Well here it is September, which means most of the rallies have come and gone and we are looking forward to fall activities. This time of year brings out the fall colors in the landscape which can be a distraction so take a very quick look and get your eyes back on the road. Leaves may be colorful, but they are also beginning to fall. Accumulated fallen leaves can be as slippery as grass clippings on road surfaces. It may be early to bring up this caution, but be aware of frost in some of the cool shaded areas along the wooded roads.

As I write this, I am reviewing my route to Billings for Wing Ding and my route for the trip following the rally. I have been pre-packing and trying to plan the items I will need for moderate weather and the cool/cold weather I have been told to expect by those that have been there. Those that went to Billings the last time were there in July and this time it is September. How different will the weather be? Well, I will soon find out.

Retrospective of trip to Billings, 2007

As I sit here typing away for my article I am reminded of a previous trip to Billings. On June 30, 2007 nine members on five bikes departed from the I-70 Rest Area west of Columbus: Two trikes and three two-wheelers. We traveled on the super slabs to make time as most of us had only two weeks available: some of us were still working. Those traveling were: Tom and Linda Matlock on a black 1500 Trike, Paul and Diane Hendrickson on a red 1800 Trike, Mike Chambers on a silver 1800, Bill and Esther Ford on a red 1500, and John and Margaret Moore on a blue 1800. Tom and John had planned the trip and switched off as lead during the four days of travel. For the most part we had good weather during our travels and enjoyed the companionship of those enjoying the many miles and scenery we observed along the way. Unfortunately, while riding through SD we had severe cross winds of 50-60 mph. We ended up that day in Kadoka, SD just to the east of the Badlands and just prior to a severe rain storm hitting. All told we rode for about 400+ miles with cross winds.

I think the highlight of our trip to Billings was traveling through the Badlands NP in SD then the trip up to Wall, SD for some shopping in Wall Drug. Once we left Wall, SD we headed towards Mt. Rushmore, Sturgis and then to Deadwood where we stopped for lunch. Then on we went to spend the night in Sundance, WY. We stopped early so we could enjoy the town and walk to see the town jail where the Sundance Kid was confined for 30 days. Thus the nickname he started to use. The next morning we left early to go up to the Devils Tower, that prominent landmark featured in the movie "Close Encounters of the Third Kind". As we approached we noticed a dark, ominous cloud over the tower and we all had the same thought-what's going to appear? After that we left and stopped for breakfast in Gillette, WY then made the final push towards Billings.

Great company, great scenery and a fun time had by all. So, by the time this is read I WILL be heading to Billings and hope to have a safe and fun time along the way and while there. I will miss my previous traveling companion, John "JJ", but he will be with me in spirit. There is always plenty to do at Wing Ding – rides, seminars, vendors galore to buy, buy and buy. You might even need something they have!

Safe travels and keep the shiny side up!

COUPLE OF THE YEAR 2015 Bill and Esther Ford

Bill and Esther are off on their roundabout trip to Wing Ding in Billings. Watch this space next month for a recap.

INDIVIDUAL OF THE YEAR 2015 Ken Daft

I've been riding motorcycles since 1973 and a Goldwing since 1986. And there's one part of riding bikes I've come to appreciate. Riding with others is more fun than it is to ride by oneself. B3 is a good example. We like it when we get together and share our lives and our concerns in life as well as riding to a place where we can add a few pounds.

Further, this brings our attention to riding alone. Riding alone is OK but it's not as much fun. We have the freedom to stop where and when we want and to go places where we choose. Yet there's something missing because being alone is somehow not near as important as it is to ride with others. How one talk does to him/her self about the bike and what happened in my life this past week or month. Again, riding alone is OK but it just doesn't seem to give us that "something" that fills the hole in our lives that can only be met by someone else.

I've had a personal experience since June 30 called shingles. Anyone who has had the shingles (even with the shot) knows how dreadfully painful it is. Now I know first-hand since I've battled that pain these many weeks now. My shingles were healed but left a condition called Ramsay's ear, caused by shingles and lasts another four to six weeks according to the doctor's prognosis. I'm in the second week of that experience.

