November 2017

11

From Pastor Carrie

Greetings!

November is just starting out and in a few short weeks, most of us will be sitting around tables giving thanks. Gratitude is a BIG part of the Stewardship Season. This year's stewardship theme, "Better Together," has reminded us that as we usher in a new Reformation Period, we are "Better Together" when we strive to discern who God is calling BPC to be and what God is calling BPC to do. Nothing is more important than moving ahead with a unified vision of doing community together and serving the world around us. You were sent a "Generosity Brochure" last week. Please take a look at it and pray about your part in being a piece of the puzzle that brings BPC's mission and ministry to life; fill out your Generosity Brochure (front and back) and bring it to church on Nov. 12th as we celebrate in worship and as we eat together after church around tables at our Stewardship/Thanksgiving Dinner!

And while Thanksgiving activities with our families might not be quite over, a chill in the air is evident and the music is starting to play all throughout the malls and everywhere you go—it's beginning to look a lot like Christmas! I do so love this season! But, in the church calendar, we have 4 weeks of spiritual preparation before we actually get to the Christmas Season. This period of preparation is called Advent. Advent is a time to focus on what the coming of the Christ child means to us and it is supposed to be a time of reflection and spiritual awakenings. Unfortunately, it seems that this season is anything but that! We are hurrying here and there, going to parties, trying to squeeze in too many shopping stints to get all our gifts bought, working at a frenzied pace, letter writing and cookie baking. With all of this "to do", we might forget that Jesus is really the reason for the season and that this season is for "being" with God, family and friends and not "doing" more and more that stresses us out!

As is the custom at BPC, we will begin the Advent Season with a Tree Lighting, starting at the Boyds Post Office, and after the ceremony, taking a hayride back to the church for our first ever "Advent Fair" in Kerr Hall. There, we will engage in advent stations that help us focus on God and others who need our attention and presence this month. Stay for an hour for fun, food and fellowship and in between, we will deck the halls.

Then, each Sunday we will celebrate Advent with our wreath lighting and litany, practical ideas to slow down and prepare our lives to be ready to receive the gift of a new born babe that came into this world and transformed those in it. We have a special treat during worship on December 17th, as our youth will lead us in worship.

Our youth will help us open our eyes to see Christmas everywhere and to make room for Jesus.

May this be a time of spiritual renewal and peace for you!

Blessings,

Carrie

Let's Innovate Before We Have To

by Jan Edmiston

Walmart continues to be the largest company in the world. Love them or hate them, they are not merely amazing innovators; they innovate before they have to.

Sam Walton started Walmart in 1962 but through the years, he was a master of innovation. In the 1990s, Walmart went into rural areas while Kmart, for example, stayed in the suburbs.

It took Kmart 15 years to plant stores in rural areas.

As I was walking in the Chicago Loop last week, I noticed that Walmart has adapted once again. Among the sweeping skyscrapers, a Walmart Neighborhood Market stood out on a busy corner. Also within the city are a Walmart Express and even a Walmart Superstore. Urban Walmart stores have been around for several years now. By 2020, Walmart projects that there will be so many stores in the District of Columbia that 64% of the population will live within 2 miles of a Walmart.

So what can we learn as spiritual communities? Most of our congregations have not brought innovation to our church kitchens much less to our worship practices, our mission priorities or our organizational structures.

Why is that?

- We tend to confuse “traditions” with “customs.” We don't want to mess with “tradition” which (we think) means that we don't want to change the way we do the Christmas pageant. Actually, Advent is a church tradition. The Christmas pageant is a church custom. We can change customs to our hearts content. (Advent, on the other hand, will always be the four Sundays before Christmas and the days in between.)
- We fear making mistakes. If our congregation shames people who make mistakes we will never try anything new. Failure is immeasurably educational, though, and we need to do it more often.
- We institutionalize customs. We have a great chili dinner one year and somebody says, “We should do this every year.” Before you know it, we've had a chili dinner for 17 years and nobody likes it much anymore but “we have to do it. It's what we do on the last weekend in October.”
- We innovate as a last ditch effort. (And then it's too late.) We could have easily restructured our educational program or our leadership model years ago when we had the capacity to make effective change. But – for whatever reason – we didn't do it. Maybe we were complacent or we didn't want to offend somebody in power or we didn't see change coming. But we missed our window and now our educational program or our leadership pool are so depleted that we can't recover.

Last weekend, I visited a congregation of lively members who were clearly happy to be together, happy to work together, happy to serve. One member joyfully said, “We never know what's going to happen around here!”

Exactly. Innovation is part of their culture.

And innovation is not important for innovation's sake. It's important because the world is changing, our contexts are changing, our populations are changing. Waiting to change the way we are the church doesn't serve the God who has called us.

Upcoming & Recurring Events

The Choir meets every Wednesday at 2pm at Jane Dassen's house. Contact Jane at 301-948-9816 if you're interested in joining.

The M&Ms (Mission and Merriment group) meet the 1st and 3rd Tuesdays of each month in Pollock-Williams Hall, from 11 am to 1 pm. These blankets are given to a pregnancy center and the Children's Advocacy Center, both in Frederick.

Some members of M&Ms carry out knitting and crocheting projects at their homes, making prayer shawls and hats for those who lose their hair due to chemotherapy. The prayer shawls are given to anyone struggling with illness or loss. The hats are distributed to oncology units and cancer treatment centers and anyone who wants one for a friend or relative.

Contact Marj Turbyfill at 301-972-0265 if you are interested in receiving any of the items we provide and for more information.

From the Deacons

The Deacons met on October 9th. The deacons continued discussing the coordination of duties with the Worship, Fellowship and Mission Teams. ## Hurricane Relief

Our church was able to contribute nine large boxes of emergency supplies for victims of recent hurricanes and flooding. Moyer and Sons Moving and Storage, of Clarksburg, generously donated two full-sized moving vans to transport supplies, from churches and individuals, to Texas and Florida during September and October. We really appreciate the local company's swift response to the disasters that occurred within the southern states of our country. We also thank each person from BPC who contributed to this important effort

Thanksgiving Baskets for WUMCO

Mission and Merriment (M&Ms) is sponsoring a Thanksgiving food drive on behalf of Western Upper Montgomery County Help (WUMCO). WUMCO provides those in need with emergency food, as well as financial assistance for housing and utility costs, medicines and medical procedures, and Thanksgiving and Christmas food baskets.

The food items they would like are:

- canned string beans, corn, peas, or lima beans
- stuffing mix or stuffing cubes/crumbs
- sauerkraut
- mashed or other potatoes, fresh potatoes, fresh sweet potatoes
- anything else someone would make for a Thanksgiving dinner

Please no cranberries or cranberry sauce - they already have plenty of this.

If you would like to give money, WUMCO suggests gift cards from Giant or Safeway. Please place any gift cards in the offering plates during Sunday service.

Food collection bins are located in the sanctuary, Pollock-Williams Hall, and the Vail Education Building.

Please bring in your donations by November 19th.
