

PAPERBACK

F. W. GOODING, Jr.

You Mean, There's Race in My Movie?

An Analysis

Nonfiction/Pop Culture

978-0-9778048-9-4

$24.95 • $28.95 Can.

Trade Paperback

8" x 9 3/4" • 330 pp.

Also available

Al's Notes: The Blind Side (2009)

978-0-9778048-4-9 $9.95

"These instructional materials were comprehensive, enlightening, and user-friendly!"

*Angela N. Brown, Director of Diversity Development
The Harpeth School, Nashville, TN*

This witty but heavily-researched book takes an in-depth look at both the pervasive and persuasive influence of Hollywood images by parsing out the complex web of historical, institutional and financial factors that influence the portrayal of race in mainstream movies. Our discussion goes "behind the scenes" to explore the 6 specific patterns that define virtually every minority character onscreen and examines the worldwide impact of such imagery. Also included for analysis are the 6 guaranteed patterns for white characters, over 250 movie and actor examples, over 100 different "pop-out" exercises for additional enrichment and over 65 user-friendly vocabulary terms. Unlike many "anecdotal" presentations on race, readers will leave with concrete concepts, statistical data and a uniform language with which to recognize and further analyze these formulaic images. "You will NEVER see movies the same way again!"

"You have provided us with not only a helpful framework for understanding but also a much-needed vocabulary and tools in order to further discussions."

*Melia LaCour, Equity in Education Program Manager
Puget Sound Educational School District, WA*

"The class is still buzzing about the presentation and they are truly loving the book. Thanks for helping us all have a better set of eyes."

*Dr. Doreen Loury, Director, Assistant Professor of Sociology
Act 101 Program, Arcadia University*

- National Coverage of Live Workshops/Trainings
- Extensions
  - Instructor's Manual • 142 pp.
  - DVD • 58 min.
  - Individual movie analysis (Al's Notes series)

F. W. GOODING, Jr. is a civil rights attorney and has served as an adjunct professor at Georgetown University. He lives outside of Washington, D.C.

THE MINORITY REPORTER

Phone: 202.288.5562 ~ 13813 Congress Drive, Ste 600 ~ Rockville, MD 20853 ~ editor@minorityreporter.com