

PROGRAM DESCRIPTION

My Home Life (MHL) is an international, award-winning, evidence based initiative. Its leadership development program has simple yet powerful frameworks uniquely tailored to the aged care context.

It is a proven program designed to release the leadership qualities you need to adapt, build trust and inspire those you work with to achieve your organisation's goals.

We are only as good as our people. Yet too many leaders are trying to 'fix' their people, without realising how shifting one's own behaviour as a leader can be a huge leverage point.

To transform your organisation you must first transform yourself. People respond to leaders who have the humility to work on themselves throughout their lives, and with expert guidance you will own your strengths and grow your leadership capacity.

By applying advanced, evidence-based leadership development tools and frameworks, you will build your capacity to create innovative, collaborative and sustainable solutions to your leadership challenges.

What am I going to get from this program?

- > A one year leadership support program combining intensive workshops with monthly action learning sets designed to enable you to empower staff and develop relationship-centred cultures.
- > An appreciative approach to experiment and reflect on new approaches to practice development, whilst iteratively learning, adapting and innovating to achieve your organisational goals.
- > An immediate return on investment as you bring your work challenge to the table for a group of up to eight diverse and trusted peers to help you progress and make an impact.

“ The My Home Life program is unique in the way it focuses on how we approach everything we do. This course is evidence-based, relationship-centred and appreciative. It also promotes leadership in care homes, highlighting the importance of positive relationships, valuing different perspectives, and fostering creativity.