I write all this to help us with a simple lesson that we should never seek to walk alone in this life, either as Goldwing Riders or as just a person. God has made us to be in connection with others. One experience I had during the shingles is that my wonderful wife, Linda, was gone for two weeks to a Christian Camp with several responsibilities. I was alone and in all that pain that seemingly has no remedy. I would say they were the worst two weeks of my life . . . in great pain and alone.

Goldwingers can be like that, too. They can be in pain due to the issues of life and be alone. Oh, they would never say it unless they found a listening ear. They won't even take help when it is offered. After all, we need to be above all the "needy" situations and think we can handle it alone. But we can't. That's why we have people around us.

Linda came home and even though I still was in pain, her presence made a great difference. So the next time you need help or for someone to listen, please know that those of us in B3 are here and ready to give you a listening ear and a helping hand. I'm the INDIVIDUAL OF THE YEAR for B3. But I'm not alone!

OUR CORE VALUES

It is now time to turn our attention to the: "CORE VALUES" of our association. These are values that "ALL" of our GWRRA officers from the Chapter level to the "top of the house" should strive to exhibit.....

EXCELLENCE: Our quest for excellence includes an abiding pride in our association....

CHARACTER: Honesty, integrity, and commitment are the key character elements in developing trust and respect within our association.....

FOCUS: Our focus is to meet the needs of our Members and provide leadership through our officers and staff.....

ATTITUDE: Our officers and staff maintain a positive, enthusiastic, and creative attitude in their approach of providing an atmosphere for "FUN, SAFETY, AND KNOWLEDGE"

FAIRNESS: The resolution of any issue should stand the test of "IS IT FAIR?" Is it fair to the Members? Is it fair to the Officers? Is it fair to the Association? These should all be considerations in everything we do.....

COMMUNICATION: The more we share information and communicate about goals, values, measures, and rewards, the more effective we can be as individuals and as Members of the association.....

TEAM WORK: Team work is the ability to work together toward our common vision. It is our ability to direct individual accomplishment toward association objectives. It is the fuel that allows all of us to achieve exceptional results.....

TRAINING: Well-trained Officers and Staff will provide improved Member services and create increased position satisfaction.....

QUALITY: To be the best that we can be and to hold the Members in highest esteem and respect will guarantee the quality of our association.....

The core values form the basis of many other facets of the "Officer Handbook. Do these values sound like the qualities you would like to see in our Chapter? They are simply easy to understand and if "YOU" keep them in mind as we go about running our Chapter, you will have happy Members and a thriving Chapter....

Bob DeLong: Is still recovering from his surgery and is getting stronger every day.....

Ken daft: is recovering from a case of shingles.....

Robert Vogel's father: Has serious health issues.....

Ed Richards: Having health problems.....

Linda Wise: (The lady that takes all the pictures at every GWRRA event) her husband

David was in an accident and passed away.....

Please if I should have missed someone please let me know.....

MOTORIST AWARENESS DIVISION Karen Ballou

School is in Season

It is once again that time of year we have to change our driving focus as we go about our daily routines. Drive through almost any neighborhood and you will see this:

Every fall we have to re-learn a new skill. Last June, when school let out, we quickly learned to ignore that reduced speed zone, since it wasn't a reduced speed zone any more. It didn't require any effort at all. Now we have to re-learn the previous skill of driving 20 mph during restricted hours.

Now, a school zone slower speed limit is a good thing and necessary to safeguard children, but just when school opens we are all still in summer time mode – bopping to music, enjoying the sun through the car sunroof or thinking about how early you can leave work to go on a short bike ride. It takes a concentrated effort to see that flashing speed limit ahead of us, especially with the sun rising behind it.

Be aware of the different kinds of markings to designate school zones. It may be as simple as lines on the road. There may be signs overhead or on the side of the road. There may be flashing lights only or all of the above.

Don't rely on flashing lights alone. Legal court decisions in recent years have said that even if lights are not flashing, and it is during restricted hours while school is in session, the 20 mph speed limit applies. It is the drivers' responsibility to know when schools are in session so the limit can be obeyed. Tickets issued for speeding in a school zone, even though the lights are not working, are valid.

