A Clinicians' Guide to Co-Occurring Disorders

This workshop will examine the special needs of comorbid clients with addictive disorders, accompanied by other co-occurring disorders. We will explore the specialized needs of multi-culturally diverse populations requiring the development of a multi-culturally competent model to meet their unique needs, from a social justice/social advocacy perspective. Included will be specific counseling strategies to address the unique needs of clients with co-occurring disorders, with emphasis on designing interventions and treatment goals specifically targeted to enhance progress in therapy. We will seek to assist clinicians in developing the ability to appreciate these diverse worldviews and rich cultural/racial experiences while simultaneously valuing our own experiences. Learning Objectives:

- Develop a treatment model addressing co-occurring disorders of culturally-diverse clients.
- Identify various types of trauma: rape, molestation, domestic violence relationships.
- Effective strategies addressing both clinical presenting problems with substance abuse and dependency issues.

Facilitated By:
