways.

(Fran walks over to the Refrigerator calendar - God in a Speedo is the previous months picture)

Fran: Oh wait, this is last month... (Fran flips it to the next month where God is shown posing on a sports car with his shirt off wearing cut off shorts). (Episode: Roger Codger, American Dad, FOX).

- Anti-Creationism (Episode: A Clockwork Origin).

Futurama

- Bender becomes a God (Episode: Godfellas).

CHRISTMAS/NATIVITY

- Bender (Robot) walks into a Christian soup kitchen for the homeless. The sign on the wall reads “Booze Saves” rather than “Jesus Saves” (Episode: Xmas Story, Futurama).
- (A nativity scene is in the background of one shot) Zombie Jesus' mother appears to be a fembot (Episode: Xmas Time is Fear, Futurama, FOX/Comedy Central).

THE LORDS PRAYER (mocked, Jesus' divinity denied)

- Professor Farnsworth: Oh, nobody's Father who art nowhere, I know you can't hear me. Completely ignore this prayer. Nothing art Thou, and nothing will Thou ever be. Jesus...was just a man (Zoidberg, Fry, Hermes, Amy, Homer, and Bart say, “Amen”). (Episode: Simpsorama).

RESURRECTION

- “Sweet Zombie Jesus” or “Holy Zombie Jesus” exclamation (Episodes: The Deep South/Bender Gets Made/Xmas Time is Fear/Radiorama).

SECOND COMING

- Jesus returned in 2443 according to Dr. Farnsworth nothing improved on earth (Episode: When Aliens Attack, Futurama).

MISCELLANEOUS

- Philip J. Fry: I feel like I was mauled by Jesus (Episode: When Aliens Attack,).

(Moral Orel, Adult Swim, part of Comedy Central, created by Dino Stamatopolous)

- In the episode entitled School Pageant Orel auditions for the role of Jesus in a musical but gets the part of Judas instead, Orel's song, the only hit in the production becomes popular, soon the entire community of Moraltown sing the lyrics made famous by Orel: "I hate you Jesus, You rotten little fink, Your sermon never pleases, And your parables all stink, Your eyes are beady, Nose is weird, A goofy basket case, I'd like to take your stupid beard, And rip it off your face, Prancing gaily (Jesus was gay?) on the water, A long-haired scrawny clod, You may be someone's daughter (Jesus was Transgender?) but You sure ain't the son of God..." (Episode: School Pageant).
- (Opening scene shows the family driving (snowflakes falling and the car swerving around on Main Street. Song lyrics as the drive...)

If the Lord were alive today what would you give him this Christmas? (Note: An attack on Resurrection)

I'd like to wish a very special first merry Christmas to our Jews for Jesus friends. You know, during this joyous season it's easy to forget the true meaning of Christmas. What Christmas is really all about is the birth of that cute little baby, who would grow up to die an unbelievably horrible death for our sins. You know who I'm talking about. Jesus. Our Savior born from an attractive virgin (Note: sexual intent by Reverend) named Mary. Jesus was an unplanned birth that really made a name for itself. He's not only a great symbol of righteousness but also a perfect poster child against abortion! Why, if Joseph refused to let the baby grow within Mary who knows what this building would be right now. Maybe even a synagogue. (The church gasps) but because Joseph had the moral goodness to raise the "surprise" we are safe and warm here in a Protestant church. Amen and Merry Christmas.

(Note: Episode writer making socio-political point comparing the Nativity to any unplanned pregnancy. There is a difference between immoral, sexual activity leading to infanticide and the birth of Christ via the Holy Spirit, see Luke 1:35. There is also an anti-Semitic presumption within the congregation which never appears in a legitimate, Bible-believing church). (Episode: Gods Image).

Moral Orel

- (Moral Orel and his brother are playing in the front yard)
Orel's little brother is playing with a BB gun pistol. Shapey, Orel's brother, is loud and wakes up Moral Orel's father (Clay Puppington) who always has a drink in his hand. Orel's father scolds him and says that his brother is only seven but Orel is twelve and should know better

Orel: But I'm only twelve.

Orel's Father: That's no excuse. Why, your personal hero Jesus was very mature at your age.

Orel: He was?

Orel's Father: Of course. At 12, he was already busy proving the Jews wrong.

Note: Jesus at the age of 12 was not proving the Jews wrong. He was listening and asking questions in the temple. Also it is interesting to observe that the writers of this episode (Dino Stamatopolous, Scott Adsit and Jay Johnston) went to the Scriptures (Luke 2:41-50) to verify their script (Age 12, verse 42). This is another example of Bible skeptics going to the Scriptures and showing their hand concerning accuracy rather than a generalized attack (Episode: Maturity, Moral Orel, Adult Swim/Cartoon Network).

- Setting: Oral's family is in the family car driving down the road. A song is playing on the radio.

(Song lyrics)

Reason is the enemy of faith, my friend (Note: an attack on Christians and their intellectual abilities). A head that's filled with knowledge soon is too bloated with its own weight. To fit through Heaven's Gate. So think with your heart it's the only organ for salvation. Think with your heart don't deduce yourself to eternal damnation. Think with your heart 'cause you know the Almighty sees us. Think only with your heart. Who ever heard of the bleeding brain of Jesus? (Note: an attack on Christ's crown of thorns and death).

Outside of the Moraltion Cinema there are protesters holding up signs. The Wizard of Oz is being shown. One of the signs read, "There is no place like heaven" The protesters shout "Follow the yellow brick road" means "follow the devil in gold!" Christian protesters shout, "Boo, evil, you're going to hell, sinners and they hiss"...song lyrics continue.. "Follow the yellow brick road" means "follow the devil in gold!" (Note: a mockery of legitimate, legal protests by Christians).

Moraltion Radio DJ: "Okay, that was The Cruci-folks with "Think With Your Heart." (Note: Mockery of Jesus' death).

Multiple Godgasm (Death Metal music involving God the Father and sexuality) song lyrics...

Bow down, bow down

Do Jesus' bidding (the sounds of a man yelling and low demonic laughter)

Burn in heaven, burn in heaven

Moral Orel

(Moral Orel's family in church)

Reverend Putty's Sermon: Dear friends I look around at the congregation today and my heart is filled with joy. Why? Because I see everyone here using the Lord's greatest gift. Life. You know, the biggest sin is to throw the gift of life back into God's stupid face (Note: A Pastor's disrespectful comment). For remember the spooky story of Lazarus. He did not reject Jesus' gift of life back from the dead and say, "Lord, you are a weirdo, your gift is boring. "Why don't you just take a hike, you big, dumb, holy Messiah." (Note: Criticism of Jesus' intellect or Lazarus' supposed view of him). No my friends. Lazarus believed that life is precious. As precious as money (Note: Greed/wealth) or those little kissing zebra knick knacks that we love to display on top of our cabinets. We must do everything in our power to preserve the gift of life to show God that we appreciated it, and not to hock it in his stunned face like a phlegmy gob of spit (Note: a mockery of how Jesus was treated before his execution. See Matthew 26:67, 27:30. Mark 14:65, Luke 18:32) and laugh at his magnificent, big, dumb expression. Amen.

(After the church service)

Moral Orel: Rev. Putty

Reverend Putty: Yes Orel?

Moral Orel: I think you're right about people not spitting into God's face.

Reverend Putty: That's what I get paid for, son (Note: Greed not Faith).

(Orel and Doughy in a library then cemetery)

Doughy and Orel go to the library to get suggestions on how to resurrect bodies out of the cemetery - Rev. Putty's sermon about Lazarus not rejecting Jesus greatest gift of life is on Orel's mind. The librarian Miss Censordall (Censor all) has a can of kerosene on her desk, she's dipping books into it. The bookshelf behind her contains book titles like "A Guide to Closed-Mindedness," "Understanding: A Fool's Journey." The librarian leaves her desk. Moral Orel and Doughy grab the book "Necronomicon: The Book of the Dead" they take it to a cemetery. Note: Occult activity in the name of Christianity. Moral Orel and Doughy decided to dig up dead people in the cemetery. Moral Orel recites incantation from the Necronomicon. Doughy's grandfather sits up in his coffin. (Note: The Bible warns his people to stay away from dead bodies in Numbers 5, 6, 9 and avoid occult activity – Deuteronomy 18: 10, 11, 14).

