BRIGHTER TOMORROWS CONSULTING PRESENTS “Play Therapy Theories & Foundations”

Play Therapy theoretical foundations are a necessary cornerstone for any clinician interested in learning more about play therapy strategies and interventions. This workshop is designed to familiarize clinicians with the major theories associated with play therapy, the role of the counselor, the client population best suited to each theory, and appropriate strategies and interventions designed for goal setting and treatment planning. This workshop will also examine the historical roots of play therapy highlighting the work of the clinicians best known for each theoretical orientation. You will learn to:

- Identify basic theoretical foundations of play therapy.
 - Develop skills sets for use with play therapy strategies and interventions appropriate for each theory.
 - Cite the appropriate rationale, play therapy theoretical orientations, and current literature supporting the different play therapy models.
- Become acquainted with the historical journey of play therapy models into the counseling arena.

Facilitated By:
