Where do these people come from?

This Law Professor Just Explained Why The Solar Eclipse Is "Racist" ... Yeah, Really

Brooklyn Law School professor Alice Ristroph, who used a staggering 4,544 words in The Atlantic to explaining why the phenomenon of the moon blocking the sun just wasn't diverse enough for her tastes.

"On August 21, 2017, a total solar eclipse will arrive mid-morning on the coast of Oregon," Ristroph writes. "The moon's shadow will be about 70 miles wide, and it will race across the country faster than the speed of sound, exiting the eastern seaboard shortly before 3 p.m. local time. It has been dubbed the Great American Eclipse, and along most of its path, there live almost no black people."

I hate to say it folks, but if you had her as your law professor you are in the wrong business. Anybody that will take the time to write 4500 words to be published about the SUN being RACIST has been totally eclipsed by intelligence. AND - if she represents the typical American professor then all I can say is - flush me down, the whole country is in the toilet.

Some people are just so hungry for attention they will do and say almost anything. Can you imagine ANYONE doing this? I guess we have more like her in our midst than first thought possible. This must be a real live take-off of the "Nutty Professor". (Jerry Lewis, RIP)

The word is out that George Soros is going DOWN. Be still my heart. Nothing sounds better to my diminishing hearing than old George getting what he has coming. Of course this also could be FAKE NEWS, but it's still a shinny spot in the cesspool of government. They also said that Chelsey is married to Soros' nephew. What a family tree that makes. The scum always seems to rise to the top and it needs to be scooped off and discarded.

May God BLESS our nation - AGAIN.

Thanks for listening.