Doughy's Zombie Grandfather: Thank you oh Lord for this bounty.

The dead grandfather attacks a policeman, eats the policeman's brain and walks away. Orel is pleased that the grandfather is alive. Soon the entire town is in flames with zombies running everywhere attacking people, but first the zombies pray, "God is great, God is good, let me thank him for our food!" or "rub a dub dub, thanks for the grub."

Moral Orel

(Meanwhile Mrs. Censoredall is holding a book burning outside of the local library)

Woman: Are you going to burn the Bible?

Miss Censoredall: Only the Jewish parts (the book burners stab some of the censored books with flaming torches and chase after the zombies)

Moral Orel's dad is outside of a bar urinating on the wall. He sees his son undressing a dead woman who was attacked by one of the zombies. Orel and Doughy are trying to revive her. Orel's Dad says that he and his son should have a meeting in his study. Orel's dad punishes him with a belt and asks him why he was resurrecting bodies with the Necronomicon. Orel said to prevent people from spitting phlegm in God's face (see Reverend's sermon). Orel's dad tells him that the bodies smell not because of their clothes but because of their bodies.

Orel's dad: Nudity is a horrible thing it should only be committed as a last resort. You know the 11th Commandment. "Thou shalt be ashamed of thy natural anatomy." (Note: The Bible says no such thing. Our bodies were made by God and should be respected, see 1 Corinthians 6:19-20. Adding to scriptural content is also biblically problematic, see Deuteronomy 4:2).

Moral Orel: Oh yeah, those lost commandments always throw me off.

Moral Orel and his dad go out to the street again, they watch people running away from attacking zombies. Mrs. Censoredall wants to burn the zombies' privates off. Orel gives all of the naked zombies clothing so could eat people and still be clothed.

(As the credits roll)

Moral Orel is creating his own claymation animation. The animation figures shows one person up against a whipping post (Jesus), the second one being crucified, a person holding John the Baptists head on a platter and the final one looks like someone carrying a cross beam to a crucifixion site (Episode: The Lords Greatest Gift).

- Orel's family, in the car, are listening to the radio. There are protesters outside of the local movie theater protesting the 10 Commandments.

(Song lyrics on the car radio)

*My grandma fell off of the rooftop, oh, Granny, you've got some bad luck but, oh, what she said when she fell on her head she yelled out an earsplitting
(F rhymes with luck)...F--ollow Jesus have faith in the Lord praise his name and receive your reward*

Radio DJ: Rev. Colesby. Okay, that was the Stoogematas with Saving Cream. And here is the number one holy-larious hit from The Virgin Harry... Homosexual Hop.

Moral Orel

(Church)

The school coach is outside the church. He introduces Orel to his nephew Joe (Joe looks angry). The coach is obviously gay or bisexual (Daniel, the coaches name is pronounced Danielle). The coach and Orel's father spin and embrace. Orel's mother kisses the coach on the lips. Orel's little brother holds onto the leg of the coach saying "mine!" (obviously his father - blond hair)... they laugh uncomfortably.

Rev. Putty's sermon: Friends... No, I'm not calling you friends. My sermon is about friends... ha ha... gotcha! God wants you to be loyal to your friends just like the way Jesus was loyal to his disciples. Sure, they eventually screwed him (small laugh) I mean, here you have Jesus the son of God, right in your back pocket and Judas blows the whole thing by tattling to the Jews. Talk about egg on your face. Judas had a serious omelette face mask, says to himself, that's pretty good. He writes it down. Sometimes you just wing it up here, and it works... anyway, avoid your own omelette face mask. Stay loyal to your friends, do would they want, humor them, even lie to them if it makes them feel good. That way, both Jesus and God will look down upon you and smile. And not in a mocking way, either. Amen.