On your daily drives, know where the schools are located. And watch for the young drivers with shiny, new licenses who get to drive to school each day. They are already distracted, just being teens, and friends, school stress thoughts and applying new skills are now behind a large moving vehicle. If you know that kid, remind them to slow down, look twice and don't become a statistic.

Have a Safe September.....and..... See You at Wing Ding

RIDER EDUCATION Gary Ballou

Rider Ed for September 2016

Back to some Basics about Team (Group) Riding

Last month I refreshed on the basics of "self-checking" our bikes for roadworthiness, the T-CLOC forms. In this month's article we will acquaint (or re-acquaint) ourselves with some of the basics of safe riding in groups. To prepare for our scheduled color rides in October, I would appreciate if everyone (especially our newer members!) could attend a brief refresher on Team Riding, following our October 1 gathering. I promise to keep it short, so that we can get to our scheduled "fun" day at Tim and Connie Ratliff's.

I will also offer a Road Captain course next spring, probably in April, for anyone who would like to learn (or refresh) your skills as effective (safe) group ride leaders and/or tail-gunners. The Road Captain course has two parts, a "classroom" segment, followed by a "road" segment, so you can put your new skills into practice on a short structured ride. It is fun (and free!) and everyone is invited to attend.

For now, let's review the standard "Hand Signals" that are used on a group ride. These may be important for those cases where someone in the group may not have a CB radio on their bike, or if someone's radio may not be working properly. These are found in the GWRRA Team Riding Manual, which is available on the GWRRA National Website. These will be reviewed in more detail at the October gathering.

These are the standard CWRRRA signals for use in communication with motorcycles not equipped with CE radios which are following the lead bike.

Following bikes should acknowledge comprehension by a head nod or flick of the dimmer switch.

To gain the attention of the lead rider, following bikes should flash their headlights. The lead rider can then nod acknowledgement, or give the "Come Alongside" signal when safe, so the following rider can signal his or her needs.

"Follow Me"

Arm extended straight from the shoulder. Palm forward.

"Speed Up"

Arm down to side. Fist clenched. Twist as if turning throttle.

"Need Fuel Stop"

Arm out to side. Point to fuel tank.

"Need Food Stop"

Arm out to side. Fingers closed. Thumb to mouth.

"Turn Signals Left On"

Repeatedly open and close hand with thumb and fingers extended.

"Stop or Slow"

Arm extended straight down. Palm back.

"You Lead"

Arm extended down. Palm forward. Swing forward from hip in arc.

"Hazard in Road"

Point immediately with emphasis. Sometimes done with right arm.

"Come Alongside"

Same as "You Lead," but ending with alongside pointing motion.

"Pull Off"

Arm positioned as for right turn. Forearm then swung toward shoulder.

"Need Comfort Stop"

Upper arm extended. Forearm straight up and down. Fist clenched. Short up-and-down motion (like pulling a toilet chain.)

"Single File"

Arm and index finger extended straight up.

"Double File"

Arm extended straight up. First and fourth finger form "ram's horns" sign.

"Check Headlight"

Tap on top of head with open hand, palm down.

Product review by Tom Eden

Do you have Baker Built Air wings on your ride (bike/trike)? Have you ever experienced the tab (clip nut tab) on the side body panel of your ride breaking? I had this experience and had talked to the parts person at Honda Marysville Motorsports about ordering a panel. I knew that Gary Ballou had a tab break on his 'wing so I asked how he had resolved the problem. My budget said that was not an option. After taking off the air wing on the side that was broken and pulling the panel aside I began thinking of some options. I left the wings off both sides for the ride to the Region D Rally. Baker Built's manufacturing site is off Ohio 127 and that was my route north from route 33 in Celina to route 30 so I stopped by Baker Built and mentioned that problem while I was obtaining several other items. They showed me a clip that they manufacture just for this type repair. Cost was $10.00 and change for the part so I purchased two in order to have a spare. I was shown how to install the clip and was on my way. Here are two pictures, one is of the broken clip on my ride and the second is the clip. The clip is installed with the nut on the down side to provide extra grip on the broken tab.