(Note: Did the disciples screw Jesus as the Reverend stated? No. The only one that could possibly fit into that category was Judas but what Iscariot did (betrayal) was meant to happen as part of the process of Christ's pseudo-trials, death and eventual resurrection. Did Peter screw Jesus? No. He was over confident (Peter said he would die for Jesus yet Jesus said Peter would deny he knew him three times, see John 13:36-38) later when questioned in the courtyard by others Peter was fearful and denied Christ (John 18:25-27) but Jesus gave him the opportunity to redeem himself (John 21:15-19).

"Here you have Jesus the son of God, right in your back pocket." Can Jesus be easily persuaded or deceived for selfish purposes? A pushover? Never! The scriptures tell us that Christ was in control and usually acted opposite as one would expect a mere human to act (Matthew 12:16, 16:20. John 11:1-8, 12:16). A sinner who would crave power, influence, glory etc. Jesus never did (John 6:15).

The Reverend Putty wants congregants to lie to their friends to please God? How quickly this charlatan forgets about the basics of his faith).

Orel introduces Joe to Reverent Putty then the two boys run off to play. Orel and Joe throw rocks at a car parked along the street. The car is owned by the father of Doughy. Orel throws a rock and breaks a window. Orel does not want to play with the rest of his friends but only his new friend Joe. They continue to throw rocks at the car denting it. Orel and Joe burn ants with a magnifying glass. Orel and Joe beat up some gay kids with baseball bats. Orel's friends watch from a distance they go tell Orel's father but are apprehensive. Orel's father gives the three kids booze, gets them drunk so they will talk.

Doughy: You're not going to hit him, are you?

Orel's father: Oh, Doughy, God wants us to beat you kids when you're bad. (Note: God supports physical abuse).

Doughy: He does?

Orel's father: Yes

Moral Orel

Doughy: Why?

Orel's father: Because.

Orel's father drives through the woods smashing into things - he's drunk. Orel and Joe continue to beat up the gay kids with baseball bats. Orel's father demands his son get into the car. Joe continues to beat up the gay kids til one hits him Joe a bat.

(Orel's father's study)

Orel is once again punished with the belt. His father tells him that he's surprised that he doesn't feel guilt about what he was doing with Joe (Note: Not that beating up the gay kids was bad but that he left his three friends out of the activities).

Orel's father: God doesn't want you to be loyal to one friend and disloyal to other friends at the same time, Orel. You know the lost 18th commandment. "Thou shalt be loyal to all thy friends at the same time." (Note: 18th Commandment?)

Orel and his father talk awhile longer, they go to eat dinner. Orel's father says "drink dinner." Orel's father is an alcoholic. (Episode: Loyalty).

(Setting: Breakfast)

Barbara Bush: Oh little George it's okay to be upset. Everyone needs an appropriate period of mourning.

Lil' Bush: All right! Pancakes are ready....mourning done.

Barbara Bush: I put butter crosses on them because it's Sunday.

Lil Bush

Lil' Bush: Cool! And the syrup can be the delicious blood of Christ.

Other issues in the Evolution episode include:

- The churches objection to homosexuality.
- Pedophilia in the church.
- Evolution vs. Creationism.
- God is equated with a mob leader ("God"di or John Gotti).
- Pro-stem cell (aborted fetus) research, pro-Abortion views.
- You don't learn anything in church.
- Christians blindly follow God without having to know anything.
- Lil Bush to God: You can go now. You got legs. You know how to use them.
- Anti-Ten Commandments.
- Lil Bush rips a page out of a Bible.
- Lil Bush: I got born'd again'd. Turns out Evolution is hooley. You see I blindly following something I barely understand.
- Lil' Bush: Good news friends (he holds up a Bible) this thing is like a handbook for not having to know anything.
- Similar to cartoons from the 1970's musical numbers are also in Lil Bush. Bush is dressed as a rapper with other classmates. Some of the lyrics include the words, "God is like a dose of vitamin D.U.M.B" and "let's all thank Judas for causing his execution."
- Lil Bush and two other classmates surf on the water without surfboards (a mockery of Jesus' walking on water).
- Bush and other classmates roll up on skateboards, under one it reads..."They hung Jesus, we could hang 10."
- (Dick Cheney in Hell) Satan wants Cheney to leave hell. Security guards (Mr. Rogers and Richard Nixon) chase him around a table trying to subdue him. (At Dick Cheney's funeral) Lil Bush is scolded by his parents for the "F" on his Evolution paper. God appears and then Cheney bursts up from his grave and proclaims, "Happy Easter," a mockery of the Resurrection.

- Meatwad, Master Shake and Frylock are in church. Even though Frylock corrects the other two, the following points are some of the anti-faith themes present in this episode. Master Shake is hungry in church and sees no meat but only bread (Communion bread); Master Shake and Meatwad plan to steal money from the collection plate; Meatwad thinks that it's Santa on the cross not Jesus. Is unsure how he is going to sit on his lap to request presents when he's hanging from a crucifix; Master shake thinks Santa got drunk, crashed his sleigh and then somehow got nailed to a piece of wood. "...who's drunk enough to get nailed to wood," asks Master shake, "I could see maybe one nail but then you would think he'd move but no now we gotta revere him for his slow reaction time?"

(Lyrics from the episode)

Happy Birthday Jesus. You're the one comin' down to earth from planet Krypton. Rollin' out tracks and getting it on like The Wrath of Khan with Ricardo Montalban (expletives).

As Meatwad sings the correct lyrics to Silent Night, in studio, Master Shake uses the restroom (bowel movement sounds can be heard). Master Shake and Meatwad end up in jail after breaking into a Best Buy type store looking for their CD that they just completed in the studio

Steve: Good morning brothers and sisters. Welcome to the Miracle Lake Church of God, his holy mistress Mary and their love child the baby Jesus. Please put your praying hands together and welcome to the stage Gods BFF Rev. Woody. (Anti-Bible criticism example)

Woody: Amen. Hallelujah (only six people show up). Miracles, oh brothers and sisters have I seen miracles. Like when (expletive) like when Moses turned fish into wine or like when the Holy Ghost gave birth to Adam and Eve. Who's with me? Hey, I didn't write this crap okay? The point is this Lake before you is the greatest miracle of all (a blind black man is pushed into the lake and then can see but can't swim and drowns). (Anti-Bible criticism example)

The following morning Woody and Malloy are instructing us to edge true on how to properly set up for a live telecast and Woody says, "who's that d*ck on a stick? I wanted a blue-eyed Jesus, not a Jew-guy Jesus. I feel like I'm praying to my (expletive) accountant..." (Anti-Bible criticism example)

Woody during the telecast: You gotta give till it hurts! You gotta give until you say, "ow!" Your kids don't need Christmas. The Devil made up Christmas! What's a college education got on spiritual rejuvenation? Ooh, all material things are evil! Except for the Jesus jet, which is awesome! Oh, brothers and sisters, it's healing time! (Anti-Bible criticism example)

Woody tries to heal someone with a harelip but for some reason it doesn't work. The man with the harelip is drowned. Woody is put up on the cross by the angry mob. (Anti-Bible criticism example)

The mob: He stole our money! Get him! Crucify him! - He's a fraud! - He's evil! - String him up! -

Woody: What are you doing? Hey! No! - Crucify him! - Come on, man! - Kill him!

Malloy: Is this any way to treat a man of God?

Brickleberry

Steve: Yeah, what if they had done this to Jesus? Shut the [Bleep] up, Steve. (Anti-Bible criticism example)

Malloy: Reverend Woody just needs to have a conversation with his friend and business partner, God. I promise the lake will be up and running in no time. The most important thing to remember is, no one needs a refund.

The mob: Can we at least stone his (expletive)? I don't see why not.

Malloy: Ten bucks a rock sound fair?

Woody: You know, this is not ow! Ow! Hey! Whoa! Whoa! Gaah!

As it turns out the lake was no Miracle Lake at all but a dumping ground for medical waste by a doctor.
